VEEP BARKLEY DIES

'Alben' Collapses On W. & L. Uni Platform

Heart Attack Claims Beloved Political Figure, 78, At Mock Convention

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — Sen. Alben W. Barkley (D-Ky) collapsed and died Monday of a heart attack on the stage he loved best—the political platform.

The 78-year-old "Veep" in the Truman administration faltered and fell as he neared the end of a 30-minute keynote speech at Washington and Lee University's mock Democratic convention.

He had just recalled his national political career as a congressman, junior senator, senior senator, majority leader, vice president and finally junior senator again for the cheering students. His last words were:

"I am willing to be a junior. I am glad to sit on the back row, for I had rather be a servant in the house of the Lord than to sit in the seats of the mighty."

He stepped back as though trying to continue and fell at 5:13 p.m., brushing a microphone to the stage with him.

Sudden Hush

A hush fell over the stuffy gymnasium which moments before had been rocking to Barkley's quips.

Mrs. Barkley, the St. Louis widow he married in 1949, was in the audience. Virginia's Gov. Thomas B. Stanley escorted her to the platform.

Within five minutes Dr. Robert Munger, university physician, was at the fallen Barkley's side. But the "Veep" was already dead. Dr. Munger said the heart attack was either a fibrillation (tremor of Muscel fibers) or a coronary occlusion.

Not a Single Breath

A minister on the stage, the Rt. Rev. John J. Gravatt, Episcopal bishop of South Carolina, said he didn't believe the former vice president took "a single breath after he fell."

The 1,000 students, assembled to try to pre-guess the real Democratic convention of next August in all the hoopla and trappings of a real convention, underwent a sharp shift of mood as Barkley lay on the stage. There was an uneasy quiet.

Stretcher bearers removed the body to a mortuary, pending plans for removal to Washington. State Trooper J. B. Ratliff left with Mrs. Barkley to drive her back to Washington in the Barkley car.

Mrs. Francis P. Gaines, wife of the W. & L. president, accompanied her.

Genuine Barkley Speech

The veep, who had been a delegate to every Democratic national convention since 1920 and considered briefly making a try for the spot on the ticket in 1952, delivered a last speech that bore the genuine Barkley brand.

He said when he arrived in Lexington to ride in the lead car of the convention parade before the keynote he had not decided whether he would seek to go to Chicago again this August for the national convention.

"But since getting here, the old fire horse hears the bell," he said.

Later, when he decried any intention of being a presidential candidate himself, he said:

"All fire apparatus is now automotive and not horse drawn."

Refers To Jefferson

He told the students he felt he owed them an explanation for attending law school at the University of Virginia—W&L's arch rival—rather than here. He said the reason was that he had been nurtured in the traditions of the democracy of Jefferson—who founded the University of Virginia.

The sudden death of Barkley—a figure on the national political scene for the past 43 years—brought shocked expressions of grief from President Eisenhower and members of both parties in the Congress where the gentleman from Kentucky was a durable figure.

Became Vice President

Barkley resigned his Senate seat in 1949 to take the oath as vice president after he and President Truman combined their campaigning talents to score a stunning political upset over the Republicans.

The mock convention, which was to have run through Tuesday, was postponed indefinitely. There will

Eisenhower Says:

'Nation Poorer' By Veep Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Monday night he was shocked at the death of Sen. Alben W. Barkley.

"The nation is the poorer by this tragic event," the President said.

Eisenhower was informed of the Democratic former vice president's death during a meeting with congressional leaders on foreign affairs. The White House issued this statement from the President:

"I was shocked to learn the news of the sudden death of Sen. Alben W. Barkley. As vice president of the United States, member of Congress and senator from Kentucky, Mr. Barkley had a long and distinguished record of public service for the people of his state and country. The nation is the poorer by this tragic event. Mrs. Eisenhower and I join with all other Americans in extending our heartfelt sympathy to his family."

The President also sent a personal telegram to Barkley's widow, who was in Lexington, Va., with her husband.

Eisenhower informed the Senate and House conferees of Barkley's death before they left the White House.

Sen. George (D-Ga) who was attending as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee described the Kentuckian as "one of the most extraordinary men of our time."

'Great Loss'

George said Barkley was already "an honored member" of the House when he came to Washington 34 years ago.

"His passing is a great loss to this nation and especially to personal friends numbered literally by the thousands throughout this nation," George said.

Vice President Nixon said: "Sen. Barkley was loved and respected by all those who were privileged to know him, regardless of their partisan affiliations. He was, and always will remain in the hearts of the American people, the one and only Veep."

HURON, S.D. (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman received word of Sen. Barkley's death Monday as he stepped from a car after a parade here.

Informed of the former vice president's death, Truman said of his 1948 running mate:

"I am just as sorry as I can be to hear of Senator Barkley's passing. He was one of the finest men I ever knew.

"He was a great congressman, a great senator and one of the greatest vice presidents of the nation — and a citizen that the United States can always be proud of."

Truman was scheduled to speak here at a $5-a-plate dinner in behalf of the Truman Memorial fund.

GOVERNOR CHANDLER SHOCKED

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. A. B. Chandler said "I'm greatly shocked" upon hearing Monday that Sen. Alben W. Barkley had died unexpectedly.

"Any differences I ever had with him were purely political," the Democrat governor said, adding, "I was very fond of him." He said he had "always thought Sen. Barkley was indestructible."

Chandler said he and Barkley recently had been "very friendly."

Chandler unsuccessfully sought Barkley's Senate seat in the 1938 Democratic primary in which the late President Franklin D. Roosevely came to Kentucky and campaigned for Barkley.

Chandler then was governor.

'Got Along'

Chandler said "any differences" they had, he believed, "were brought on by other people."

"We got along," he added.

Under the law, Chandler will name Barkley's successor to serve until the vacancy can be filled at the Nov. 6 election.

Chandler undoubtedly will name a Democrat as Barkleys' successor.

Miss Ritchie was a guest of the university. She telephoned her father here to tell him of the experience.

Jury Gets Parker Case Today—

Final Arguments Over Confession

State Says It Proves Murder Guilt; Defense Calls It 'False'

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Darrel F. Parker's confession was the major battleground used by opposing attorneys Monday in near-final arguments of Parker's first-degree murder trial before a Lancaster District Court jury. The case will be placed in the jury's hands Tuesday.

The state contended the evidence establishes the murder guilt "beyond reasonable doubt." The Defense asserted the whole case against the 24-year-old forester consisted only of a "false confession."

The assertions came in closing arguments before a jury which for three weeks has been listening to testimony bearing on the guilt or innocence of the man charged with strangling his wife at their Antelope Park home last December.

Additional defense arguments will open the trial's 17th day on Tuesday. The state will follow with final rebuttal arguments, and after Trial Judge John L. Polk has delivered his instructions, the jurors will retire to reach a verdict.

County Attorney Elmer Scheele opened Monday's final arguments and reviewed the details of the strangulation death of 22-year-old Nancy Parker.

Set The Stage

He reviewed the circumstances surrounding the confession given by Parker a week later, and how Parker, according to the confession, said he strangled his wife because she had refused his after-breakfast advances and then "set the stage to make it look like anyone but him had anything to do with it."

"Keep your feet on the ground," Scheele counselled the seven men and five women jurors. "Don't be stampeded by attempts to get your attention away from the facts."

The defense presentation was opened by the Parker family lawyer, Kenneth Cook of Glenwood, Ia.

The confession, Cook contended, was the only evidence against Parker in the case. And the confession, he said, was obtained by "assault and battery" on the person of Parker by Chicago Criminologist John E. Reid.

Labeled 'Assault'

When Reid lifted Parker's chin and stroked his hair, Cook asserted, "that was assault, ladies and gentlemen — assault and battery in violation of the law of the land."

Each side argued that material contained in the written confession proved its case. Defense attorney told the jury that the confession held inconsistencies, which Parker would not have allowed had the statement been made voluntarily.

But Scheele pointed to 18 corrections on the statement, each one initialed by Parker, to prove that the accused man "was talking freely like a man who had gotton it off his chest."

Points made by the defense attorney in attacking the states case were:

1. The confession contained inconsistencies" and errors of fact. Cook itemized more than a dozen and asked the jurors: "Are you going to let them (the state) pick out things in the confession which jibe, and kick out the rest of it?"

2. The acts which Parker is charged with performing the morning of the slaying could not have been accomplished in the 17-minute period in which the evidence indicates it must have been done. Checking his watch, Cook told the jurors the mere reading of the chain of events from his notes that morning took 11 minutes.

'Inconceivable'

3. Parker's good reputation, in contrast to the "horrible" nature of the slaying, make it "inconceivable that Parker could have committed" the murder.

4. No man, as defense psychiatrists testified, could kill his wife, go five hours acting normal, and then go into a "genuine state of shock" on seeing the body.

Ever since the moment Criminologist Reid took the stand and told of "laying his hands" on Parker, "the state has been on the defensive," Cook alleged.

"There is not one word of evidence in this case to show that

Ex-Lincolnite Held In Georgia Slaying

. . . Man Studied Geology At U Of N

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—The head of the U. S. Geological Survey office was beaten to death with a window sash weight Monday by a fellow geologist whose work he had criticized, police reported.

The body of Moultrie A. Warren Jr., 40, Savannah, was found in his Customs House office after Coast Guardsmen in a recruiting office across the hall heard a scream and investigated.

Police quoted the Coast Guardsmen as saying Fred B. Hudson, 35, a geologist formerly of Lincoln, was striking Warren with the sash weight when they rushed in.

Hudson, who came to Savannah from Lincoln in 1954, was arrested on a warrant charging that he "hit Warren on the head with an iron sash weight with malice aforethought, thereby killing him within the confines of the U.S. Custom House."

Hudson was given a hearing before U.S. Commissioner William A. Wells Jr. No request was made for bond.

Wells said Hudson pleaded guilty and quoted him as saying he killed his superior because Warren had been "harassing" him over a period of months and casting reflections on his ability as a geologist.

Investigators said the two men had been working together since the geological survey was set up in Savannah in 1954 and quoted workers in the building as saying there had been no previous indication of bad feelings between them.

Warren was married and had one child, a son. Hudson is single.

Studied At NU

Hudson studied a general geology course at the University of Nebraska and also took graduate work there. His University instructors said he had a "general breakdown" during an interruption in his studies before he left Lincoln around 1954.

They described him as a quiet student, almost a recluse. They also said he was older than most of his fellow students.

During World War II Hudson was awarded a Bronze Star while serving as a first lieutenant in France.

The 1951 City Directory listed him as a student living at 3750 B. His University instructors said he lived in Lincoln with his mother. A. Esther B. Hudson is listed as residing at the 3750 B address now.

Kremlin Bosses Bid For Friends In West

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Russia's leaders returned from Britain to a triumphal flowers-and-kisses reception in Moscow Monday, and promptly bid for improved relations with the United States.

With Premier Nikolai Bulganin standing by, Communist boss Nikita Khruschev told 10,000 cheering Russians "it seems to us that the U.S.A. is already beginning to show desirable signs of moving on the road to co-operation.

The overture appeared to indicate the two hope to develop direct negotiations with President Eisenhower on world problems.

Bulganin said their 10-day tour of Britain, in which they negotiated with Prime Minister Eden, "was of great political and practical significance in Anglo-Soviet relations and the whole international life." The one sour point both emphasized was the attitude of the British Socialist Labor Party, which they accused of following "reactionary anti-Soviet policy."

From a red-draped speakers' stand at the Moscow military airport, Khrushchev cited President Eisenhower's speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington, April 21.

"We cannot agree with many things he said because they did not help good relations," Khrushchev said, but he praised Eisenhower's words on a possibility of closer ties between Moscow and the West.

U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, with his left arm in a sling as a result of a skiing accident four weeks ago, was among those who listended intently.

Eisenhower had challenged the Russians to prove their avowal of peaceful intentions by abolishing "the wrongs of Stalin," in which he mentioned the continued division of Germany and Korea. But he said a Soviet government genuinely devoted to the legitimate interests of the Russian nation "can have friendly relations with the United States and the free world for the asking."

Rain, Snow To Continue In Northwest

Light rain and snow that fell over parts of the state Monday was expected to continue in the northwest and north central portions of the state Tuesday.

Precipitation over the weekend gave new hope to the crop outlook, but "we didn't get enough," according to A. E. Anderson of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"The Panhandle is in good shape," Anderson said, "and most counties got half an inch to an inch of moisture. However, the state needs three to four inches of rain to get it into the ground."

Anderson explained that the cooler weather slowed down the growth of crops so that they have needed less moisture, "but it certainly looked bad before the recent rain."

According to the Weather Bureau rainfall for the first four months of 1956 was 3.28 inches, compared with 4.75 in 1955 and the normal precipitation of 5.45 inches.

Lincoln received .71 of an inch of rain over the weekend.

Light snow fell at Valentine and Ainsworth Monday and temperatures over the state continued in a below-normal range.

State precipitations were topped Monday by .30 of an inch at Valentine and .10 at North Omaha. Other spots, reporting .05, included North Platte, Grand Island, Imperial, Scottsbluff and Chadron. Omaha had .04. Norfolk, Burwell, Sidney and Lincoln each had a trace of moisture.

Temperatures over the state Monday ranged from a high of 55 at Sidney to 41 at North Platte. Lincoln had a high of 48. Imperial, Lincoln, Omaha, Sidney and Norfolk all had below-freezing temperatures recorded for their lows.

Man Injured In Car Crash Dies

OMAHA (AP)—Percy McClain, 44, Omaha, died in a hospital Monday night after having been injured in an auto accident last Wednesday and police Monday night awaited a doctor's report before listing the death as a traffic fatality. McClain's injury after the two-car collision had been listed as a broken hip.

Three Lincoln Students Win National Merit Scholarships

CHICAGO (AP) — Three Lincoln students were among six Nebraskans awarded scholarships by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation Monday night.

The scholarship winners can choose any accredited college and receive awards based on their individual need.

The Lincoln winners were Arnold Henderson and Carl Jean Thompson, both of Lincoln High, and James Phelan, Cathedral.

Other Nebraska winners were David Cassel, Ainsworth, and Walter G. Neevel Jr., and William Greenman, Omaha.

They competed last October in national competitive tests.

Miss Thompson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley E. Thompson of 2955 Ryons, received a scholarship provided by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation Merit Scholarships. She has chosen to study at Wellesley College at Wellesley, Mass.

The 17-year-old senior is majoring in French, English, history and mathematics at LHS. Her activities include being editor-in-chief of the Advocate, school paper; in senior choir, International Club and she was a Girl's State representative.

Henderson Miss Thompson

Henderson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Henderson of 928 Clark, won two scholarships, but declined the one offered by General Motors in favor of a National Merit scholarship.

He is now majoring in physics. He will take his four-year course at Cornell University.

Dr. John Hanigan Hurt In Accident

Dr. John J. Hanigan, 36-year-old Lincoln physician and surgeon, of 435 So. Cotner, was injured in a one-car accident on the Hallam Road, west of U. S. 77 Monday night.

He suffered possible back and chest injuries and was reported in good condition at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

A passing motorist came upon the accident and brought Dr. Hanigan to the hospital, his wife reported. She said the doctor was returning from seeing a patient in Hallam.

No law agency investigated the accident, according to their reports.

REA Holds Up OK For Steam Plant

Court Action Reason Given

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Rural Electrification Administration spokesman said Monday night the agency will not advance any money to the Central Nebraska Public Power District until a court case involving the Consumers Public Power District and the Nebraska Public Power System is settled.

He told a reporter REA has notified Central that it will continue to make the routine steps toward processing and considering an application for a 17 million dollar loan to build a steam plant at Lexington, Neb. But he said no money would be advanced until the case is settled.

Central proposes to build and operate the steam plant but would sell its power to NPPS.

The Nebraska Supreme Court has ruled that the power contract between Consumers and NPPS is not valid. The court has been asked for a rehearing of the suit.

REA is fearful of the situation because it might affect the validity of any power contract between NPPS and some of the power districts which REA has financed, the spokesman said.

'Discouraging'

At Hastings, Central's General Manager R. O. Canaday termed the REA decision as "very discouraging."

He said he was notified of it Saturday by letter. The REA decision, he added, combined with the results of a Supreme Court hearing, could delay starting construction of the plant until fall. That would delay its completion in time to meet expected power shortages, he said.

A hearing for reconsideration of parts of the March 23 Supreme Court ruling has been asked. That hearing date is May 12.

If the court would consider rehearing the case, then final settlement of the suit, as prescribed by REA, possibly would not be until the fall, Canaday said.

The Supreme Court, in its decision, declared a contract between NPPS and Consumers obligating Consumers to buy all its power from NPPS was termed "contrary to public policy and hence illegal and void."

This gave rise to the question of validity of other long term contracts by power agencies.

This in effect, Canaday said, destroys or "wrongs" the credit standing of agencies who borrow using long-term wholesale power contracts as a means of collateral for repaying financial obligations.

He said that both the REA and private credit agencies have reached the same conclusion regarding the "contrary to public policy" clause.

The only remaining obstacle now delaying the plant Canaday said REA told him was the settlement of the court dispute.

Then, he said, REA will reconsider its stop order on funds.

Chandler unsuccessfully sought Barkley's Senate seat in the 1938 Democratic primary in which the late President Franklin D. Roosevely came to Kentucky and campaigned for Barkley.

Chandler then was governor.

'Got Along'

Chandler said "any differences" they had, he believed, "were brought on by other people."

"We got along," he added.

Under the law, Chandler will name Barkley's successor to serve until the vacancy can be filled at the Nov. 6 election.

Chandler undoubtedly will name a Democrat as Barkleys' successor.

Sharon Ritchie Saw Veep Die

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Sharon Kay Ritchie, of Grand Island, who is "Miss America of 1956," was on the stage at Washington and Lee University's mock political convention Monday when Sen. Alben Barkley collapsed and died of a heart attack.

Miss Ritchie was a guest of the university. She telephoned her father here to tell him of the experience.

Ex-Lincolnite Held In Georgia Slaying

. . . Man Studied Geology At U Of N

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—The head of the U. S. Geological Survey office was beaten to death with a window sash weight Monday by a fellow geologist whose work he had criticized, police reported.

The body of Moultrie A. Warren Jr., 40, Savannah, was found in his Customs House office after Coast Guardsmen in a recruiting office across the hall heard a scream and investigated.

Police quoted the Coast Guardsmen as saying Fred B. Hudson, 35, a geologist formerly of Lincoln, was striking Warren with the sash weight when they rushed in.

Hudson, who came to Savannah from Lincoln in 1954, was arrested on a warrant charging that he "hit Warren on the head with an iron sash weight with malice aforethought, thereby killing him within the confines of the U.S. Custom House."

Hudson was given a hearing before U.S. Commissioner William A. Wells Jr. No request was made for bond.

Wells said Hudson pleaded guilty and quoted him as saying he killed his superior because Warren had been "harassing" him over a period of months and casting reflections on his ability as a geologist.

Investigators said the two men had been working together since the geological survey was set up in Savannah in 1954 and quoted workers in the building as saying there had been no previous indication of bad feelings between them.

Warren was married and had one child, a son. Hudson is single.

Studied At NU

Hudson studied a general geology course at the University of Nebraska and also took graduate work there. His University instructors said he had a "general breakdown" during an interruption in his studies before he left Lincoln around 1954.

They described him as a quiet student, almost a recluse. They also said he was older than most of his fellow students.

During World War II Hudson was awarded a Bronze Star while serving as a first lieutenant in France.

The 1951 City Directory listed him as a student living at 3750 B. His University instructors said he lived in Lincoln with his mother. A. Esther B. Hudson is listed as residing at the 3750 B address now.

Rain, Snow To Continue In Northwest

Light rain and snow that fell over parts of the state Monday was expected to continue in the northwest and north central portions of the state Tuesday.

Precipitation over the weekend gave new hope to the crop outlook, but "we didn't get enough," according to A. E. Anderson of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"The Panhandle is in good shape," Anderson said, "and most counties got half an inch to an inch of moisture. However, the state needs three to four inches of rain to get it into the ground."

Anderson explained that the cooler weather slowed down the growth of crops so that they have needed less moisture, "but it certainly looked bad before the recent rain."

According to the Weather Bureau rainfall for the first four months of 1956 was 3.28 inches, compared with 4.75 in 1955 and the normal precipitation of 5.45 inches.

Lincoln received .71 of an inch of rain over the weekend.

Light snow fell at Valentine and Ainsworth Monday and temperatures over the state continued in a below-normal range.

State precipitations were topped Monday by .30 of an inch at Valentine and .10 at North Omaha. Other spots, reporting .05, included North Platte, Grand Island, Imperial, Scottsbluff and Chadron. Omaha had .04. Norfolk, Burwell, Sidney and Lincoln each had a trace of moisture.

Temperatures over the state Monday ranged from a high of 55 at Sidney to 41 at North Platte. Lincoln had a high of 48. Imperial, Lincoln, Omaha, Sidney and Norfolk all had below-freezing temperatures recorded for their lows.

Jury Gets Parker Case Today—

Final Arguments Over Confession

State Says It Proves Murder Guilt; Defense Calls It 'False'

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Darrel F. Parker's confession was the major battleground used by opposing attorneys Monday in near-final arguments of Parker's first-degree murder trial before a Lancaster District Court jury. The case will be placed in the jury's hands Tuesday.

The state contended the evidence establishes the murder guilt "beyond reasonable doubt." The Defense asserted the whole case against the 24-year-old forester consisted only of a "false confession."

The assertions came in closing arguments before a jury which for three weeks has been listening to testimony bearing on the guilt or innocence of the man charged with strangling his wife at their Antelope Park home last December.

Additional defense arguments will open the trial's 17th day on Tuesday. The state will follow with final rebuttal arguments, and after Trial Judge John L. Polk has delivered his instructions, the jurors will retire to reach a verdict.

County Attorney Elmer Scheele opened Monday's final arguments and reviewed the details of the strangulation death of 22-year-old Nancy Parker.

Set The Stage

He reviewed the circumstances surrounding the confession given by Parker a week later, and how Parker, according to the confession, said he strangled his wife because she had refused his afterbreakfast advances and then "set the stage to make it look like anyone but him had anything to do with it."

"Keep your feet on the ground," Scheele counselled the seven men and five women jurors. "Don't be stampeded by attempts to get your attention away from the facts."

The defense presentation was opened by the Parker family lawyer, Kenneth Cook of Glenwood, Ia.

The confession, Cook contended, was the only evidence against Parker in the case. And the confession, he said, was obtained by "assault and battery" on the person of Parker by Chicago Criminologist John E. Reid.

Labeled 'Assault'

When Reid lifted Parker's chin and stroked his hair, Cook asserted, "that was assault, ladies and gentlemen — assault and battery in violation of the law of the land."

Each side argued that material contained in the written confession proved its case. Defense attorney told the jury that the confession held inconsistencies, which Parker would not have allowed had the statement been made voluntarily.

But Scheele pointed to 18 corrections on the statement, each one initialed by Parker, to prove that the accused man "was talking freely like a man who had gotton it off his chest."

Points made by the defense attorney in attacking the states case were:

1. The confession contained inconsistencies" and errors of fact. Cook itemized more than a dozen and asked the jurors: "Are you going to let them (the state) pick out things in the confession which jibe, and kick out the rest of it?"

2. The acts which Parker is charged with performing the morning of the slaying could not have been accomplished in the 17-minute period in which the evidence indicates it must have been done. Checking his watch, Cook told the jurors the mere reading of the chain of events from his notes that morning took 11 miutes.

'Inconceivable'

3. Parker's good reputation, in contrast to the "horrible" nature of the slaying, make it "inconceivable that Parker could have committed" the murder.

4. No man, as defense psychiatrists testified, could kill his wife, go five hours acting normal, and then go into a "genuine state of shock" on seeing the body.

Ever since the moment Criminologist Reid took the stand and told of "laying his hands" on Parker, "the state has been on the defensive," Cook alleged.

"There is not one word of evidence in this case to show that

Kremlin Bosses Bid For Friends In West

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Russia's leaders returned from Britain to a triumphal flowers-and-kisses reception in Moscow Monday, and promptly bid for improved relations with the United States.

With Premier Nikolai Bulganin standing by, Communist boss Nikita Khruschev told 10,000 cheering Russians "it seems to us that the U.S.A. is already beginning to show desirable signs of moving on the road to cooperation.

The overture appeared to indicate the two hope to develop direct negotiations with President Eisenhower on world problems.

Bulganin said their 10-day tour of Britain, in which they negotiated with Prime Minister Eden, "was of great political and practical significance in Anglo-Soviet relations and the whole international life." The one sour point both emphasized was the attitude of the British Socialist Labor Party, which they accused of following "reactionary anti-Soviet policy."

From a red-draped speakers' stand at the Moscow military airport, Khrushchev cited President Eisenhower's speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington, April 21.

"We cannot agree with many things he said because they did not help good relations," Khrushchev said, but he praised Eisenhower's words on a possibility of closer ties between Moscow and the West.

U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, with his left arm in a sling as a result of a skiing accident four weeks ago, was among those who listended intently.

Eisenhower had challenged the Russians to prove their avowal of peaceful intentions by abolishing "the wrongs of Stalin," in which he mentioned the continued division of Germany and Korea. But he said a Soviet government genuinely devoted to the legitimate interests of the Russian nation "can have friendly relations with the United States and the free world for the asking."

Man Injured In Car Crash Dies

OMAHA (AP)—Percy McClain, 44, Omaha, died in a hospital Monday night after having been injured in an auto accident last Wednesday and police Monday night awaited a doctor's report before listing the death as a traffic fatality. McClain's injury after the two-car collision had been listed as a broken hip.

Three Lincoln Students Win National Merit Scholarships

CHICAGO (AP) — Three Lincoln students were among six Nebraskans awarded scholarships by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation Monday night.

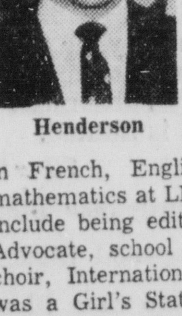
The scholarship winners can choose any accredited college and receive awards based on their individual need.

The Lincoln winners were Arnold Henderson and Carl Jean Thompson, both of Lincoln High, and James Phelan, Cathedral.

Other Nebraska winners were David Cassel, Ainsworth, and Walter G. Neevel Jr., and William Greenman, Omaha.

They competed last October in national competitive tests.

Miss Thompson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley E. Thompson of 2955 Ryons, received a scholarship provided by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation Merit Scholarships. She has chosen to study at Wellesley College at Wellesley, Mass.



Henderson

Miss Thompson

The 17-year-old senior is majoring in French, English, history and mathematics at LHS. Her activities include being editor-in-chief of the Advocate, school paper; in senior choir, International Club and she was a Girl's State representative.

Henderson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Henderson of 928 Clark, won two scholarships, but declined the one offered by General Motors in favor of a National Merit scholarship.

He is now majoring in physics. He will take his four-year course at Cornell University.

Dr. John Hanigan Hurt In Accident

Dr. John J. Hanigan, 36-year-old Lincoln physician and surgeon, of 435 So. Cotner, was injured in a one-car accident on the Hallam Road, west of U. S. 77 Monday night.

He suffered possible back and chest injuries and was reported in good condition at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

A passing motorist came upon the accident and brought Dr. Hanigan to the hospital, his wife reported. She said the doctor was returning from seeing a patient in Hallam.

No law agency investigated the accident, according to their reports.

Court Action Reason Given

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Rural Electrification Administration spokesman said Monday night the agency will not advance any money to the Central Nebraska Public Power District until a court case involving the Consumers Public Power District and the Nebraska Public Power System is settled.

He told a reporter REA has notified Central that it will continue to make the routine steps toward processing and considering an application for a 17 million dollar loan to build a steam plant at Lexington, Neb. But he said no money would be advanced until the case is settled.

Central proposes to build and operate the steam plant but would sell its power to NPPS.

The Nebraska Supreme Court has ruled that the power contract between Consumers and NPPS is not valid. The court has been asked for a rehearing of the suit.

REA is fearful of the situation because it might affect the validity of any power contract between NPPS and some of the power districts which REA has financed, the spokesman said.

'Discouraging'

At Hastings, Central's General Manager R. O. Canaday termed the REA decision as "very discouraging."

He said he was notified of it Saturday by letter. The REA decision, he added, combined with the results of a Supreme Court hearing, could delay starting construction of the plant until fall. That would delay its completion in time to meet expected power shortages, he said.

A hearing for reconsideration of parts of the March 23 Supreme Court ruling has been asked. That hearing date is May 12.

If the court would consider rehearing the case, then final settlement of the suit, as prescirbed by REA, possibly would not be until the fall, Canaday said.

The Supreme Court, in its decision, declared a contract between NPPS and Consumers obligating Consumers to buy all its power from NPPS was termed "contrary to public policy and hence illegal and void."

This gave rise to the question of validity of other long term contracts by power agencies.

This in effect, Canaday said, destroys or "wrongs" the credit standing of agencies who borrow using long-term wholesale power contracts as a means of collateral for repaying financial obligations.

He said that both the REA and private credit agencies have reached the same conclusion regarding the "contrary to public policy" clause.

The only remaining obstacle now delaying the plant Canaday said REA told him was the settlement of the court dispute.

Then, he said, REA will reconsider its stop order on funds.

LeMay Says U. S. Able To Win Any War Now

Reds Could Cause Big Damage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Curtis LeMay declared Monday that this country now can win "any war the Soviets may start"

But "we are not capable of winning it without this country receiving very serious damage," the chief of the strategic air command added in testimony before a special senate subcommittee investigating air power.

Gen. LeMay

In a presentation carefully screened to protect military secrets, LeMay warned that Soviet Russia may have more long range bombers and nuclear striking power than this country by 1960.

Some Fears Ruled Out

He appeared to rule out the fears of some senators and experts that intercontinental ballistic missiles may soon be a deciding factor in the armament race between Communism and the free world.

"I do not believe that in the forseeable future the ICBM will replace all of the manned bomber forces," the four star general said.

He said work on the ICBM should aim for production "at the earliest possible date."

"However," he added, "there are many difficult problems in this program and I believe that the first model of the weapon, both ours and the Russians, will be less efficient than the manned bomber.

"As time goes on, this efficiency should increase and the weapon become more reliable and useful. I think it is reasonable to say that the ICBM will augment the manned bomber forces, and at some later date will supplant a portion of the manned bomber force."

The stocky cigar-smoking air commander appeared to be making a case for expansion of his globe girdling forces.

Final Arguments Heard On Parker

Darrel Parker did this act (murder) except for what he told Mr Reid and Mr. Masters (Assistant Police Chief Eugene Masters)," Cook added.

Let Facts Speak

Scheele told the jurors that he has let "the facts speak for themselves."

The County Attorney made these points:

1. Expert testimony indicates Nancy must have died not more than 15 to 20 minutes after eating breakfast — evidence tending to corroborate Parker's confession.

2. Parker, although acknowledging he didn't touch his wife's body when he found it on the bed after arriving home at noon, called police to report "my wife has been strangled." He never did call a doctor, Scheele added.

3. Parker was said unanimously by four "reputable witnesses" to have been calm and normal when he gave and signed the confession he gave "freely and voluntarily."

Nancy Bothered

4. Although Parker's confession revealed for the first time the alleged sex difficulties which the couple were having, a working associate of Mrs Parker, Mrs. Opal Closner had detected that something was bothering Nancy the last few weeks of her life.

5. Despite Parker's efforts to throw suspicion "on an outsider, there were no signs of a struggle in the house and no evidence of sexual attack.

6. Just because a man is a church goer with a good reputation, "does not mean that kind of person, under proper circumstances and certain stresses and strains," could not commit a crime like the Parker slaying.

Scheele addressed the jury from 9 a.m. to 11:23 a.m., with about a 40-minute recess, during his closing arguments Monday.

Evidence Unmentioned

Arguing for Parker's innocence, Cook called attention to evidence on the victim's body and bed which indicated sexual activity.

"Why hasn't the state said something about that?" Cook asked. The state has never contended that Parker raped his wife, but the evidence "got there some way," the attorney declared.

"Somebody got into that house and performed that crime," Cook stated.

In other arguments, Cook contended that Masters knew of six or seven errors in the confession as read, but remained silent during the signing, and has testified to a later oral confession of Parker which purportedly corrects the written errors.

Scheele told the jurors that the state co-operated with the defense to the "fullest extent" in making Parker's confession, the stomach contents, and pictures available.

But, Scheele contended, the defense has attempted to discredit state testimony about the stomach contents and autopsy.

Because they're both "important pieces of evidence," they have been subjected to defense attack, Scheele added.

Romance For The Veep

be no classes in respect to Barkley's memory.

Mrs Barkley who appeared reasonably well composed said just before she left she would request that funeral services be held Wednesday morning at Foundry Methodist Church, Washington with Dr. Harris, former Senate chaplain, officiating.

Burial will be in Paducah Ky, Barkley's home town, probably on Friday after services there at the Methodist church Barkley attended.

The senator was removed from the gymnasium to Stonewall Jackson Memorial Hospital but was pronounced dead upon arrival.

Barkley had been elected temporary chairman of the convention, held by the students each presidential election year to "choose" a candidate for the party that is out of power, and had been presented to the students by Gov Stanley.

Sparkling Talk

He had delivered one of his characteristically sparkling, hard hitting talks with vigorous gestures.

News of Barkley's death reached Washington after Congress had adjourned for the day. There were immediate expressions of shock and sorrow.

Sen Knowland of California, the Republican leader said "the country and Kentucky have lost a great citizen and a great senator."

Sen. Lehman (D-NY) said "Sen Barkley's death is a great shock to me and a national disaster. His place in history is secure but his place in our hearts will never be filled."

Sen McClellan (D Ark), said "the nation has lost a great man—one of the most beloved men in America."

"What a tragedy," exclaimed Sen. Ellender (D-La). "He was a great American and a great statesman. We have suffered a very grievous loss."

Barkley, a genial man and a great story teller, was one of the most popular men in the Senate and one of the hardest working. When he was vice president, his grandchildren gave him the name of "Veep" and the word became a part of the nation's political language.

First Office 51 Years Ago

He won his first political office 51 years ago, when he was elected prosecuting attorney of McCracken County, Ky, where his home town of Paducah is located.

Four years later he was elected county judge and then in 1913, he went to the U S House of Representatives. He went to the Senate in 1927.

He resigned from the Senate to become vice president in 1949, having been elected the previous November with Harry Truman in a campaign in which he often made three or four speeches a day.

It was Barkley who in 1948 breathed new life into the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia. Delegates, stewing in boiling summer heat in the city's convention hall, appeared in the doldrums after closing of the confident Republican convention.

Then came a stirring speech by the fighting, elderly senator. Everyone in the hall seemed to perk up and Barkley was given a rousing round of applause which stirred up new enthusiasm and confidence for President's Truman's acceptance speech.

First Wed In 1903

Barkley was first married in 1903, to Miss Dorothy Brower of Paducah. She died in 1947 after a long illness.

In 1949 he married again after a courtship which caught the lively interest of the nation. The bride was Mrs Carleton Hadley, a St Louis widow.

His terms as vice president expired in 1953, after the Republican team of Dwight Eisenhower and Richard Nixon had defeated Democratic candidates Adlai Stevenson and John Sparkman.

Barkley had tried for the 1952 democratic presidential nomination, but his support faded on the representation that he was too old. He was then 74.

On Nov 24 1952 he celebrated his 75th anniversary in a hospital, after an operation to remove a cataract from his eye. He said at the time, "I feel like a million dollars."

Barkley offered this recipe for growing old slowly:

"Do a full day's work and an honest day's work and keep your conscience clear."

"Don't Overeat"

Also, he said a man should "eat heartily, but don't overeat," and observe temperate habits.

Barkley came back to the Senate with a victory over Republican Sen John Sherman Cooper in 1954.

All through his half century of public life, Barkley was a thorough-going Democrat. He got along well with President Truman and he never had a serious public difference with President Roosevelt — except once.

That came in 1944 when Roosevelt sent Congress a stinging veto of a tax bill over which Barkely had labored hard to get as much as he could, he said, in the form the administration wanted. The senator said the veto was a reflection on the integrity of congress.

Resigned In Protest

Barkley resigned his Senate majority leadership in protest, but his fellow senators promptly re-elected him and Roosevelt said in a message to Barkley that he had not intended to reflect on Congress.

Barkley became majority leader in 1937, in part because of what became known as FDR's "Dear Alben" letter.

There was a contest for the leadership position between Barkley and Sen Pat Harrison of Mississippi and just before the voting Roosevelt wrote a letter to Barkley which was regarded as favoring his candidacy. Politicians figured it tipped the scale in Barkley's behalf.

Barkley was named "Willie Alben Barkley" by his parents. He wrote in 1954 in his autobiography:

"I kept the 'Willie' business as quiet as possible and as soon as I was old enough to assert myself, I let it be known firmly that my official name henceforth was Alben William Barkley and no foolishness."

In addition to Mrs. Barkley, his second wife the former vice president is survived by a son, David Murrell Barkley of Paducah, Ky., and two daughters, Mrs. Laura Louise MacArthur II, and Mrs Max O'Rell Truitt, both of Washington.

Barkley's Death:

Party Lost Key Orator, Warhorse

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sudden death of Sen. Alben Barkley of Kentucky Monday night took from the Democrats a prospective keynoter for their presidential nominating convention and a veteran warhorse of the campaign to follow.

The heart attack that felled Barkley at Lexington Va shocked Democrats and Republicans alike. It removed from the national scene a former vice president who retained a [illegible] splendid oratorical [illegible] highly valued by his party.

Although younger men had been suggested for the role of temporary chairman and keynoter at this year's presidential nominating convention in Chicago, [illegible] politicians [illegible] expected Barkley would be the compromise choice [illegible] developed over a [illegible].

Humorous Stories

Barkley, beloved of his colleagues because of his enormous fund of humorous stories, served as Democratic temporary chairman in 1932 when the late Franklin D. Roosevelt first was nominated. He repeated the role in 1936.

In 1940 he was permanent chairman of the convention that nominated Roosevelt for a third term.

Barkley's death left Kentucky politics in a state of minor chaos.

Gov A B (Happy) Chandler is in a position to name Barkley's successor. But there are some complications because of Kentucky laws which may require a special session of the Legislature to clear the way for the election of a successor to the former vice president.

Chandler, a former senator and baseball commissioner, apparently was not in a position where he could resign and have his lieutenant governor name him to the Senate. Chandler recently was nominated for governor—and subsequently elected — after a battle with the state organization headed by Sen Earle Clements the assistant majority leader of the Senate.

Chandler now is backing former Rep Joseph Bates contesting Clements for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Kentucky's May 29 primary.

Only 10 days ago Barkley shared honors with Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas at a national rally here honoring Woodrow Wilson. In the departure of former President Truman from the political meetings, Barkley was the principal stellar attraction.

Sam McKelvie Estate Listed As $893,000

The late Gov Samuel R McKelvie who died Jan 6 at his Mesa Ariz ranch, left an estate valued at just under a million dollars according to the inventory filed Monday.

The total amount excluding the Arizona ranch but including joint tenancy property totaled $893,945. Excluding the joint tenancy property the figure was $852,418.

Included in the estate was stock holdings totaling $630,512, including 3,750 shares in the McKelvie Publishing Co valued at $390,300.

Holdings included 1,333 shares of stock in the Continental National Bank in Lincoln, valued at $78,647. An additional $31,000 was held in stock of the Valley National Bank at Phoenix, Ariz.

McKelvie sold his 4,467-acre ranch in Cherry County in 1953 at a listed price of $160,826.40 as set out in the inventory. Legal title to the ranch, not including the house, is pending deliverance from escrow.

Numerous stock holdings were listed in the inventory along with $20,000 in U S Savings Bonds.

A former Nebraska governor, McKelvie was president of the McKelvie Publishing Co, which publishes the Nebraska Farmer and Colorado Farmer and Rancher.

FBI Report Shows Lincoln's Larceny Higher Than Average

The bureau however lists the city in a [illegible]0,000 to 100,000 catagory. Recent unofficial counts show the population in the 1[illegible]0,000 bracket, which works to the city's disadvantage in national comparisons.

Lincoln was grouped with 127 other cities of comparable size. The comparison showed the city well below the average in the major crimes category.

The FBI reported the amount of crime was not solely chargeable to the police but was "rather a charge against the entire community."

Compared with 1954, the city in 1955 had an increase in robberies, assaults, burglaries and larcenies of less than $50. Decreases were noted in murder, auto thefts and larcenies over $50.

The comparison figures with 127 other cities showed:

[illegible]

In 1955 the city reported three murders and non negligent manslaughters, nine robberies, 27 aggravated assaults, 167 burglaries, 211 larcenies of $50 and over, 1,314 larcenies of less than $50 and 11[illegible] auto thefts.

Omaha showed 9 murders and non negligent manslaughter cases compared to 10 last year. Burglaries decreased from 681 to 679 and auto thefts increased from 549 to 666.

The Nebraska crime breakdown compared by years:

'Karl' Again Pops Up In Graham Case

DENVER (INS) — The name of a mysterious "Karl" again cropped up in testimony Monday at the trial of John Gilbert Graham, accused mass murderer.

Graham, 24, once a convicted forger, is charged with the killing of his mother Mrs Daisie E King, by planting a dynamite time-bomb in her suitcase which exploded in a United Air Lines plane near Longmont, Colo, last Nov. 1. Forty three others also perished in the tragedy.

LeMay Says U. S. Able To Win Any War Now

Reds Could Cause Big Damage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Curtis LeMay declared Monday that this country now can win "any war the Soviets may start."

But "we are not capable of winning it without this country receiving very serious damage," the chief of the strategic air command added in testimony before a special senate subcommittee investigating air power.

Gen. LeMay

In a presentation carefilly screened to protect military secrets, LeMay warned that Soviet Russia may have more long range bombers and nuclear striking power than this country by 1960.

Some Fears Ruled Out

He appeared to rule out the fears of some senators and experts that intercontinental ballistic missiles may soon be a deciding factor in the armaments race between Communism and the free world.

"I do not believe that in the forseeable future the ICBM will replace all of the manned bomber forces," the four-star general said.

He said work on the ICBM should aim for production "at the earliest possible date."

"However," he added, "there are many difficult problems in this program and I believe that the first model of the weapon, both ours and the Russians, will be less efficient than the manned bomber.

"As time goes on, this efficiency should increase and the weapon become more reliable and useful. I think it is reasonable to say that the ICBM will augment the manned bomber forces, and at some later date will supplant a portion of the manned bomber force."

The stocky cigar-smoking air commander appeared to be making a case for expansion of his globe-girdling forces.

Darrel Parker did this act (murder) except for what he told Mr. Reid and Mr. Masters (Assistant Police Chief Eugene Masters)," Cook added.

Let Facts Speak

Scheele told the jurors that he has let "the facts speak for themselves."

The County Attorney made these points:

1. Expert testimony indicates Nancy must have died not more than 15 to 20 minutes after eating breakfast — evidence tending to corroborate Parker's confession.

2. Parker, although acknowledging he didn't touch his wife's body when he found it on the bed after arriving home at noon, called police to report "my wife has been strangled." He never did call a doctor, Scheele added.

3. Parker was said unanimously by four "reputable witnesses" to have been calm and normal when he gave and signed the confession he gave "freely and voluntarily."

Nancy Bothered

4. Although Parker's confession revealed for the first time the alleged sex difficulties which the couple were having, a working associate of Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Opal Closner, had detected that something was bothering Nancy the last few weeks of her life.

5. Despite Parker's efforts "to throw suspicion" on an outsider, there were no signs of a struggle in the house and no evidence of sexual attack.

6. Just because a man is a church-goer with a good reputation, "does not mean that kind of person, under proper circumstances and certain stresses and strains," could not commit a crime like the Parker slaying.

Scheele addressed the jury from 9 a.m. to 11:23 a.m., with about a 40-minute recess, during his closing arguments Monday.

Evidence Unmentioned

Arguing for Parker's innocence, Cook called attention to evidence on the victim's body and bed which indicated sexual activity.

"Why hasn't the state said something about that," Cook asked. The state has never contended that Parker raped his wife, but the evidence "got there some way," the attorney declared.

"Somebody got into that house and performed that crime," Cook stated.

In other arguments, Cook contended that Masters knew of six or seven errors in the confession as read, but remained silent during the signing, and has testified to a later oral confession of Parker which purportedly corrects the written errors.

Scheele told the jurors that the state co-operated with the defense to the "fullest extent" in making Parker's confession, the stomach contents, and pictures available.

But, Scheele contended, the defense has attempted to discredit state testimony about the stomach contents and autopsy.

Romance For The Veep

Sen. Alben W. Barkley (D-Ky), who collapsed and died at Lexington, Va., and his bride, the former Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, prepare to cut their wedding cake following their marriage in St. Louis, Mo., in November, 1949, when Barkley was Vice President of the United States. (AP Wirephoto.)

Alben Barkley Dies Suddenly

be no classes, in respect to Barkley's memory.

Mrs. Barkley, who appeared reasonably well composed, said just before she left she would request that funeral services be held Wednesday morning at Foundry Methodist Church, Washington, with Dr. Harris, former Senate chaplain, officiating.

Burial will be in Paducah, Ky., Barkley's home town, probably on Friday after services there at the Methodist church Barkley attended.

The senator was removed from the gymnasium to Stonewall Jackson Memorial Hospital but was pronounced dead upon arrival.

Barkley had been elected temporary chairman of the convention, held by the students each presidential election year to "choose" a candidate for the party that is out of power, and had been presented to the students by Gov. Stanley.

Sparkling Talk

He had delivered one of his characteristically sparkling, hard-hitting talks with vigorous gestures.

News of Barkley's death reached Washington after Congress had adjourned for the day. There were immediate expressions of shock and sorrow.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, said "the country and Kentucky have lost a great citizen and a great senator."

Sen. Lehman (D-NY) said "Sen. Barkley's death is a great shock to me and a national disaster. His place in history is secure but his place in our hearts will never be filled."

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), said "the nation has lost a great man—one of the most beloved men in America."

"What a tragedy," exclaimed Sen. Ellender (D-La). "He was a great American and a great statesman. We have suffered a very grievous loss."

Barkley, a genial man and a great story teller, was one of the most popular men in the Senate and one of the hardest working. When he was vice president, his grandchildren gave him the name of "Veep" and the word became a part of the nation's political language.

First Office 51 Years Ago

He won his first political office 51 years ago, when he was elected prosecuting attorney of McCracken County, Ky., where his home town of Paducah is located.

Four years later he was elected county judge and then, in 1913, he went to the U.S. House of Representatives. He went to the Senate in 1927.

He resigned from the Senate to become vice president in 1949, having been elected the previous November with Harry Truman in a campaign in which he often made three or four speeches a day.

It was Barkley who in 1948 breathed new life into the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia. Delegates, stewing in boiling summer heat in the city's convention hall, appeared in the doldrums after closing of the confident Republican convention.

Then came a stirring speech by the fighting, elderly senator. Everyone in the hall seemed to perk up and Barkley was given arousing round of applause which stirred up new enthusiasm and confidence for President's Truman's acceptance speech.

First Wed In 1903

Barkley was first married in 1903, to Miss Dorothy Brower of Paducah. She died in 1947 after a long illness.

In 1949, he married again after a courtship which caught the lively interest of the nation. The bride was Mrs. Carleton Hadley, a St. Louis widow.

His terms as vice president expired in 1953, after the Republican team of Dwight Eisenhower and Richard Nixon had defeated Democratic candidates Adlai Stevenson and John Sparkman.

Barkley had tried for the 1952 democratic presidential nomination, but his support faded on the representation that he was too old. He was then 74.

On Nov. 24, 1952, he celebrated his 75th anniversary in a hospital, after an operation to remove a cataract from his eye. He said at the time, "I feel like a million dollars."

Barkley offered this recipe for growing old slowly:

"Do a full day's work and an honest day's work and keep your conscience clear."

"Don't Overeat"

Also, he said, a man should "eat heartily, but don't overeat," and observe temperate habits.

Barkley came back to the Senate with a victory over Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper in 1954.

All through his half century of public life, Barkley was a thorough-going Democrat. He got along well with President Truman and he never had a serious public difference with President Roosevelt — except once.

That came in 1944 when Roosevelt sent Congress a stinging veto of a tax bill over which Barkely had labored hard to get as much as he could, he said, in the form the administration wanted. The senator said the veto was a reflection on the integrity of congress.

Resigned In Protest

Barkley resigned his Senate majority leadership in protest, but his fellow senators promptly reelected him and Roosevelt said in a message to Barkley that he had not intended to reflect on Congress.

Barkley became majority leader in 1937, in part because of what became known as FDR's "Dear Alben" letter.

There was a contest for the leadership position between Barkley and Sen. Pat Harrison of Mississippi and just before the voting Roosevelt wrote a letter to Barkley which was regarded as favoring his candidacy. Politicians figured it tipped the scale in Barkley's behalf.

Barkley was named "Willie Alben Barkley" by his parents. He wrote in 1954 in his autobiography:

"I kept the 'Willie' business as quiet as possible, and as soon as I was old enough to assert myself, I let it be known firmly that my official name henceforth was Alben William Barkley and no foolishness."

In addition to Mrs. Barkley, his second wife, the former vice president is survived by a son, David Murrell Barkley of Paducah, Ky., and two daughters, Mrs. Laura Louise MacArthur II, and Mrs. Max O'Rell Truitt, both of Washington.

Barkley's Death:

Party Lost Key Orator, Warhorse

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sudden death of Sen. Alben Barkley of Kentucky Monday night took from the Democrats a prospective keynoter for their presidential nominating convention and a veteran warhorse of the campaign to follow.

The heart attack that felled Barkley at Lexington, Va., shocked Democrats and Republicans alike. It removed from the national scene a former vice president who retained at 78 a spellbinding oratorical ability highly valued by his party.

Although younger men had been suggested for the role of temporary chairman and keynoter at this year's presidential nominating convention in Chicago, many politicians had expected Barkley would be the compromise choice if any controversy developed over a selection.

Humorous Stories

Barkley, beloved of his colleagues because of his enormous fund of humorous stories, served as Democratic temporary chairman in 1932 when the late Franklin D. Roosevelt first was nominated. He repeated the role in 1936.

In 1940 he was permanent chairman of the convention that nominated Roosevelt for a third term.

Barkley's death left Kentucky politics in a state of minor chaos.

Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler is in a position to name Barkley's successor. But there are some complications because of Kentucky laws which may require a special session of the Legislature to clear the way for the election of a successor to the former vice president.

Chandler, a former senator and baseball commissioner, apparently was not in a position where he could resign and have his lieutenant governor name him to the Senate. Chandler recently was nominated for governor—and subsequently elected — after a battle with the state organization headed by Sen. Earle Clements, the assistant majority leader of the Senate.

Chandler now is backing former Rep. Joseph Bates, contesting Clements for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Kentucky's May 29 primary.

Only 10 days ago Barkley shared honors with Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas at a national rally here honoring Woodrow Wilson. In the departure of former President Truman from the political meetings, Barkley was the principal stellar attraction.

Sam McKelvie Estate Listed As $893,000

The late Gov. Samuel R. McKelvie, who died Jan. 6 at his Mesa, Ariz., ranch, left an estate valued at just under a million dollars, according to the inventory filed Monday.

The total amount, excluding the Arizona ranch but including joint tenancy property, totaled $893,945. Excluding the joint tenancy property, the figure was $852,418.

Included in the estate was stock holdings totaling $630,512, including 3,750 shares in the McKelvie Publishing Co. valued at $390,300.

Holdings included 1,333 shares of stock in the Continental National Bank in Lincoln, valued at $78,647. An additional $31,000 was held in stock of the Valley National Bank at Phoenix, Ariz.

McKelvie sold his 4,467-acre ranch in Cherry County in 1953, at a listed price of $160,826.40 as set out in the inventory. Legal title to the ranch, not including the house, is pending deliverance from escrow.

Numerous stock holdings were listed in the inventory along with $20,000 in U. S. Savings Bonds.

A former Nebraska governor, McKelvie was president of the McKelvie Publishing Co., which publishes the Nebraska Farmer and Colorado Farmer and Rancher.

FBI Report Shows Lincoln's Larceny Higher Than Average

Lincoln's crime picture, as recorded by the FBI, shows Nebraska's Capitol City with more larcenies and fewer robberies than the average U.S. city.

The bureau, however, lists the city in a 50,000 to 100,000 catagory. Recent unoffical counts show the population in the 125,000 bracket, which works to the city's disadvantage in national comparisons.

Lincoln was grouped with 127 other cities of comparable size. The camparison showed the city well below the average in the major crimes category.

The FBI reported the amount of crime was not solely chargeable to the police, but was "rather a charge against the entire community."

Compared with 1954, the city in 1955 had an increase in robberies, assauhlts, burgalaries, and larcenies of leff than $50. Decreases were noted in murder, auto thefts, and larcenies over $50.

The comparison figures with 127 other cities showed:

	Lin.	Rate for 128 Cities
Murder, non-negligent manslaughter	2	3.9
Robbery	12	30.9
Aggravated assault		70.4
Burglary	323	377.6
Larceny	1,646	1,121
Auto theft	90	166

In Lincoln in 1954, the city reported three murders and non-negligent manslaughters, nine robberies, 27 aggravated assaults, 167 burglaries, 211 larcenies of $50 and over, 1,314 larcenies of less than $50, and 115 auto thefts.

Omaha showed 9 murders and non-negligent manslaughter cases, compared to 10 last year. Burglaries decreased from 681 to 679 and auto thefts increased from 549 to 666.

The Nebraska crime breakdown, compared by years:

	1955	1954
Murder, non-negligent mansuaughter	11	14
Manslaughter by negligence	10	16

Curtain Falls On Barkley's Career—One Of Most Storied

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—It was the Veep's final speech But the curtain fell on one of the most storied careers in modern American politics before he reached the tag line

Sen Alben W. Barkley, Democrat of Kentucky—at 78—came to the end of his life Monday as a central figure in a setting of politics to which he had devoted the past 51 years.

He was speaking to a mock Democratic convention as keynoter at Washington and Lee University Something of a warmup—which the V. p didn't need—for the speeches he had on tap for the real political wars this summer and fall

And just before he could get to another ringing Barkley peroration, another pat for the Democrats or a dig at the Republicans, he collapsed and died of a heart attack

Warmed Up

Barkley had attended every National Democratic Convention since 1920 as a delegate from Kentucky and he warmed up the students by saying he had just about concluded to stay home this year and then adding

"But since getting here, the old firehorse hears the bell. Whoever you nominate here, I'll be on my way"

And then he went on to define the difference between the Democratic and Republican parties as "the difference between progress and stagnation"

"In 1912" he went on "Woodrow Wilson said the Republican party had no new ideas in 40 years That makes 84 in all"

Barkley used that one the other night at a Woodrow Wilson testimonial in Washington But he was using no prepared text here and the Veep wasn't a man to discard material that goes over.

Foremost

"Name one great statute on the books originated by the Republicans," asked the man who was probably the foremost exponent of telling the Democratic version of the Republican story.

He said Franklin Roosevelt's administration saw enacted more laws for the benefit of the people than in any prior 50 year period

Barkley ticked off political milestones in his public life—junior congressman, senior congressman, junior, then senior, senator, Senate majority leader, vice president of the United States and back to the Senate as a junior.

"I am willing to be a junior," he said. I am glad to sit on the back row, for I would rather be a servant in the house of the Lord than to sit in the seats of the mighty."

These were the last words of the last speech of Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky. He slumped and fell

He lived in a setting of politics And in that setting he died.

Demo Runners Argue Taxes At Meet Here

The two Democratic gubernatorial candidates engaged in a heated discussion of taxes Monday evening when they spoke to 150 Lancaster County Democrats

Ted Baum of Scottsbluff pledged his support in behalf of a state sales tax "to replace the heavy burden of property taxes"

"I would not pledge myself to a bill that is not before me." Frank Sorrell of Syracuse said

Sorrell said he thought a state income of sales tax might be good, but that he would want to see the finished bill before he would decide on its merit.

"I don't think we have surpluses, I think we have reserves." Baum said in discussing the farm problem. "Money spent for so called surpluses is minor," he said

Sorrell said, "In my judgment the farm problem is due to the Eisenhower-Benson farm program, which is leading rural America into another depression."

Clair Callan of Odell, Democratic candidate for Congress from the First District, said, "We need new markets, products and new uses for products"

Callan declared that "the soil bank is more valuable for soil conservation than for increasing farmer income."

Billiard Operators Ask For Under 18 Patronage Okay

Nine licensed billiard hall operators asked the Lincoln City Council to permit youths in the 16 to 18 age group to patronize billiard parlors

City ordinances now forbid anyone under 18 from using such facilities The operators point out there is no age limit on bowling alley patronage and youths over 16 can play mechanical amusement devices

There is a demand among the 16 to 18 year olds and their parents to lower the age limit for billiard parlor patronage, the operators said. The change, they said would provide supervised recreation for minors

The request was referred to Welfare and Safety Director Emmett Junge.

Eugene O'Sullivan Is Named New Attorney For Grandsinger

An Omaha attorney, Eugene D O'Sullivan Sr, was named new defense counsel for Loyd Carroll Grandsinger, condemned to die in the electric chair for the slaying of State Trooper Marvin Hansen near Valentine in April, 1954

Attorney General C S. Beck has been notified that Grandsinger's defense attorney at his trial, Charles Fisher of Chadron, has been dismissed from the case.

The State Supreme Court has upheld the death sentence and had set March 30 as the execution date. It, however, granted a stay until May 18 to allow time for an appeal to the U S Supreme Court.

A Grandsinger Defense Committee to raise a fund for legal moves in the case was organized recently at a meeting called by the Lincoln Council on Human Relations

If the appeal effort fails, it is expected that the State Pardon Board will be asked to commute the death sentence.

O'Sullivan, Grandsinger's new counsel, is a former Democratic member of Congress and has been candidate at various times for senator and governor

O'Sullivan told The Star he was the "last lawyer" consulted to take the case He said it was "a terrible disgrace for the lawyers of the state" that a man "milked financially dry would be refused a chance to take his case to the Supreme Court by a lawyer from this state

"There is no money in it for me," he asserted, "nor for the professors at the University of Nebraska. It takes a lot of intelligence and a lot of courage — I've got the courage," he said, "and the professors have the intelligence"

The case will be "tried in court" and not in the press or by radio, he said

He said (referring to the group raising funds for the defense) that he was happy someone not in the law field was interested enough in human rights to take action

President Says U.S. To Produce Sufficient Rubber Supply By '60

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower said production of synthetic rubber in the U S. should be sufficient by 1960 to supply all the nation's rubber needs.

The President painted an encouraging picture of increasing manufacturing capacity in a report to Congress a year after the sale of the government's synthetic rubber plants to private industry.

Present estimates are that total U S. requirements for new rubber may reach a level of about 1,700,000 long tons annually by 1960, he said.

Curtain Falls On Barkley's Career—One Of Most Storied

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — It was the Veep's final speech. But the curtain fell on one of the most storied careers in modern American politics before he reached the tag line.

Sen. Alben W. Barkley, Democrat of Kentucky—at 78—came to the end of his life Monday as a central figure in a setting of politics to which he had devoted the past 51 years.

He was speaking to a mock Democratic convention as keynoter at Washington and Lee University. Something of a warmup—which the Veep didn't need—for the speeches he had on tap for the real political wars this summer and fall.

And just before he could get to another ringing Barkley peroration, another pat for the Democrats or a dig at the Republicans, he collapsed and died of a heart attack.

Warmed Up

Barkley had attended every National Democratic Convention since 1920 as a delegate from Kentucky and he warmed up the students by saying he had just about concluded to stay home this year and then adding:

"But since getting here, the old firehorse hears the bell. Whoever you nominate here, I'll be on my way."

And then he went on to define the difference between the Democratic and Republican parties as "the difference between progress and stagnation."

"In 1912," he went on, "Woodrow Wilson said the Republican party had no new ideas in 40 years. That makes 84 in all."

Barkley used that one the other night at a Woodrow Wilson testimonial in Washington. But he was using no prepared text here and the Veep wasn't a man to discard material that goes over.

Foremost

"Name one great statute on the books originated by the Republicans," asked the man who was probably the foremost exponent of telling the Democratic version of the Republican story.

He said Franklin Roosevelt's administration saw enacted more laws for the benefit of the people than in any prior 50 year period.

Barkley ticked off political milestones in his public life—junior congressman, senior congressman, junior, then senior, senator, Senate majority leader, vice president of the United States and back to the Senate as a junior.

"I am willing to be a junior," he said. I am glad to sit on the back row, for I would rather be a servant in the house of the Lord than to sit in the seats of the mighty."

These were the last words of the last speech of Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky. He slumped and fell.

He lived in a setting of politics. And in that setting he died.

Demo Runners Argue Taxes At Meet Here

The two Democratic gubernatorial candidates engaged in a heated discussion of taxes Monday evening when they spoke to 150 Lancaster County Democrats.

Ted Baum of Scottsbluff pledged his support in behalf of a state sales tax "to replace the heavy burden of property taxes."

"I would not pledge myself to a bill that is not before me," Frank Sorrell of Syracuse said.

Sorrell said he thought a state income of sales tax might be good, but that he would want to see the finished bill before he would decide on its merit.

"I don't think we have surpluses, I think we have reserves," Baum said in discussing the farm problem. "Money spent for so-called surpluses is minor," he said.

Sorrell said, "In my judgment the farm problem is due to the Eisenhower-Benson farm program, which is leading rural America into another depression."

Clair Callan of Odell, Democratic candidate for Congress from the First District, said, "We need new markets, products and new uses for products."

Callan declared that "the soil bank is more valuable for soil conservation than for increasing farmer income."

The Right To Dream

The reader may be interested in extracts from a letter on the Editor's desk, a letter obviously written by a young man in Lincoln.

"I am writing," he says, "because I need the advice and judgment of one who really knows and understands the meaning of freedom and how we must be ready to protect it at all costs. . . . Some weeks ago I prepared an address for commencement exercises of our class. Today I feel let down and discouraged as it was rejected by the judges the day before. I am enclosing a type-written copy of it for you to read while you think of this question.

"Did I face the facts of life today too bluntly, and too realistically, so much so as to make them not want to face the truth? Would you please answer me through your paper as quickly as you can. But please sir, I hope you haven't gotten the impression that I want personal recognition."

To this young man we simply say "courage and be of good cheer."

All over this world millions of men and women dreaming bravely and sometimes boldly, have on occasions also felt let down and discouraged. Fortunately there are those who, though discouraged, never give up. They continue to dream the fine dreams of free men the search for eternal truth insofar as it is possible to know the truth in this world—and finally to look in humble spirit to the stars at night and to the sun in the heavens for guidance and faith.

Someone in this world must have thought and dared mightily because, in spite of evil men, freedom survived. Someone, yes millions, must have cherished what this young man also cherishes because its flame helps to provide a genuine warmth in a cold world.

We simply say to our young friend that he has no cause for discouragement though he may feel let down.

Ours is a good world in which justice shall be done and decency shall triumph.

Ours is a world in which millions of little people, unknown except for their friends and neighbors, in expression of complete faith, continue to think life can be beautiful, and in thinking help to make it so.

The New Benson

In the lull that has followed the veto of the farm bill by President Eisenhower not much has changed out in the farm belt except the image of Secretary Benson. The price-cost squeeze is still on. But Mr. Benson, the man of unchanging principles, the foe of expedients, the champion of long range ideas has another side.

Mr. Benson has reversed himself. He has not only raised crop price supports substantially above the earlier level he himself set. But he has taken the production ceiling off corn by putting a price floor under all that is to be grown under non-compliance out in the commercial corn belt. He has momentarily ceased his war on surpluses with an invitation, at least in corn, to let the production sky be the limit. This does not square with the picture of the erstwhile champion of scarcity, both of production and farm solvency, the advocate of declining price supports and the [illegible].

One could well ask about this change [illegible].

Mr. Benson has not explained it but the St. Louis Post-Dispatch proposes an answer. It said:

"The answer is, of course, well known, and it does not have much to do with principle. Secretary Benson changed his mind because the President told him to. And the President told him to because sugar coating was needed—at least enough to last until November—for the pill of the farm bill veto.

"Secretary Benson turns out to be quite a generous man. When the new price support levels are applied to estimated 1956 crops, he is offering the farmers $1,611,000,000 more than he had intended to offer them before the veto. He has even told corn growers in the commercial corn states that they can produce all the corn they want to this year, disregarding acreage restrictions, and still receive price support loans at 82 per cent of parity. In the old days, they had to restrict their production in order to qualify for price supports.

"Of course Secretary Benson is not as openhanded as Congress. Nobody could expect that. Congress, with its 90 per cent supports across the board, offered farmers $2.2 billion more in prospective crop values for 1956 than they would have received under the old, or thrifty, Benson program.

All the same, Ezra, we think, is doing pretty well. Pretty well for Ezra, anyhow."

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

'Lows as how this is a free country and from the highest to the lowest every man is entitled to his opinion. That's why we have experts. An expert is a guy who knows more about a given subject than the mine run of individuals. Now there is Jack Bell, for example, ace political writer of the Associated Press in Washington. Mr. Bell is an expert. He may not pose as an expert but one gets the impression that when Jack Bell finishes writing just about the last words of wisdom have been spoken.

★

All of those who read the Sunday paper carefully, and some those who may not read it so carefully, came across this from the Associated Press political ace: "President Eisenhower appears to have outmaneuvered congressional Democrats who thought they had him over a political barrel because of his farm bill veto. In the nearly two weeks since the President's rejection of the measure there have been few signs of the kind of farm belt rebellion against the action that some Democrats were counting upon." That is what Expert Bell thinks. There is more of it, much more of it, along the same lines, and it may be news but in our humble opinion brother Bell simply is putting out a choice hunk of propaganda and as an unbiased observer dishing out a strictly partisan conglomeration. Maybe Mr. Bell can explain to the dear reader, having settled the farm issues fully, how it comes that in Massachusetts, anything but a farm state, less than 10 per cent of the voters got to the polls. One of the party state chairman said the light vote was a disgrace. Maybe Expert Bell can explain to us the amazingly light vote in Pennsylvania and the stay-at-home undertone that has marked every presidential primary election thus far. He knows from lack of noise the President outmaneuvered the Democrats in vetoing the farm bill so we will be waiting for his profound judgment on the lack of interest, the indifference and chilling apathy that has characterized every state election, farm or industrial, thus far. Who knows? Maybe both parties are dead and don't know it.

It's Mr. Bell, Speaking

★

We have a rather vivid memory of Mr. Bell. He was one of the featured speakers a few years ago, if memory is correct, at a gathering of Associated Press editors, detailed to talk on his campaign experiences in covering both Eisenhower and Stevenson. Mr. Bell spent a little time telling of that trip with Eisenhower from Omaha to Kansas City.

★

Believe me, Mr. Bell squeezed that experience to get every drop out of it. We were amazed at how much it yielded. He spoke of passing through a farming area between Omaha and Kansas City. It was, we understood such desolate, lonely country. We never did discover whether Mr. Bell's teeth chattered. But actually he was passing through a rural area boasting of the finest of modern farm homes, that in some instances cost from $25,000 to one single case as high as $40,000, a beautiful, fertile productive farming region, as attractive as any to be found in the United States. There was fat cattle nearby, hogs, and bulging cribs of corn. If you get the general idea Mr. Bell's address on that occasion made a 'farm boy' a little bit sick to his tummy. Mr. Bell did not know where he was. If he could get all of that out of a train ride between Omaha and Kansas City only the Lord knows what he would have written had he covered a covered wagon migration over the old Overland Trail. The farm people are not happy. With full apologies to Mr. Bell the farm people have not been too happy with Mr. Benson for a year, and now with Mr. Eisenhower, since they have discovered Mr. Benson was merely carrying out Mr. Eisenhower's orders. But the greatest insult that a newspaper man supposed to know something about the farm belt could offer its people is to suggest that the desperate battle over farm legislation, ending in a veto, was purely a Democratic political maneuver.

Squeezing Every Drop

Out here at least that simply does not happen to be the truth. We trust that before he reaches retirement age Mr. Bell comes to know a little bit about mid-America—sometimes known as the nation's breadbasket and at all times asking nothing more of the urban people of the great cities than fair treatment.

No Progress

At the opening of the week Nebraska's highway death toll the first four months of 1956 exactly equalled the figure for the corresponding period a year ago. It stood at 92.

That is just 92 too many, But that is another story. The more urgent fact that faces the state is that another year is under way and all of its resolutions to the contrary it has not been able to reduce its highway accidents by one person.

Despite the best efforts of the crusade of safety the death rate rolls on.

It is not to say that the efforts for safety have been unavailing. There is no way of computing the lives that have been spared by prudence on the highways. Such figures are elusive. But it must be faced that the safety programs as they exist much search out and treat with new areas from which accidents spring. They must reach a greater number of car drivers and impress them more of their personal stake.

Meantime, it would be well for all to reflect on the 92 fatalities that have visited Nebraskans thus far and upon a job of safety which cannot yet be described as well done. That task will never be satisfactorily in hand until the all that happens on the highways can be classed as unpreventable. Whatever that figure may be it is certain that it is far below present levels.

Silver Lining

There is much to criticize in Nebraska's late and chilly spring. But the week-end had its silver lining.

The rains came. They were not heavy but they were general. They were enough to end the deterioration of the growing crops and to provide the surface moisture without which Nebraska could not much longer stipulate normal production in its plans for 1956. A crisis, if not averted, has been deferred.

There is promise of more moisture coupled with forecasts of continued coolness. The latter does not fit in with preference of Nebraskans, but in terms of rainfall—well, we'll take it under any bearable conditions. After all we will have all the heat we want when midsummer arrives. But we can always use a little moisture.

Chotiner May Get Easy Probe Treatment

WASHINGTON — When the senate investigating committee tackles Vice President Nixon's close friend and confidant tomorrow they will have to be extremely smart. For Chotiner is not only an attorney; he is one of the shrewdest public relations men on the West Coast.

He not only managed Nixon's campaign for the vice presidency, but his campaign for the senate in 1950, helped his first campaign for congress in 1946, and conceived the brilliantly executed cloth-coat-little dog TV report to the nation in which Nixon broke down criticism of his $18,000 personal expense fund.

Cross-examining Chotiner will be Sen. John McClellan of Arkansas who can be a penetrating prober when he wants to be, and who has [illegible] sympathies for the Nixon-GOP side. Strongly backstopping Chotiner if he needs it—will be such potent Nixon pals as Sens. Joseph McCarthy and Karl Mundt of South Dakota. Chotiner ought to come away unscathed.

Behind his career, however, if [illegible]

The immediate circumstance is that Sam and Herman Kravitz, the clothing manufacturers who had already been blacklisted for cheating the army, were in income-tax trouble. Doubtless that was the chief reason why, with a battery of seven eastern lawyers at their command, they reached across the U.S.A. to Beverly Hills, Calif., to hire an attorney with power in high places.

Last week the Kravitzes repeatedly invoked the fifth amendment when asked about their various troubles, and Chotiner has already told the senate committee that he would invoke the right not to answer because of lawyer-client relationship.

Senator McCarthy would have beat his breast and protested in [illegible] headlines if witnesses had done this to him. Nixon, when a member of the house un-American activities committee, was also ruthless with witnesses refusing to answer. In the Kravitz-Chotiner case, however, McCarthy actually went on the senate floor to alibi publicly for Chotiner.

Chotiner's Influence

This column and various senate committees have exposed others who collected legal or lobbying fees because of influence, from John Maragon up. So here are some of the interesting things in the life of Murray Chotiner which the senators may want to investigate.

First, let's see whether he really has influence. Here is the record:

On Jan. 4, 1953, Chotiner gave a check for $1,550 to the Statler Hotel in Washington as down payment for 25 rooms for Nixon's inaugural guests.

On Oct. 6, 1953, Chotiner began sending out letters to obtain a realignment of the Republican Party in California, to take it away from Senator Knowland and Governor Warren, then about to become chief justice, and put it under Nixon and Governor Knight.

Sept. [illegible] 1955, Chotiner was [illegible] Republican National Committee. He [illegible] on campaign tactics to 48 GOP state chairmen before they went to Denver to ask Ike to run again.

Chotiner began spending more time in Washington. He became one of the most trusted advisers of the GOP national committee. Bob Humphreys, director of campaign activities for the committee, described Chotiner's work as a "smash hit." He was considered an expert on ways to have "good associated with Republicans" and "bad associated with Democrats."

Chotiner's closeness to Nixon was clearly demonstrated at that time by the fact that the wrote several hundred letters to newspapers and radio stations demanding corrections regarding news pertaining to Nixon. In these letters he stated that he was writing "on behalf of Vice President Nixon."

Bomb Test Problem Is What To Wear

H-BOMB BOUND — A tricky problem has risen in connection with the first public H-bomb, whose wick is tentatively scheduled to be lighted May 8, at a place in the extreme Marshall Islands known as Eniwetok. The problem may have been the reason why a week's delay was announced not long ago.

The problem is: What To Wear. This has become a very serious affair in recently earth-shaking news stories.

Bob McCormick of NBC, who will be the TV pool man on the H-bomb test, saw Bryson Rash, ABC's pool radio man at the blast, packing away a nice white linen suit — and wondered. McCormick, at last report, had purchased lead jacket and puttees from Abercrombie and Fitch's anti-radiation department. NBC and ABC would seem to be about as far apart as ever on dial, channel and tailors. An effort will be made by the writer to bring the two fashion plates together as the bomb goes off. Perhaps a quick transfer of pants or even weskits between the time the light shines and the shock wave reaches us will save the day for both valued gentlemen—or, at least, half of each gentleman. As for the writer, he will be standing safely behind them, adequately shielded—unless they double cross me and go on the Mayo diet.

We had the same sartorial trouble 10 years ago on the trip to Bikini for what now seems to be atomic dross. We were a pretty stern and gray flannel suited crowd as we went from Oakland to Pearl, with a lot of talk about energy equalling M.C. square and other rot. Then the Navy in its infinite wisdom gave the lot of us a couple of days in Honolulu while it put more radiators in the S.S. Appalachian and soldered shut all portholes.

It was the end of June and the Pacific was steaming. Anyway, when the shore police rounded us up we were a different lot. The most distinguished science writers in the land blossomed out on ship board in Hawaiian shirts and shorts which no Hawaiian would be found atomized in, ghastly hues and designs by mad botanists.

Nixon's Friend Called To Stand

WASHINGTON — On Tuesday, April 24 last, the name of Murray Chotiner, Vice President Nixon's closest friend and 1952 campaign manager, bobbed up in a Senate investigation of possible bribery and corruption in uniform buying. Chotiner is known in California as "the man on Nixon's back door."

Within 48 hours, on Thursday, April 26, the vice president presented himself at the White House for a conference with President Eisenhower. At that meeting Nixon foreclosed his claim on renomination for vice president, which had been placed in doubt by the President's own actions. Upon emerging from the President's office Nixon told reporters at once that the matter was settled.

As a result, Chotiner can count on a large and intensely interested audience when he explains this week to the Senate Investigations Subcommittee a $5,000 fee he received in 1953 for representing Herman Kravitz. Kravitz is a former Atlantic City garment manufacturer who was convicted and fined in 1954 for making a false statement regarding return of government property to the military.

The entire chronology of Chotiner's relations with the Senate subcommittee is equally interesting and provocative.

It shows that contrary to the impression he gave in California, Chotiner was not suddenly subpoenaed nor mentioned in the inquiry. The fact is that committee records show him as breaking a promise to appear on an agreed date which he himself first asked for.

This is not usual in any witness; it is extraordinary in a member of the bar.

It shows also that the original date came roughly in the middle of the most crowded days the President has had since he went to Denver for the vacation which culminated in his heart attack. That schedule included two important televised speeches — one to Republican leaders, the other to the nation's editors — and the veto of the farm bill.

John F. Kennedy, counsel to the subcommittee, broke the news to Chotiner at breakfast, Thursday, April 19, that Chotiner's fee from Kravitz would be part of subcommittee testimony. The subcommittee, Kennedy said, wished to give Chotiner the opportunity to appear immediately thereafter.

The subcommittee did not hear from Chotiner that day. The next day, they got a wire saying he could not appear Thursday. By that time senators were reading that Chotiner told reporters he could not appear in Washington Thursday; it was too short a notice, he would not have time to arrange his affairs and pack his clothes.

Chotiner did not mention to the press that he had had a full week's notice, together with an explanation of the situation from subcommittee counsel Kennedy. The subcommittee's response was to issue the subpoena which directs Chotiner to appear Wednesday of this week.

The moon this first day of May, 1956, is on the wane and tomorrow night near 9:00 p.m. begins fourth lunar quarter. It is in the movable, earthy and semi-fruitful sign, Capricorn, today, and tonight at 7:27 p.m. enters the flexed, watery, and fruitful sign, Pisces. Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock it will enter the movable, fiery and very barren sign, Aries. Then next Tuesday night, May 8, at 9:19 p. m., it will enter the fixed, earthy, and semi-fruitful sign, Taurus.

Mrs. Swingle

Plant only those vegetables that produce their yield in the soil, as beets, carrots, radishes, onions, parsnips, potatoes, etc., while the moon is waning Friday and Saturday and until 4 p.m. Sunday while the decreasing moon is in the watery, fruitful sign, Pisces, one might plant all these things. Pisces, the sign of the feet, promises a quick and strong root system. So get on with your tree, shrub and hardy perennial plantings. One of these days we shall wake and find the day warm and fair and the soil warm enough that we can safely sow seeds of tender annuals and also set out greenhouse-grown plants of annuals. We shall have a new moon May 10.

The peas and Colonel Bibb lettuce we planted April 17 [illegible] the moon was in Cancer were up in 10 days, but parsley seed, because their shells are very hard, take longer to germinate—sometimes as long as three weeks—but worth the time, I think, for parsley is a biennial, or did you know? And when well-established, it will live through the winter and be up ready for use early the next spring. We've some plants now two inches high from last year's crop.

Which reminds me—I read that the dandelion, that gay and plushy fellow which dots even the best of lawns with gold each and every spring, is a perennial. Ah, but it isn't. If we would pluck up and destroy the young plants that appear in late summer and autumn, there would be no well-established plants in our lawns, come the springtime, to flaunt their plushy golden blooms.

But do we do this? Ah, no! Or if we do, our neighbor doesn't, or vice versa. And so we have dandelions with us every spring. But what would spring be without a dandelion? Or don't you ever gather wild greens?

Valerie Wheeler (left) and Hannah, 1830 Washington St. . . . the Hopa tree was a bright spot in a cold, gray day . . .

Our picture today features a Hopa crab-apple resplendently in bloom at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Page Wheeler, 1830 Washington St., and their two lovely daughters, Valerie and Hannah. Miss Valerie goes to Lincoln High and Hannah attends Prescott School. It was cold and cloudy the day this picture was shot, so Hannah snuggled cozily in her warm winter coat while some of us shivered in lighter weight ones. There are other varieties of crab-apple trees around and about Lincoln but none so lovely at the moment as the Hopas. Why don't you plant a Hopa crab-apple this year? Now is the time.

If you have missed recently the wheel from an old surrey that you have seen in the Wheelers' front lawn, do not be alarmed. I have borrowed it to use in an herb display at the forthcoming flower show of the Garden Club of Lincoln. Our colonial ancestors very often used discarded wheels from wagon, cart, buggy or surrey as a design and also a frame to enclose the smaller culinary and medicinal herbs.

The 25th flower show of the Garden Club of Lincoln will open officially to the public on Saturday, May 12, at 1 p.m. and continue until 9 p.m. All entries in both arrangements and horticultural sections must be in place and ready for judging before 11 a.m. Saturday morning.

Entries close promptly at this time. Please be alert. Eleven a.m. is the deadline for all entries. On Sunday, May 13, the show will open to the public at 9 a.m. and continue until 9 p.m. All exhibits must remain in place until closing time Sunday night.

For educational purposes, label all entries in the horticultural classes. If you are unsure of correct names, Dr. C. C. Wiggins and Mr. Earl Maxwell, chairmen of the classification committee, will assist you. All flowers exhibited for prizes except those in the arrangement classes must be grown by the exhibitor. They become the property of the show committee, and will be disposed of as seen fit after the show Sunday night.

So until another day—

Hospital Reports

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The inference in the recent letter that existing Lincoln hospitals were not "non-profit," were making money for the chosen few, and were afraid to disclose their costs and operational data was both unfair and untrue — and the writer must have known this because he lacked the intestinal fortitude to identify his name with this charge.

A non-profit hospital means exactly that. Any deviation would be a criminal violation of both state and federal statutes. All hospitals file information with state and federal authorities so that any such abuse may be policed. The following information on complete fiscal data or parts thereof is now reported, published, and filed as follows:

1. Federal: Collector of Internal Revenue at Omaha as to tax-exempt, non-profit status; also Department of Medicine and Surgery, Veterans Administration in Washington, D. C.; and Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, Federal Security Administration, at the Statehouse.

2. State: Board of Control with both Crippled Children's Bureau and Services for Blind; State Health Department as to state hospital license; Secretary of State as to occupational tax report; and State Workmen's Compensation Division.

3. City: Our hospital annual report is on file with the city clerk and our monthly expenditures with the City Council.

4. Others: Annual report is published by the press; reported and parts published by the American Hospital Association; reports to other sponsoring hospital bodies; audits of non-profit status were made by the Ford Foundation before payment of grants; room rates, fee schedules and the like are filed with Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plans and made available to any insurance company or individual upon request.

Rather than operating at a profit, the facts are that hospitals usually operate at a deficit. Additionally, hospitals subsidize patients who pay $1.72 a day less than actual costs; this subsidization is in the form of endowments, religious denominational contributions, etc. The amount of our deficit has historically varied, from $6,000 to $36,000 per year with a total accumulation of $120,000.

I would suggest to "Reader and Taxpayer" that he heed his own advice—investigate.

The Right To Dream

The reader may be interested in extracts from a letter on the Editor's desk, a letter obviously written by a young man in Lincoln.

"I am writing," he says, "because I need the advice and judgment of one who really knows and understands the meaning of freedom and how we must be ready to protect it at all costs. . . . Some weeks ago I prepared an address for commencement exercises of our class. Today I feel let down and discouraged as it was rejected by the judges the day before. I am enclosing a type-written copy of it for you to read while you think of this question.

"Did I face the facts of life today too bluntly, and too realistically, so much so as to make them not want to face the truth? Would you please answer me through your paper as quickly as you can. But please sir, I hope you haven't gotten the impression that I want personal recognition."

To this young man we simply say "courage and be of good cheer."

All over this world millions of men and women dreaming bravely and sometimes boldly, have on occasions also felt let-down and discouraged. Fortunately there are those who, though discouraged, never give up. They continue to dream the fine dreams of free men—the search for eternal truth insofar as it is possible to know the truth in this world—and finally to look in humble spirit to the stars at night and to the sun in the heavens for guidance and faith.

Someone in this world must have thought and dared mightily because, in spite of evil men, freedom survived. Someone—yes millions—must have cherished what this young man also cherishes because its flame helps to provide a genuine warmth in a cold world.

We simply say to our young friend that he has no cause for discouragement though he may feel let down.

Ours is a good world in which justice shall be done and decency shall triumph.

Ours is a world in which millions of little people, unknown except for their friends and neighbors, in expression of complete faith, continue to think life can be beautiful, and in thinking help to make it so.

The New Benson

In the lull that has followed the veto of the farm bill by President Eisenhower not much has changed out in the farm belt except the image of Secretary Benson. The price-cost squeeze is still on. But Mr. Benson, the man of unchanging principles, the foe of expedients, the champion of long range ideas has another side.

Mr. Benson has reversed himself. He has not only raised crop price supports substantially above the earlier level he himself set. But he has taken the production ceiling off corn by putting a price floor under all that is to be grown under non-compliance out in the commercial corn belt. He has momentarily ceased his war on surpluses with an invitation, at least in corn, to let the production sky be the limit. This does not square with the picture of the erstwhile champion of scarcity, both of production and farm solvency, the advocator of declining price supports and the non-compromiser.

One could well ask about this turnabout.

Mr. Benson has not explained it, but the St. Louis Post-Dispatch proposes an answer. It said:

"The answer is, of course, well known, and it does not have much to do with principle. Secretary Benson changed his mind because the President told him to. And the President told him to because sugar coating was needed—at least enough to last until November—for the pill of the farm bill veto.

"Secretary Benson turns out to be quite a generous man. When the new price support levels are applied to estimated 1956 crops, he is offering the farmers $1,611,000,000 more than he had intended to offer them before the veto. He has even told corn growers in the commercial corn states that they can produce all the corn they want to this year, disregarding acreage restrictions, and still receive price support loans at 82 per cent of parity. In the old days, they had to restrict their production in order to qualify for price supports.

"Of course Secretary Benson is not as open-handed as Congress. Nobody could expect that. Congress, with its 90 per cent supports across the board, offered farmers $2.2 billion more in prospective crop values for 1956 than they would have received under the old, or flinty, Benson program.

All the same, Ezra, we think, is doing pretty well. Pretty well for Ezra, anyhow."

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

'Lows as how this is a free country and from the highest to the lowest every man is entitled to his opinion. That's why we have experts. An expert is a guy who knows more about a given subject than the mine run of individuals. Now there is Jack Bell, for example, ace political writer of the Associated Press in Washington. Mr. Bell is an expert. He may not pose as an expert but one gets the impression that when Jack Bell finishes writing just about the last words of wisdom have been spoken.

It's Mr. Bell, Speaking

All of those who read the Sunday paper carefully, and some those who may not read it so carefully, came across this from the Associated Press political ace: "President Eisenhower appears to have outmaneuvered congressional Democrats who thought they had him over a political barrel because of his farm bill veto. In the nearly two weeks since the President's rejection of the measure there have been few signs of the kind of farm belt rebellion against the action that some Democrats were counting upon." That is what Expert Bell thinks. There is more of it, much more of it, along the same lines, and it may be news but in our humble opinion brother Bell simply is putting out a choice hunk of propaganda and as an unbiased observer dishing out a strictly partisan conglomeration. Maybe Mr. Bell can explain to the dear reader, having settled the farm issues fully, how it comes that in Massachusetts, anything but a farm state, less than 10 per cent of the voters got to the polls. One of the party state chairman said the light vote was a disgrace. Maybe Expert Bell can explain to us the amazingly light vote in Pennsylvania and the stay-at-home undertone that has marked every presidential primary election thus far. He knows from lack of noise the President outmaneuvered the Democrats in vetoing the farm bill so we will be waiting for his profound judgment on the lack of interest, the indifference and chilling apathy that has characterized every state election, farm or industrial, thus far. Who knows? Maybe both parties are dead and don't know it.

★

We have a rather vivid memory of Mr. Bell. He was one of the featured speakers a few years ago, if memory is correct, at a gathering of Associated Press editors, detailed to talk on his campaign experiences in covering both Eisenhower and Stevenson. Mr. Bell spent a little time telling of that trip with Eisenhower from Omaha to Kansas City.

Squeezing Every Drop

Believe me, Mr. Bell squeezed that experience to get every drop out of it. We were amazed at how much it yielded. He spoke of passing through a farming area between Omaha and Kansas City. It was, we understood such desolate, lonely country. We never did discover whether Mr. Bell's teeth chattered. But actually he was passing through a rural area boasting of the finest of modern farm homes, that in some instances cost from $25,000 to one single case as high as $40,000, a beautiful, fertile productive farming region, as attractive as any to be found in the United States. There was fat cattle nearby, hogs, and bulging cribs of corn. If you get the general idea Mr. Bell's address on that occasion made a 'farm boy' a little bit sick to his tummy. Mr. Bell did not know where he was. If he could get all of that out of a train ride between Omaha and Kansas City only the Lord knows what he would have written had he covered a covered wagon migration over the old Overland Trail. The farm people are not happy. With full apologies to Mr. Bell the farm people have not been too happy with Mr. Benson for a year, and now with Mr. Eisenhower, since they have discovered Mr. Benson was merely carrying out Mr. Eisenhower's orders. But the greatest insult that a newspaper man supposed to know something about the farm belt could offer its people is to suggest that the desperate battle over farm legislation, ending in a veto, was purely a Democratic political maneuver.

★

Out here at least that simply does not happen to be the truth. We trust that before he reaches retirement age Mr. Bell comes to know a little bit about mid-America—sometimes known as the nation's breadbasket and at all times asking nothing more of the urban people of the great cities than fair treatment.

At the opening of the week Nebraska's highway death toll the first four months of 1956 exactly equalled the figure for the corresponding period a year ago. It stood at 92.

The latter does not fit in with preference of Nebraskans, but in terms of rainfall—well, we'll take it under any bearable conditions. Chotiner May Get Easy Probe Treatment

WASHINGTON — When the senate investigating committee tackles Vice President Nixon's close friend and confidant tomorrow, they will have to be extremely smart. For Chotiner is not only an attorney; he is one of the shrewdest public relations men on the West Coast.

He not only managed Nixon's campaign for the vice presidency, but his campaign for the senate in 1950, helped his first campaign for congress in 1946, and conceived the brilliantly executed cloth-coat-little dog TV report to the nation in which Nixon broke down criticism of his $18,000 personal expense fund.

Cross-examining Chotiner will be Sen. John McClellan of Arkansas who can be a penetrating prober when he wants to be, but who has latent sympathies for the Nixon-GOP side. Strongly backstopping Chotiner—if he needs it—will be such potent Nixon pals as Sens. Joseph McCarthy and Karl Mundt of South Dakota. Chotiner ought to come away unscathed.

Behind his career, however, if the committee probes deep enough are some highly interesting circumstances.

The immediate circumstance is that Sam and Herman Kravitz, the clothing manufacturers who had already been blacklisted for cheating the army, were in income-tax trouble. Doubtless that was the chief reason why, with a battery of seven eastern lawyers at their command, they reached across the U.S.A. to Beverly Hills, Calif., to hire an attorney with power in high places.

Last week the Kravitzes repeatedly invoked the fifth amendment when asked about their various troubles, and Chotiner has already told the senate committee that he would invoke the right not to answer because of lawyer-client relationship.

Senator McCarthy would have beat his breast and protested in front-page headlines if witnesses had done this to him. Nixon, when a member of the house un-American activities committee, was also ruthless with witnesses refusing to answer. In the Kravitz-Chotiner case, however, McCarthy actually went on the senate floor to alibi publicly for Chotiner.

Chotiner's Influence

This column and various senate committees have exposed others who collected legal or lobbying fees because of influence, from John Maragon up. So here are some of the interesting things in the life of Murray Chotiner which the senators may want to investigate.

First, let's see whether he really has influence. Here is the record:

On Jan. 4, 1953, Chotiner gave a check for $1,500 to the Statler Hotel in Washington as down payment for 25 rooms for Nixon's inaugural guests.

On Oct. 6, 1953, Chotiner began sending out letters to obtain a realignment of the Republican Party in California, to take it away from Senator Knowland and Governor Warren, then about to become chief justice, and put it under Nixon and Governor Knight.

Sept. 5, 1955, Chotiner was made associate director of the "Len Hall Campaign School" by the Republican National Committee. He lectured on campaign tactics to 48 GOP state chairmen before they went to Denver to ask Ike to run again.

Chotiner began spending more time in Washington. He became one of the most trusted advisers of the GOP national committee. Bob Humphreys, director of campaign activities for the committee, described Chotiner's work as a "smash hit." He was considered an expert on ways to have "good associated with Republicans" and "bad associated with Democrats."

Chotiner's closeness to Nixon was clearly demonstrated at that time by the fact that the wrote several hundred letters to newspapers and radio stations demanding corrections regarding news pertaining to Nixon. In these letters he stated that he was writing "on behalf of Vice President Nixon."

Bomb Test Problem Is What To Wear

H-BOMB BOUND — A tricky problem has risen in connection with the first public H-bomb, whose wick is tentatively scheduled to be lighted May 8, at a place in the extreme Marshall Islands known as Eniwetok. The problem may have been the reason why a week's delay was announced not long ago.

The problem is: What To Wear. This has become a very serious affair in recently earth-shaking news stories.

Bob McCormick of NBC, who will be the TV pool man on the H-bomb test, saw Bryson Rash, ABC's pool radio man at the blast, packing away a nice white linen suit — and wondered. McCormick, at last report, had purchased lead jacket and puttees from Abercrombie and Fitch's anti-radiation department. NBC and ABC would seem to be about as far apart as ever on dial, channel and tailors. An effort will be made by the writer to bring the two fashion plates together as the bomb goes off. Perhaps a quick transfer of pants or even weskits between the time the light shines and the shock wave reaches us will save the day for both valued gentlemen—or, at least, half of each gentleman. As for the writer, he will be standing safely behind them, adequately shielded—unless they double cross me and go on the Mayo diet.

We had the same sartorial trouble 10 years ago on the trip to Bikini for what now seems to be atomic dross. We were a pretty stern and gray flannel suited crowd as we went from Oakland to Pearl, with a lot of talk about energy equalling M.C. square and other rot. Then the Navy in its infinite wisdom gave the lot of us a couple of days in Honolulu while it put more radiators in the S.S. Appalachian and soldered shut all portholes.

It was the end of June and the Pacific was steaming. Anyway, when the shore police rounded us up we were a different lot. The most distinguished science writers in the land blossomed out on ship board in Hawaiian shirts and shorts which no Hawaiian would be found atomized in, ghastly hues and designs by mad botanists.

Nixon's Friend Called To Stand

WASHINGTON — On Tuesday, April 24 last, the name of Murray Chotiner, Vice President Nixon's closest friend and 1952 campaign manager, bobbed up in a Senate investigation of possible bribery and corruption in uniform buying. Chotiner is known in California as "the man on Nixon's back door."

Within 48 hours, on Thursday, April 26, the vice president presented himself at the White House for a conference with President Eisenhower. At that meeting Nixon foreclosed his claim on renomination for vice president, which had been placed in doubt by the President's own actions. Upon emerging from the President's office Nixon told reporters at once that the matter was settled.

As a result, Chotiner can count on a large and intensely interested audience when he explains this week to the Senate Investigations Subcommittee a $5,000 fee he received in 1953 for representing Herman Kravitz. Kravitz is a former Atlantic City garment manufacturer who was convicted and fined in 1954 for making a false statement regarding return of government property to the military.

The entire chronology of Chotiner's relations with the Senate subcommittee is equally interesting and provocative.

It shows that contrary to the impression he gave in California, Chotiner was not suddenly subpoenaed nor mentioned in the inquiry. The fact is that committee records show him as breaking a promise to appear on an agreed date which he himself first asked for.

This is not usual in any witness: it is extraordinary in a member of the bar.

It shows also that the original date came roughly in the middle of the most crowded days the President has had since he went to Denver for the vacation which culminated in his heart attack. That schedule included two important televised speeches — one to Republican leaders, the other to the nation's editors — and the veto of the farm bill.

John F. Kennedy, counsel to the subcommittee, broke the news to Chotiner at breakfast, Thursday, April 19, that Chotiner's fee from Kravitz would be part of subcommittee testimony. The subcommittee, Kennedy said, wished to give Chotiner the opportunity to appear immediately thereafter.

The subcommittee did not hear from Chotiner that day. The next day, they got a wire saying he could not appear Thursday. By that time senators were reading that Chotiner told reporters he could not appear in Washington Thursday: it was too short a notice, he would not have time to arrange his affairs and pack his clothes.

Chotiner did not mention to the press that he had had a full week's notice, together with an explanation of the situation from subcommittee counsel Kennedy. The subcommittee's response was to issue the subpoena which directs Chotiner to appear Wednesday of this week.

Garden Glances With The Moon

May, Queen of blossoms,
And fulfilling flowers,
With what pretty music
Shall we charm the hours?
Wilt thou have pipe and reed,
Blown in the open mead?
Or to the lute give heed
In the green bowers!
—"To May" by Lord Thurlow

The moon this first day of May, 1956, is on the wane and tomorrow night near 9:00 p.m. begins fourth lunar quarter. It is in the movable, earthy and semi-fruitful sign, Capricorn, today, and tonight at 7:27 p.m. enters the flexed, watery, and fruitful sign, Pisces. Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock it will enter the movable, fiery and very barren sign, Aries. Then next Tuesday night, May 8, at 9:19 p. m., it will enter the fixed, earthy, and semi-fruitful sign, Taurus.

Mrs. Swingle

Plant only those vegetables that produce their yield in the soil, as beets, carrots, radishes, onions, parsnips, potatoes, etc., while the moon is waning. Friday and Saturday and until 4 p.m. Sunday while the decreasing moon is in the watery, fruitful sign, Pisces, one might plant all these things. Pisces, the sign of the feet, promises a quick and strong root system. So get on with your tree, shrub and hardy perennial plantings. One of these days we shall wake and find the day warm and fair and the soil warm enough that we can safely sow seeds of tender annuals and also set out greenhouse-grown plants of annuals. We shall have a new moon May 10.

The peas and Colonel Bibb lettuce we planted April 17 when the moon was in Cancer were up in 10 days, but parsley seed, because their shells are very hard, take longer to germinate—sometimes as long as three weeks—but worth the time, I think, for parsley is a biennial, or did you know? And when well-established, it will live through the winter and be up ready for use early the next spring. We've some plants now two inches high from last year's crop.

Which reminds me—I read that the dandelion, that gay and plushy fellow which dots even the best of lawns with gold each and every spring, is a perennial. Ah, but it isn't. If we would pluck up and destroy the young plants that appear in late summer and autumn, there would be no well-established plants in our lawns, come the springtime, to flaunt their plushy golden blooms.

But do we do this? Ah, no! Or if we do, our neighbor doesn't, or vice versa. And so we have dandelions with us every spring. But what would spring be without a dandelion? Or don't you ever gather wild greens?

Valerie Wheeler (left) and Hannah, 1830 Washington St. . . . the Hopa tree was a bright spot in a cold, gray day . . .

Our picture today features a Hopa crab-apple resplendently in bloom at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Page Wheeler, 1830 Washington St., and their two lovely daughters, Valerie and Hannah. Miss Valerie goes to Lincoln High and Hannah attends Prescott School. It was cold and cloudy the day this picture was shot, so Hannah snuggled cozily in her warm winter coat while some of us shivered in lighter weight ones. There are other varieties of crab-apple trees around and about Lincoln but none so lovely at the moment as the Hopas. Why don't you plant a Hopa crab-apple this year? Now is the time.

If you have missed recently the wheel from an old surrey that you have seen in the Wheelers' front lawn, do not be alarmed. I have borrowed it to use in an herb display at the forthcoming, flower show of the Garden Club of Lincoln. Our colonial ancestors very often used discarded wheels from wagon, cart, buggy or surrey as a design and also a frame to enclose the smaller culinary and medicinal herbs.

The 25th flower show of the Garden Club of Lincoln will open officially to the public on Saturday, May 12, at 1 p.m. and continue until 9 p.m. All entries in both arrangements and horticultural sections must be in place and ready for judging before 11 a.m. Saturday morning.

Entries close promptly at this time. Please be alert. Eleven a.m. is the deadline for all entries. On Sunday, May 13, the show will open to the public at 9 a.m. and continue until 9 p.m. All exhibits must remain in place until closing time Sunday night.

For educational purposes, label all entries in the horticultural classes. If you are unsure of correct names, Dr. C. C. Wiggins and Mr. Earl Maxwell, chairmen of the classification committee, will assist you. All flowers exhibited for prizes except those in the arrangement classes must be grown by the exhibitor. They become the property of the show committee, and will be disposed of as seen fit after the show Sunday night.

So until another day—

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The inference in the recent letter that existing Lincoln hospitals were not "non-profit," were making money for the chosen few, and were afraid to disclose their costs and operational data was both unfair and untrue — and the writer must have known this because he lacked the intestinal fortitude to identify his name with this charge.

A non-profit hospital means exactly that. Any deviation would be a criminal violation of both state and federal statutes. All hospitals file information with state and federal authorities so that any such abuse may be policed. The following information on complete fiscal data or parts thereof is now reported, published, and filed as follows:

1. Federal: Collector of Internal Revenue at Omaha as to tax-exempt, non-profit status; also Department of Medicine and Surgery, Veterans Administration in Washington, D. C.; and Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, Federal Security Administration, at the Statehouse.

2. State: Board of Control with both Crippled Children's Bureau and Services for Blind; State Health Department as to state hospital license; Secretary of State as to occupational tax report; and State Workmen's Compensation Division.

3. City: Our hospital annual report is on file with the city clerk and our monthly expenditures with the City Council.

4. Others: Annual report is published by the press; reported and parts published by the American Hospital Association; reports to other sponsoring hospital bodies; audits of non-profit status were made by the Ford Foundation before payment of grants; room rates, fee schedules and the like are filed with Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plans and made available to any insurance company or individual upon request.

Rather than operating at a profit, the facts are that hospitals usually operate at a deficit. Traditionally, hospitals subsidize patients who pay $1.72 a day less than actual costs; this subsidization is in the form of endowments, religious denominational contributions, etc. The amount of our deficit has historically varied, from $6,000 to $36,000 per year with a total accumulation of $120,000.

I would suggest to "Reader and Taxpayer" that he heed his own advice—investigate.

DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

When the world was young and I was in knee pants, I burned the midnight oil over ads that read: "Follow that man! You, too can be a secret agent!"

Being somewhat on the shorts in those days, I never could afford the course. But, at long last, I can report what I missed.

The phone rang this morning while I was still in bed. "This is the FBI." (This is a ghastly way to wake up. I don't recommend it.)

"Yes, sir," I said. "I confess to the Brinks robbery."

"We already have a confession," said the FBI man. "The purpose of this call is that Mr. J. Edgar Hoover would be pleased if you care to tour our headquarters."

"You promise to let me out again?"

"Cross my heart," said the FBI man.

* * *

The FBI building is at Ninth and Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington. I went up to the fifth floor on a self-operating elevator and was immediately run down and trampled by a herd of high school youths.

"It is the spring season," said the FBI agent, picking me up off the floor. "We get 300,000 people through here each year. In the spring it is mostly school kids. What do you prefer to see?"

"Anything you say," I said. "Maybe some public enemies, drawn and quartered."

"Most of our work is scientific," he said. "Look out, here comes another bunch." He dragged me in through a doorway as another mob of children surged through the hall.

* * *

Mr. Hoover has set up an excellent display. Proving not only that Crime Does Not Pay. But also you can't get away with anything.

"We have 140,000,000 sets of fingerprints," said the agent. "We have to keep them in a separate building. All our file and all of our laboratory work is available to any police department in the United States.

"Do you like to shoot? This room in the basement is a gun range. It is backed by battleship steel and the walls are soundproofed with seaweed."

The target is a silhouetted man with one hand behind his back. I tried to take a stance like Gary Cooper when he is going thataway. Bang! Bang! The agent fished in the target on a wire.

"The first shot hit square in the chest. The second one didn't even nick the paper. You can keep the target. Just tell people you only fired one."

"It takes time," he said, kindly. A rush of school children came in. The agent picked up a gun and began to fire bullets casually into the target. Hitting head or chest as easily as I could do it with a pea shooter.

He wound up by firing a clip from a machine gun. The students all cheered and the agent looked pleased.

"That always gets them."

DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

When the world was young and I was in knee pants, I burned the midnight oil over ads that read: "Follow that man! You, too can be a secret agent!"

Being somewhat on the shorts in those days, I never could afford the course. But, at long last, I can report what I missed.

The phone rang this morning while I was still in bed. "This is the FBI." (This is a ghastly way to wake up. I don't recommend it.)

"Yes, sir," I said. "I confess to the Brinks robbery."

"We already have a confession," said the FBI man. "The purpose of this call is that Mr. J. Edgar Hoover would be pleased if you care to tour our headquarters."

"You promise to let me out again?"

"Cross my heart," said the FBI man.

☆ ☆ ☆

The FBI building is at Ninth and Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington. I went up to the fifth floor on a self-operating elevator and was immediately run down and trampled by a herd of high school youths.

"It is the spring season," said the FBI agent, picking me up off the floor. "We get 300,000 people through here each year. In the spring it is mostly school kids. What do you prefer to see?"

"Anything you say," I said. "Maybe some public enemies, drawn and quartered."

"Most of our work is scientific," he said. "Look out, here comes another bunch." He dragged me in through a doorway as another mob of children surged through the hall.

Mr. Hoover has set up an excellent display. Proving not only that Crime Does Not Pay. But also you can't get away with anything.

"We have 140,000,000 sets of fingerprints," said the agent. "We have to keep them in a separate building. All our file and all of our laboratory work is available to any police department in the United States.

"Do you like to shoot? This room in the basement is a gun range. It is backed by battleship steel and the walls are soundproofed with seaweed."

The target is a silhouetted man with one hand behind his back. I tried to take a stance like Gary Cooper when he is going thataway. Bang! Bang! The agent fished in the target on a wire.

"The first shot hit square in the chest. The second one didn't even nick the paper. You can keep the target. Just tell people you only fired one."

"It takes time," he said, kindly. A rush of school children came in. The agent picked up a gun and began to fire bullets casually into the target. Hitting head or chest as easily as I could do it with a pea shooter.

He wound up by firing a clip from a machine gun. The students all cheered and the agent looked pleased.

"That always gets them."

The new Marilyn Monroe

Everybody knows the fabulous face and figure — but who knows the girl behind them? Here — for the first time—is her real story with her own answers to often-asked questions. And don't miss the glamour photos in full color!

Marilyn answers questions like these:

- Are you and Joe Di Maggio still friends? ("Yes, but I still don't know anything about baseball.")
- How do you feel now about the celebrated nude calendar photograph? ("I'm saving a copy for my grandchildren.")
- Has anyone ever accused you of wearing falsies? ("Those who know me better know better.")

Tall Men

A[illegible] beginning
And [illegible] often
And [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible]
There are men
Tall Men
Taking long strides
Stepping from peak to peak
Across a mountain range
Dipping into valleys
Too deep to see the bottoms
Civilization
Is a village in the midst of a desert
And they are its vanguards
With one hand they push back the wilderness
And with the other they embrace the [illegible]
They are familiar with Ideas
Fences
Possibilities
[illegible]
Maybes
And
Perhaps
They are always with us
By day they face the sun
And under the night sky look up and count the stars

Miss Harvey is affiliated with Delta Zeta sorority, is a member of Student Senate, active in debate and Woman's Athletic Association.

Her poem:

"Tall Men"

At the very beginning
And at the far-off end,
And all along the outside of things,
There are men.
Tall Men
Taking long strides
Stepping from peak to peak
Across a mountain range
Dipping into valleys
To deep to see the bottoms.
Civilization
Is a village in the midst of a desert,
And they are its vanguards.
With one hand they push back the wilderness
And with the other they embrace the village.
They are familiar with
Edges
Fences
Possibilities
Might be's
Maybe's
And Perhap's
They are always with us.
By day, they face the sun
And under the night sky, look up and count the stars.

ICC Authorizes Rails To Increase Fares

5 Per Cent Boost Effective In Nebraska At Midnight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission Monday authorized eastern and western railroads to increase interstate passenger fares by 5 per cent, effective at midnight.

The ICC also ordered similar increases made effective on intrastate passenger travel in eight states—Arkansas, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota and Texas.

In each of these states, intrastate passenger fares are fixed by statute so that state utility commissions are unable to authorize increases.

Same Level

The federal commission took jurisdiction over these situations many years ago in order to keep interstate and intrastate charges on the same level.

In other states, the railroad industry has proceedings pending before state commissions for the 5 per cent hike in intrastate business.

Earl Padrick of Chicago, chairman of the Transcontinental Passenger Assn., estimated the increase would add $11,600,000 annually to the revenue of western railroads.

The upward revisions will increase basic coach passenger fares in the east from 3.375 cents to 3.544 cents a mile and first class rates from 4.5 cents to 4.725 cents a mile.

In the west, most basic fares are increased from 2.5 to 2.625 cents per mile in coaches and from 3.5 to 3.675 cents per mile first class.

The ICC last Friday also authorized a 7½ per cent increase in Pullman fares throughout the nation.

The fare increase authorized Monday covers all passenger-carrying railroads west of the Mississippi and those east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers, plus West Virginia and the larger part of Virginia which constitute what is known as the Pocohontas Region.

The southern railroads also propose a 5 per cent passenger fare increase to be effective May 15. The commission has taken no action on this proposal.

The increases granted in the east and west are estimated to increase passenger charges in these areas by about 27 million dollars a year.

The ICC said railroads involved have been taking multi-million-dollar losses on passenger business for some years and clearly need additional revenue.

The commission said two state commissioners who sat in on hearings agreed with its findings. These representatives were Harold K Davison of New Hampshire and John M. Ropes of Iowa.

Irrigation Firm Announces Plans For Kearney Branch

...To Manufacture, Service Pumps

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP) — A new industry has purchased a building and site and expects to get into production here this spring

J. I. Seay, president and chairman of the board of Layne and Bowler, Inc., of Memphis, Tenn., announced a factory branch of the firm will be established here.

Irrigation

The new industry, the Layne Irrigation Company, will manufacture and assemble irrigation pumps, as well as provide service to Nebraska industries and municipalities using the Layne pumps.

Approximately 80 to 85 per cent of the machining necessary for manufacturing pumps will be done at the Kearney plant, Seay said.

The manufacturing operations will include production of discharge columns, shaft and tubing, as well as any special parts needed in the area.

Triangle

Establishment of the Kearney factory creates a triangle of factory branch establishments for the firm, Seay said, to service 10 midwestern and southern states in the pump irrigation region.

In addition to the factory at Memphis, the firm also operates a factory branch at Lubbock, Tex.

The Layne firm has purchased the building and 28-acre tract formerly owned by the Service Pipe Line Co., two and a half miles west of Kearney.

The heavy pumping station equipment has been dismantled and is being shipped to the Memphis foundry as scrap.

Experimental

The 28-acre Platte Valley tract should provide ample room for experimental and development work with sprinkler irrigation systems, Seay pointed out.

The announcement culminates an extended period of negotiation between the Chamber of Commerce and the Memphis firm, to obtain the factory branch for Nebraska. Several other Nebraska cities had bid for the firm.

Vernon Kay, who came here from the Lubbock, Tex., branch, is manager of the Kearney branch.

No announcement was made as to the number of employes the firm will require.

Irrigation Firm Announces Plans For Kearney Branch

. . . To Manufacture, Service Pumps

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP) — A new industry has purchased a building and site and expects to get into production here this spring.

J. I. Seay, president and chairman of the board of Layne and Bowler, Inc., of Memphis, Tenn., announced a factory branch of the firm will be established here.

Irrigation

The new industry, the Layne Irrigation Company, will manufacture and assemble irrigation pumps, as well as provide service to Nebraska industries and municipalities using the Layne pumps.

Approximately 80 to 85 per cent of the machining necessary for manufacturing pumps will be done at the Kearney plant, Seay said.

The manufacturing operations will include production of discharge columns, shaft and tubing, as well as any special parts needed in the area.

Triangle

Establishment of the Kearney factory creates a triangle of factory branch establishments for the firm, Seay said, to service 10 midwestern and southern states in the pump irrigation region.

In addition to the factory at Memphis, the firm also operates a factory branch at Lubbock, Tex.

The Layne firm has purchased the building and 28-acre tract formerly owned by the Service Pipe Line Co., two and a half miles west of Kearney.

The heavy pumping station equipment has been dismantled and is being shipped to the Memphis foundry as scrap.

Experimental

The 28-acre Platte Valley tract should provide ample room for experimental and development work with sprinkler irrigation systems, Seay pointed out.

The announcement culminates an extended period of negotiation between the Chamber of Commerce and the Memphis firm, to obtain the factory branch for Nebraska. Several other Nebraska cities had bid for the firm.

Vernon Kay, who came here from the Lubbock, Tex., branch, is manager of the Kearney branch.

No announcement was made as to the number of employes the firm will require.

Five Generations At Christening

An extremely important young man on Monday afternoon was John William Stebbins, the three weeks-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stebbins (Barbara Farnsworth) who was christened at the home of his great-great-grandmother, Mrs. I. G. Chapin, and his great-great grandmother, Mrs. Frank Boehmer.

In the picture are five generations of Mrs. Chapin's family who were present at the christening service performed by Dr. Frank Court.

Also at the christening service were John William's grandfather, William Farnsworth, and his aunt, Miss Betsy Farnsworth, who flew in from Santa Barbara on Sunday.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

The activities of the small set in the Eastridge area may be somewhat limited to May Basket day — but not so with their elders whose social calendar is filled to the brim.

Last Saturday evening, for instance, Capt. and Mrs. Thomas Kahley entertained a group of guests at an hors d'oeuvres party at their home preceding the dinner dance at Hillcrest Club. Attending the party were Col. and Mrs. Walter Starck, Maj. and Mrs. George Biggs, Maj. and Mrs. Donald Greenwood, and Capt. and Mrs. Richard McCarty.

And on the host and hostess list in Eastridge next Friday evening will be Mr. and Mrs. John hagerman who will entertain at an hors d'oeuvres party at their home preceding the Mr. and Mrs. Club dinner dance at Cotner Terrace.

Also on the Friday evening calendar is the gathering of the clan at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Ivan Resny — The group includes the members of Capt. and Mrs. Resny's bridge club — a husband and wife affair.

While we suspect that the adult population in Eastridge has only an indirect interest in May baskets—we do know of two social events planned for today—

One of them is a just-for-fun coffee for which Mrs. A. W. Wilson will be hostess this afternoon when she entertains a group of her neighbors—

Then we heard that Mrs. Boyd Waddle is to be a dessert supper hostess at her home this evening, and that her guests will include the members of her bridge club.

Tripoly and canasta are planned for Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Charles Vollmer who will be hostess to the wives of the officers of the 344th Bomb Squadron. The group has been invited for a 12:30 o'clock coffee.

Hear that there was an informal, fun party last Wednesday afternoon in Eastridge when Mrs. Gene Lingenfelder invited a group of her close neighbors in for coffee.

A number of the Eastridge residents were out tripping the light fantastic last Saturday evening, and among them were Capt. and Mrs. Ivan Resny who attended the Faculty Dancing Club dinner dance as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Winkelman.

We regret to tell you that Eastridge is losing one of its families — Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Nelson and their son, Mark, who are about to become residents of Cedar Rapids, Ia. In fact Mr. Nelson already is in Cedar Rapids, but Mrs. Nelson and Mark will not join him there for a few weeks.

Town Talk

IT ALWAYS gives us a wonderful feeling when someone likes our town so much they want to return to it — to stay — We have in mind Capt. and Mrs. Tom Donovan who have "put their anchor down" in Lincoln for keeps — And just in case you don't believe it — go by the Donovans' new residence at 3233 Sheridan (where they are busy getting settled) and concentrate on the door-knocker—it's an anchor.

* * *

HEAR that guests arrived from Rochester, Minn., last evening —They are Dr. and Mrs. John B. Erich who are to remain until Wednesday as the house guests of Dr. and Mrs. Donald T. Waggoner.

* * *

AND the mention of Wednesday reminds us that that is the day Mrs. Lyle Holland and her daughters, Mrs. Donald Bloom and Miss Lynn Holland, will be luncheon hostess at the home of Mrs. Holland. The party is a post-nuptial courtesy for Mrs. William Campbell, the former Dolores Donarico of Omaha. Mrs. Campbell will be presented with a hostess gift.

* * *

A SOON-TO-BE bride—Miss Barbara Ann Stoffel, whose marriage to William Truman will take place on May 26, is being kept busy with prenuptial courtesies —

Next Sunday the bride-elect will be complimented by Mrs. J. F. Gilligan and Mrs. Leo Hyland who have invited guests for a brunch and miscellaneous shower at Hotel Cornhusker.

* * *

THE following Saturday evening, May 12, Miss Stoffel and her fiance will share honors at a buffet supper and shower for which Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Desmond will be host and hostess at their home.

* * *

WE thought someone might like to know Mrs. O. W. Everett's new address — It's 1600 Sunnyslope, Belmont, Calif. — And if you are puzzled, as to the whereabouts of Belmont — it's not too far from San Mateo.

But we are specially interested in the fact that Mrs. Everett, who left Lincoln a week ago, doesn't intend to have California as a permanent residence — She plans to return to Lincoln some time in the autumn.

* * *

JUST opened the little red book and found a notation for May 9 — a week from Wednesday. That is the date of the dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Alfred DuTeau will be host and hostess at their home when they honor Mr. and Mrs. William Gold II. Only the members of the families will be included in the guest list.

WE thought someone might like to know Mrs. O. W. Everett's new address — It's 1600 Sunnyslope, Belmont, Calif. — And if you are puzzled, as to the whereabouts of Belmont — it's not too far from San Mateo.

But we are specially interested in the fact that Mrs. Everett, who left Lincoln a week ago, doesn't intend to have California as a permanent residence — She plans to return to Lincoln some time in the autumn.

JUST opened the little red book and found a notation for May 9 — a week from Wednesday. That is the date of the dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Alfred DuTeau will be host and hostess at their home when they honor Mr. and Mrs. William Gold II. Only the members of the families will be included in the guest list.

Plans Experts Advise Annexation Of Two Areas

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The City Council has been urged by a planning expert to annex both the West O and Cornhusker Highway areas to protect its present "excellent position."

The advice came from Eldridge Lovelace of the firm of Harland Bartholomew & Associates, St. Louis, Mo., city planners for Lincoln.

If such areas around a city are left to incorporate, he said, the "multiplicity of political units causes duplication, waste of public funds, extreme difficulty in developing co-ordinated plans for streets or other public facilities and induces an 'ostrich-like' attitude on the part of the public which makes them refuse to even recognize overall community problems."

According to Lovelace, it is unfair to serve such outlying areas with city services when they do not pay their fair share of taxes.

From a financial point of view, he said, the annexation would cost the city more than the tax revenue it would bring in. It was fortunate, he said, that other areas around Lincoln were annexed some years ago.

"It would appear to be worth quite a little effort," he said, "to maintain this excellent position."

The Council Monday discussed adoption of a policy governing water service into these so-called fringe areas. The need for water has caused most of the discussion of annexation.

This discussion has led to introduction of ordinances for annexation of both areas to the city. Both ordinances have remained for several weeks on first reading without further action.

The Council will discuss the water problem with Public Works director D. L. Erickson. If water is sold to the people in these areas, said Mayor Clark Jeary, it will probably be on an interruptable basis.

Construction of the necessary water mains would also be at the expense of the customers to be served, he said.

April Building Permits Drop

Building permits were issued during April for construction costing an estimated $1,229,247, boosting the total costs for the year to date to $4,363,878.

The 1956 total was far behind the $5,427,884 building costs for the first four months of 1955. During April, permits were issued for 12' homes with an estimated cost of $968,472.

For 1956 to date, permits were issued for 340 dwellings with a total cost of $2,767,768. At the same time last year, 615 residential permits had been issued on homes to cost $4,342,012.

April was the second highest month this year. The largest month for the year so far was March when permits were issued for construction to cost $1,508,970.

The only major permits issued during April were the permit for the new Union Bank at 3643 So. 48th to cost $65,000 and a new roller rink at 1316 No. 47th to cost $30,000.

Success Wished

LONDON (INS) — Marshal Georgi Zhukov wished the Soviet armed forces "further successes" in their military and political training.

The Soviet defense minister in an order of the day also ordered a 21-gun salute fired on May Day.

125 Expected At Archeology Group Meet At N Of U

Approximately 125 persons are expected to attend the national meeting of the Society for American Archeology at the University of Nebraska Thursday through Saturday.

Hosts will be members of the University Department of Anthropology.

Highlights of the three-day program will be two symposiums.

A business meeting will be held at 11 a.m. Friday in Room 217, Ferguson Hall. The annual banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. Friday at the Cornhusker Hotel. The program will consist of a documentary film of African Bushmen. A field trip will be held Saturday afternoon.

State Bucks U.S. Traffic Death Record

. . . Lincoln Rises

While the rest of the nation showed highway deaths clipping along at record rates, Nebraska slowed up from an early indication of a new traffic death mark.

The total thus far in the year matches the 92 deaths recorded at this same time in 1955. A one-car fatality near Hartwell brought the year's figure up to the 92 mark.

Lincoln fared less well in the traffic death figure for the first quarter of the year. To date there have been six deaths, compared to none at the same time in 1955.

The deaths in the city — now classed in the 100,000 to 200,000 category—will have to go some before reaching the all-time figure of 18 in 1937. The next high year was 1954 with 15.

Last year there were two fatalities. The least killed since books were kept were two. There never has been a year with no deaths or even one fatality.

In the accident division, the city has 1,830 since Jan. 1, compared to 1,966 for last year. Both figures are one day short of filling out a full quarter.

Injuries have shown a short decline, this year listing 124 in all accidents compared to 132 during the same period last year.

SEASIDE, Ore. (AP) — Democratic Stevenson paused in campaigning at this coastal resort Monday to say that in the death of Alben Barkley, at Lexington, Va., "A great American has died—a man whose courtesy, kindness and gallantry have added greatly to the public life of our country.'"

Stevenson added. "I was enriched by his acquaintance. This is a very sad day indeed, not only for Democrats, but all Americans."

Atty. Gen. Rules In Installment Note Taxation Question

The Attorney General's office Monday in an opinion requested by Thayer Co. Atty. Leonard Germer clarified a tax question involving taxation of installment notes.

The amount subject to taxation is the unpaid balance on March 1 of each year, the opinion said.

Germer explained a business was sold, and the seller took a promissory note from the buyer, payable in yearly installments. The question was whether the amount subjet to taxation in a given year was the amount due during that year or the amount of the unpaid balance.

Elwood's Family Doctor Clark Dies

ELWOOD, Neb. (AP)—Dr. George A. Clark, 76, widely known "family doctor" in the Elwood area for over 40 years, died in a Holdrege hospital Monday after a short illness.

Dr. Clark began practice here in 1908 and after serving some years at Neligh and Central City returned here.

In October of 1949 his friends paid tribute to him at a "Dr. George's Day" and presented him with two car and other gifts.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Elwood Methodist Church. Surviving are his widow, a son and two daughters.

Anderson said Ress would have to hold speechmaking down to three appearances a week and the governor told commission members he would expect them and the commission secretary to make other [illegible] explaining highway work

Shorten Distance

The Highway 2 argument centered on whether the road should be relocated to save 17 miles of the Lincoln Nebraska City distance as well as eliminate a couple of expensive corner locations or whether it should follow section lines until it joins No 50

The reconstruction of No 2 has already started at a new junction on U S 77 near the Penitentiary Relocations of the proposed route have been a [illegible] of vigorous discussion [illegible] several years

[illegible] Holland of Lincoln represented proponents of the more northern route along section lines He explained that bridges would cost more further south as the size of streams increase He also said that he has been informed that 11 farms will lose land and be bisected if the cut off is used.

Both Holland and William Brandt, representing the people of Unadilla, admitted that either location will cause some people to lose and that personalities should be dropped in favor of the best possible highway system

Use Cited

Brandt told of the saving in mileage and said the highway is now used by 700 vehicles daily which will be increased by 350 according to estimates He estimated that this additional travel would cost motorists $32 000 each year

He also pointed to the increased safety in Unadilla where the present highway uses the main street and has a "bad" corner

Cost Questioned

Member C E Metzger inquired of Engineer Ress regarding mileage involved He pointed out that the part of Neb 50 that would be used is scheduled for paving and would save that amount

Ress contended that this involved cost of building the two routes which had not been mentioned He agreed to argue costs if that was the desire of the member

Metzger then asked why the southern route was favored Ress recalled the 1951 floods and said that the northern route would travel over roads that were 12 feet under water at that time and that a bus was swept off the highway

The commission will consider its recommendations on the proposed route at its next meeting when action is also expected on two other hearings held Monday

101 Discussed

A delegation headed by Sen Le Roy Bahensky of Palmer argued for the return of Neb 101 to the state system It was removed by the last Legislature It consists of a road with many turns between Spalding and Bartlett which was replaced by an improved U S 281

The commission was also told that the Wheeler county board is [illegible] provisions of the law distributing funds for mail route improvement [illegible] the old road is mail route

Sen K W Peterson Sargent headed a delegation asking the state to continue to maintain a highway to Victoria Springs, a state recreation area Under the old plan the area was served by a 10 mile road from Merna and seven mile from Anselmo

Peterson told the commission that if people in the area could not have the two roads they would be content with either one A petition with 1 950 names was presented urging the state to maintain the roads

The commission refused to hear pleas to return parts of Neb 91 and 104 which had been heard previously to the state system It was decided to maintain present highway until the Hayes Center north section of Neb 25 is completed

Highway 2 Relocation, State Engineer Duties Discussed At Advisory Commission Meeting

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

The location of State Highway 2 between Lincoln and Nebraska City and a discussion of administration of the highway department occupied a day-long session of the Highway Advisory Commission Monday.

Gov. Victor Anderson appeared before the commission to seek "better administration" of the highway department.

He asked the commission to make decisions more promptly and take care of more of the public information work now handled by L. N. Ress, state engineer.

Anderson said Ress would have to hold speech-making down to three appearances a week, and the governor told commission members he would expect them and the commission secretary to make other talks explaining highway work.

Shorten Distance

The Highway 2 argument centered on whether the road should be relocated to save 1.7 miles of the Lincoln-Nebraska City distance as well as eliminate a couple of expensive corner locations, or whether it should follow section lines until it joins No. 50.

The reconstruction of No. 2 has already started at a new junction of U.S. 77 near the Penitentiary. Relocations of the proposed route have been a topic of vigorous discussion for several years.

Lyle Holland of Lincoln represented proponents of the more northern route along section lines. He explained that bridges would cost more further south as the size of streams increase. He also said that he has been informed that 11 farms will lose land and be bisected if the cut-off is used.

Both Holland and William Brandt, representing the people of Unadilla, admitted that either location will cause some people to lose and that personalities should be dropped in favor of the best possible highway system.

Use Cited

Brandt told of the saving in mileage and said the highway is now used by 700 vehicles daily which will be increased by 350 according to estimates. He estimated that this additional travel would cost motorists $32,000 each year.

He also pointed to the increased safety in Unadilla where the present highway uses the main street and has a "bad" corner.

Cost Questioned

Member C. E. Metzger inquired of Engineer Ress regarding mileage involved. He pointed out that the part of Neb. 50 that would be used is scheduled for paving and would save that amount.

Ress contended that this involved cost of building the two routes which had not been mentioned. He agreed to argue costs if that was the desire of the member.

Metzger then asked why the southern route was favored. Ress recalled the 1951 floods and said that the northern route would travel over roads that were 12 feet under water at that time and that a bus was swept off the highway.

The commission will consider its recommendations on the proposed route at its next meeting when action is also expected on two other hearings held Monday.

A delegation headed by Sen. LeRoy Bahensky of Palmer argued for the return of Neb. 101 to the state system. It was removed by the last Legislature. It consists of a road with many turns between Spalding and Bartlett which was replaced by an improved U.S. 281.

The commission was also told that the Wheeler county board is not following provision of the law in distributing funds for mail route improvement. Most of the old road is mail route.

Sen. K. W. Peterson, Sargent, headed a delegation asking the state to continue to maintain a highway to Victoria Springs, a state recreation area. Under the old plan the area was served by a 10-mile road from Merna and seven-mile from Anselmo.

Peterson told the commission that if people in the area could not have the two roads they would be content with either one. A petition with 1,950 names was presented urging the state to maintain the roads.

The commission refused to hear pleas to return parts of Neb. 93 and 104 which had been heard previously to the state system. It was decided to maintain present highway until the Hayes Center, north, section of Neb. 25 is completed.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner o fthe rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS

By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

This has been a successful year for American diplomacy if you include marriages.

We might recuperate our European loans with 15 per cent of the Monte Carlo roulette racquette.

We also sense the happy marriage of Mr Truman's operatic daughter to a newspaperman releases Harry for one of his whirlwind campaigns in an egg-beater.

From the start of the primaries we have felt Harry's bread on the waters was buttered on both sides. He is no John Alden shilling for Miles Standish for office.

If Harry thumps any tubs it's in his own orchestra. When he swings from lapels they're his own. He knows the man of the hour because he's with him any minute.

And don't overlook a kiln-dried fact about the Kansas City statesman. He is one of the slickest politicians who ever cut a street through the hometown baseball park.

Baseball Off; Chiefs' Twin Bill Starts At 6

Foul weather continued to play havoc with local baseball teams Monday.

The Lincoln Chiefs, scheduled to play Sioux City Monday night at Sherman Field, had to postpone because of wet grounds and cold weather.

And the University of Nebraska's game with Kansas was postponed for the same reason. Both teams will play doubleheaders Tuesday.

Lincoln and Sioux City will play a twin bill, starting at 6 p.m., a new doubleheader time. Previously the starting time had been 6:30, but the earlier time was set in an effort to beat the weather.

Righthander Bennie Daniels (1-0) will start in the opener against the Soo's Dick Atkinson (0-1), also a righthander. In the nightcap it will be Lincoln's Cleo Lewright (0-0) facing Sioux City's John Spiller (1-0). Both of them are righthanders.

The Nebraska-Kansas doubleheader will start on the University field at 2 p.m. Dick Geier and Willie Greenlaw, both southpaws, are expected to be the starters for Coach Tony Sharpe's crew.

A parade of bands at 4 p.m. will add color to the festivities and a massed band concert at 7:15 will be a special feature. Ed Marty, past director of the University of Arkansas band will direct the musicians.

The college pole vault gets the evening's slate started at 7:30.

Another highlight of the evening will be the official night opening ceremonies with the presentation of Relays Queen Elain Fidler and her attendants.

Track men from Wesleyan will be entered in 11 events at the Doane meet.

The Wesleyan entries:

100-yard dash—Jim B[illegible], Dick Keller.

Bloody Race Under Fire

ROME (AP)—The bloodiest Mille Miglia in 18 years — with five dead and about 20 injured — touched off a wave of bitter criticism Monday which may end or greatly modify Italy's 1,000 mile road race classic.

Newspapers, describing the race as a "massacre" emphasized the death toll and said the safety precautions ordered last year after the Le Mans race disaster were insufficient. A deputy asked the Italian government to ban the race."

"It is no longer a sport," It is collective homicide which must absolutely be stopped," said Socialist Deputy Fernando Santi.

The drivers killed were Wolfgang Piwko of Germany and Max Berney of Switzerland, whose cars crashed.

John Heath, British driver who was critically injured, was reported "slightly improved but still in a very serious condition" at Ravenna hospital. He was given a quart and a half of blood in repeated transfusions during the night.

Santi asked Prime Minister Antonio Segni to reply before Italy's Parliament to his demand that the race be banned in the future.

"The speeds now developed by racing cars, and the inadequacy of Italy's roads, make the race so perilous that public authorities cannot remain indifferent," he said.

AAU Outlaws Track Team; TwoMembersRacedSantee

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The entire William & Mary track team has been declared ineligible for Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) competition because two members ran against miler Wes Santee, Athletic Director Jack Freeman said Monday.

Freeman confirmed a report that the AAU planned to crack down because of W&M participation in a race against Santee in a meet April 14.

Freeman said he received a letter Monday from John T. Core, first vice president of the Virginia Assn. of the AAU, declaring the AAU cannot accept entries from the William & Mary team.

Freeman said he intended to answer Gore's letter immediately and inform the AAU "I do not feel it incumbent on us to tell the Quantico team who can represent them. William & Mary had a meet with Quantico and that was that. We're not going to tell them who can compete."

Core said in his letter to Freeman he was acting under instructions from Dan Ferris, secretary of the AAU.

In Richmond, Core confirmed the action had been taken against William & Mary. He said as far as any other colleges competing against the Williamsburg school was concerned, it would be up to the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA).

Core cited a section of the NCAA-AAU alliance to bear out his contention and said the AAU would abide by the decision of Wallace Wade, Southern Conference commissioner, Southern Conference rules do not prohibit its athletes from competing with service teams or other organizations which may have former professionals as team members. He would not comment further.

Conference Members Involved

William & Mary is a member of the Southern Conference and most of its remaining track meets involved conference members.

Core said the AAU has not "declared that members of the William & Mary track team are professionals because they have competed against Santee, the AAU has said only they are ineligible for AAU-sanctioned competition."

The Virginia AAU official was on hand Saturday at the Virginian-Pilot Relays in which Santee won the mile in the unimpressive time of 4:12.6. Prior to the race Core displayed a telegram from Ferris advising that runners who competed against Santee in the military mile would lose their AAU eligibility.

As a result, Lt. Walter Clarkson, a Marine from Camp Lejeune, N. C., who was supposed to give Santee his closest competition, dropped out.

Spahn Fades After 6th As St. Louis Wins, 2-0

By CHUCK CAPALDO

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, docile and hitless for 6 2/3 innings Monday, shattered Warren Spahn's spell with three singles for a run in the seventh and went on to a 2-0 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The Cards slipped into first place in the National League by percentage points over the idle Brooklyn Dodgers, .667 to .636, although on a basis of games won and lost the two clubs are tied at the top of the heap. Milwaukee dropped from first to third in the day's only game in the majors.

The smallest County Stadium baseball crowd since the Braves came to Milwaukee in 1953—6,090—watched righthander Tom Poholsky pick up his first victory of the '56 campaign with an effective, if unspectacular seven hitter. Spahn got the loss, his first against no victories.

Poholsky got help in the ninth from Jackie Collum and Ellis Kinder, who combined to retire the side after Tom walked the leadoff batter and preserved his shutout.

Spahn, a 34-year-old lefthander who usually has the Cards eating out of his hands, did just that until the seventh.

He pitched near perfect ball until then, the only mar being a walk to Stan Musial in the first. Spahn mowed down the next 18 batters in a row.

Then with two down in the seventh Kenny Boyer, one of the hottest hitters in the majors, rifled a sharp single off Ed Mathews' glove at third. Rip Repulski and Wally Moon followed with singles, the latter scoring Boyer with the only run the Cards needed.

Red Schoendienst carried across the Redbirds' insurance run in the ninth after turning back a Braves' scoring threat the inning before with some great glove work.

The veteran second baseman led off with a single off reliefer Lou Sleater, went to second on a sacrifice, third on a fielder's choice and scored as Johnny Logan fumbled Joe Frazier's pinch grounder near second.

Schoendienst's play saved Poholsky in the eighth. With one out and runners on first and third, Red scooped up Danny O'Connell's sharp rounder at second and turned it into a double play.

The twin killing was the last and most timely of four turned in by the Cards' infield.

Celtics Hit Jackpot In Cage Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — The Boston Celtics hit an All-America jackpot; Bill Russell, the all-everything boy of the 1955-56 college season, was made third choice and the Philadelphia Warriors pulled out the name of Bevo Francis as the national Basketball Assn. staged its annual draft of college talent Monday.

The Celtics, who traded away one of their top performers and gate attractions, Easy Ed Macauley, Sunday, wound up with two 1956 All-America players and one member of the second All-America team.

It worked this way. The Celtics yielded their regular first-round choice in order to make a "territorial" selection of Tom Heinsohn, 6-foot-7 Holy Cross captain. That was permissible under an NBA rule which gives each team first call on players within its home area.

Green To Rochester

The Rochester Royals had first pick in the regular rounds of drafting and chose Duquesne's spring-legged Sihugo Green instead of Russell. St. Louis picked Russell next and handed him over to the Celtics as a part of the Macauley deal. Heinsohn and Russell both were named on The Associated Press first All-America team this year and Boston's third choice, Casey Jones of San Francisco, was picked for the second team.

Owner Les Harrison and Coach Bobby Wanzer of Rochester explained they had passed up Russell because he wouldn't be available for pro basketball until after the Olympic Games next December. Besides, they consider Green, another 1956 college All-America player, as "the best all-around player, bar none."

Russell A Question

A couple of other pro coaches questioned whether Russell, a two-time college All-America selection and the outstanding player of the NCAA championships, would be a success in the NBA. In college he was a standout on defense, but in pro basketball a big man is expected to score a lot of points. The Celtics apparently are willing to wait and find out—and also to try to outbid the Harlem Globetrotters, who reportedly are after Russell.

Completing the first round picks, the Minneapolis Lakers, reportedly seeking a big man to take the place of retiring George Mikan, settled for 6-6 Jim Paxson of Dayton; the New York Knicks selected tall Ron Shavlik of North Carolina State and then, having obtained Fort Wayne's first choice in a deal for Gene Shue, picked DePaul's back court star, Ron Sobieszczyk; Syracuse chose Joe Holup of George Washington and Philadelphia picked Hal Lear of Temple.

Forfeit Caused By Negro Ban

NEW IBERIA, La. (AP) — Ray Mullins, president of the Evangeline League, ruled Monday that Baton Rouge forfeited to Lake Charles a game it called off because of a city ban on Negro players.

Mullins said Umpire Joe Powers called "play ball" and Baton Rouge refused to play.

He cited a rule which said the umpire may declare a forfeit in favor of the opposing team when a team "fails to appear on the field, or being upon the field, refuses to start play within 5 minutes after the umpire has called play at the appointed hour for beginning the game unless such delayed appearance in the umpire's judgment is unavoidable."

The game was called off after Lake Charles presented its lineup listing a Negro player, shortstop Ralph Crosby. The city of Baton Rouge owns the park and has banned Negro players.

Face Another Forfeit

Baton Rouge faces another forfeiture today when it is scheduled to start a two-game home series against Lafayette. Lafayette has two Negro regulars, second baseman Sam Drake and catcher Manuel Trabous.

Mullins said the league would have to work out some kind of a solution to the problems, but he doesn't know what it will be. The next league meeting is scheduled May 6.

Most Eyes To Be On Fabius

Trial Stakes Will Pit Derby Hopefuls

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Eleven 3-year-olds were entered for the 19th running of the Derby Trial Stakes today at Churchill Downs, and the colt many people will be watching is Fabius from the famed Calumet Farm.

The reason is that Ben Jones, the veteran trainer, may or may not be hiding another Kentucky Derby winner under his big white hat.

Fabius and C. V. Whitney's grey charger, Head Man, are the two big name horses in the one mile, $10,000-added Derby Trial—a race that has been an important barometer for the Derby itself in recent years.

Six of the last eight runnings of the Kentucky Derby have been won by horses who finished first or second in the trial. Thus today's race starting at 4:30 p.m. (CST) will be watched closely by the customers shopping around for something to back at the mutuel windows in Saturday's mile and one quarter derby.

Needles To Miss Trial

Needles, the Florida-bred colt owned by the D & H Stable and current Derby favorite, and Career Boy—the other big Whitney colt—will miss the Trial. Needles wasn't nominated, while Career Boy ran second last week in the Blue Grass Stakes. Career Boy, apparently recovered from a bruised foot, will have an important workout early tomorrow.

"I plan to send him a slow mile and a quarter—just blow him out good," said Trainer Syl Veitch.

Trainer Hugh Fontaine said that Needles, the Florida Derby and Flamingo winner, would get no more serious workouts.

The Derby Trial certainly will eliminate a batch of horses from the big $125,000-added classic on Saturday.

Expected Favorite

Fabius, to be ridden by Willie Hartack, will carry 112 pounds, and is expected to be a 2-1 favorite. In 1952 Calumet's Hill Gail broke the track record in the Trial, then returned to collect the roses five days later.

Eddie Arcaro will be aboard Head Man, with 118 pounds, and probable 3-1 second choice. Head Man won the Experimental Handicap at Jamaica, then finished second in the Wood Memorial there but was given first money when Golf Ace was disqualified for a foul.

Joe Gavegnano's High King, 110; the Brandywine Stable's Countermand, 118; and No Regrets, W. E. Britt's California Derby winner, with 118, also will come in for attention.

To Be Proven

Others who'll have to prove in the Trial they are Derby threats are: the Duntreath Farm's Invalidate, 112; Clifford Mooers' How Blue, 112; Eugene Constantin Jr.'s Roman Fan, 110; the Hasty House Farm's Black Emperor, 112; the Green Acres Farm's Ebony Beauty, 108; and Rex Ellsworth's Lover's Aid, 112. Ebony Beauty, who's never won a race, also is entered for the first race tomorrow and may be withdrawn from the Trial.

Two years ago the Hasty House Farm's Hasty Road broke Hill Gail's track record in the Trial, in a head-and-head duel with Determine. In the Derby, however, Determine won with Hasty Road second.

Fabius is a son of the great Citation, who copped the 1948 Derby Trial and went on to snare the triple crown that year. A fast horse who won two races impressively at Keeneland, many observers wonder if he can carry his speed the entire Derby distance.

Jones Likes Fabius

"I like Fabius right now as much as I did Ponder before the Trial in 1949," said Jones. This was a pretty good statement, for Ponder finished second in the Trial, then nabbed the Derby.

"Of course, Fabius has to show me, just like Ponder did in the Trial, but we expect him to run a good race."

Jones said the Pintor Lea, another Calumet Derby colt with a knee injury, still remained "a very, very, very doubtful starter. I added that extra very because I don't believe there is a possible chance he'll go Saturday."

A final decision was expected in a matter of hours after his son, Trainer Jimmy Jones, arrives by plane from Garden State Park, N. J.

"As for the Derby, I'd rather have Needles chances than ours right now," Jones added with a twinkle. "Then, I guess you'd have to take those two Whitney horses.

Racing history will record, however, that after Ponder's showing in the Trial, came the famous pronouncement:

"If we can just get fourth money Saturday, you can say that old Ben Jones had himself a pretty good afternoon."

Knights Lose To Westside In Track Duel

The visiting Omaha Westside track team clipped Southeast, 78⅓-44⅔ in a dual track meet Monday afternoon.

Southeast collected firsts in five events but could not match the team strength of the Omaha squad.

Brook Brewer, Westside freshman, was the standout of the meet. He won the broad jump and the quarter, ran a leg of the winning 880-yard relay team, and added a third in the 100-yard dash for 12¼ points, highest in the meet.

Southeast's best performances were in the distance runs and in the weight events. Wayne Michaelis broke the tape in the half mile, and sophomore Rich Garlinghouse outlasted the field in the mile.

Jim Ebel gave the Knights a first in the discus and Harland Mook won the shot put.

Southeast's next cinder action will be in the Class A district meet at Beatrice Friday.

Results:

Baseball Off; Chiefs' Twin Bill Starts At 6

Foul weather continued to play havoc with local baseball teams Monday.

The Lincoln Chiefs, scheduled to play Sioux City Monday night at Sherman Field, had to postpone because of wet grounds and cold weather.

And the University of Nebraska's game with Kansas was postponed for the same reason. Both teams will play doubleheaders Tuesday.

Lincoln and Sioux City will play a twin bill, starting at 6 p.m., a new doubleheader time. Previously the starting time had been 6:30, but the earlier time was set in an effort to beat the weather.

Righthander Bennie Daniels (1-0) will start in the opener against the Soo's Dick Atkinson (0-1), also a righthander. In the nightcap it will be Lincoln's Cleo Lewright (0-0) facing Sioux City's John Spiller (1-0). Both of them are righthanders.

The Nebraska-Kansas doubleheader will start on the University field at 2 p.m. Dick Geier and Willie Greenlaw, both southpaws, are expected to be the starters for Coach Tony Sharpe's crew.

A parade of bands at 4 p.m. will add color to the festivities and a massed band concert at 7:15 will be a special feature. Ed Marty, past director of the University of Arkansas band will direct the musicians.

The college pole vault gets the evening's slate started at 7:30.

Another highlight of the evening will be the official night opening ceremonies with the presentation of Relays Queen Elain Fidler and her attendants.

Bloody Race Under Fire

ROME (AP)—The bloodiest Mille Miglia in 18 years — with five dead and about 20 injured — touched off a wave of bitter criticism Monday which may end or greatly modify Italy's 1,000 mile road race classic.

Newspapers, describing the race as a "massacre" emphasized the death toll and said the safety precautions ordered last year after the Le Mans race disaster were insufficient. A deputy asked the Italian government to ban the race."

"It is no longer a sport," It is collective homicide which must absolutely be stopped," said Socialist Deputy Fernando Santi.

The drivers killed were Wolfgang Piwko of Germany and Max Berney of Switzerland, whose cars crashed.

John Heath, British driver who was critically injured, was reported "slightly improved but still in a very serious condition" at Ravenna hospital. He was given a quart and a half of blood in repeated transfusions during the night.

Santi asked Prime Minister Antonio Segni to reply before Italy's Parliament to his demand that the race be banned in the future.

"The speeds now developed by racing cars, and the inadequacy of Italy's roads, make the race so perilous that public authorities cannot remain indifferent," he said.

AAU Outlaws Track Team; TwoMembersRacedSantee

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The entire William & Mary track team has been declared ineligible for Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) competition because two members ran against miler Wes Santee, Athletic Director Jack Freeman said Monday.

Freeman confirmed a report that the AAU planned to crack down because of W&M participation in a race against Santee in a meet April 14.

Freeman said he received a letter Monday from John T. Core, first vice president of the Virginia Assn. of the AAU, declaring the AAU cannot accept entries from the William & Mary team.

Freeman said he intended to answer Gore's letter immediately and inform the AAU "I do not feel it incumbent on us to tell the Quantico team who can represent them. William & Mary had a meet with Quantico and that was that. We're not going to tell them who can compete."

Core said in his letter to Freeman he was acting under instructions from Dan Ferris, secretary of the AAU.

In Richmond, Core confirmed the action had been taken against William & Mary. He said as far as any other colleges competing against the Williamsburg school was concerned, it would be up to the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA).

Core cited a section of the NCAA-AAU alliance to bear out his contention and said the AAU would abide by the decision of Wallace Wade, Southern Conference commissioner, Southern Conference rules do not prohibit its athletes from competing with service teams or other organizations which may have former professionals as team members. He would not comment further.

Conference Members Involved

William & Mary is a member of the Southern Conference and most of its remaining track meets involved conference members.

Core said the AAU has not "declared that members of the William & Mary track team are professionals because they have competed against Santee, the AAU has said only they are ineligible for AAU-sanctioned competition."

The Virginia AAU official was on hand Saturday at the Virginian-Pilot Relays in which Santee won the mile in the unimpressive time of 4:12.6. Prior to the race Core displayed a telegram from Ferris advising that runners who competed against Santee in the military mile would lose their AAU eligibility.

As a result, Lt. Walter Clarkson, a Marine from Camp Lejeune, N. C., who was supposed to give Santee his closest competition, dropped out.

Spahn Fades After 6th As St. Louis Wins, 2-0

By CHUCK CAPALDO

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, docile and hitless for 6 2/3 innings Monday, shattered Warren Spahn's spell with three singles for a run in the seventh and went on to a 2-0 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The Cards slipped into first place in the National League by percentage points over the idle Brooklyn Dodgers, .667 to .636, although on a basis of games won and lost the two clubs are tied at the top of the heap. Milwaukee dropped from first to third in the day's only game in the majors.

The smallest County Stadium baseball crowd since the Braves came to Milwaukee in 1953—6,090 —watched righthander Tom Poholsky pick up his first victory of the '56 campaign with an effective, if unspectacular seven hitter. Spahn got the loss, his first against no victories.

Poholsky got help in the ninth from Jackie Collum and Ellis Kinder, who combined to retire the side after Tom walked the leadoff batter and preserved his shutout.

Spahn, a 34-year-old lefthander who usually has the Cards eating out of his hands, did just that until the seventh.

He pitched near perfect ball until then, the only mar being a walk to Stan Musial in the first. Spahn mowed down the next 18 batters in a row.

Then with two down in the seventh Kenny Boyer, one of the hottest hitters in the majors, rifled a sharp single off Ed Mathews' glove at third. Rip Repulski and Wally Moon followed with singles, the latter scoring Boyer with the only run the Cards needed.

Red Schoendienst carried across the Redbirds' insurance run in the ninth after turning back a Braves' scoring threat the inning before with some great glove work.

The veteran second baseman led off with a single off reliefer Lou Sleater, went to second on a sacrifice, third on a fielder's choice and scored as Johnny Logan fumbled Joe Frazier's pinch grounder near second.

Schoendienst's play saved Poholsky in the eighth. With one out and runners on first and third, Red scooped up Danny O'Connell's sharp rounder at second and turned it into a double play.

The twin killing was the last and most timely of four turned in by the Cards' infield.

Celtics Hit Jackpot In Cage Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — The Boston Celtics hit an All-America jackpot; Bill Russell, the all-everything boy of the 1955-56 college season, was made third choice and the Philadelphia Warriors pulled out the name of Bevo Francis as the national Basketball Assn. staged its annual draft of college talent Monday.

The Celtics, who traded away one of their top performers and gate attractions, Easy Ed Macauley, Sunday, wound up with two 1956 All-America players and one member of the second All-America team.

It worked this way. The Celtics yielded their regular first-round choice in order to make a "territorial" selection of Tom Heinsohn, 6-foot-7 Holy Cross captain. That was permissible under an NBA rule which gives each team first call on players within its home area.

Green To Rochester

The Rochester Royals had first pick in the regular rounds of drafting and chose Duquesne's spring-legged Sihugo Green instead of Russell. St. Louis picked Russell next and handed him over to the Celtics as a part of the Macauley deal. Heinsohn and Russell both were named on The Associated Press first All-America team this year and Boston's third choice, Casey Jones of San Francisco, was picked for the second team.

Owner Les Harrison and Coach Bobby Wanzer of Rochester explained they had passed up Russell because he wouldn't be available for pro basketball until after the Olympic Games next December. Besides, they consider Green, another 1956 college All-America player, as "the best all-around player, bar none."

Russell A Question

A couple of other pro coaches questioned whether Russell, a two-time college All-America selection and the outstanding player of the NCAA championships, would be a success in the NBA. In college he was a standout on defense, but in pro basketball a big man is expected to score a lot of points. The Celtics apparently are willing to wait and find out—and also to try to outbid the Harlem Globetrotters, who reportedly are after Russell.

Completing the first round picks, the Minneapolis Lakers, reportedly seeking a big man to take the place of retiring George Mikan, settled for 6-6 Jim Paxson of Dayton; the New York Knicks selected tall Ron Shavlik of North Carolina State and then, having obtained Fort Wayne's first choice in a deal for Gene Shue, picked DePaul's back court star, Ron Sobieszczyk; Syracuse chose Joe Holup of George Washington and Philadelphia picked Hal Lear of Temple.

Forfeit Caused By Negro Ban

NEW IBERIA, La. (AP) — Ray Mullins, president of the Evangeline League, ruled Monday that Baton Rouge forfeited to Lake Charles a game it called off because of a city ban on Negro players.

Mullins said Umpire Joe Powers called "play ball" and Baton Rouge refused to play.

He cited a rule which said the umpire may declare a forfeit in favor of the opposing team when a team "fails to appear on the field, or being upon the field, refuses to start play within 5 minutes after the umpire has called play at the appointed hour for beginning the game unless such delayed appearance in the umpire's judgment is unavoidable."

The game was called off after Lake Charles presented its lineup listing a Negro player, shortstop Ralph Crosby. The city of Baton Rouge owns the park and has banned Negro players.

Face Another Forfeit

Baton Rouge faces another forfeiture today when it is scheduled to start a two-game home series against Lafayette. Lafayette has two Negro regulars, second baseman Sam Drake and catcher Manuel Trabous.

Mullins said the league would have to work out some kind of a solution to the problems, but he doesn't know what it will be. The next league meeting is scheduled May 6.

Most Eyes To Be On Fabius

Trial Stakes Will Pit Derby Hopefuls

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Eleven 3-year-olds were entered for the 19th running of the Derby Trial Stakes today at Churchill Downs, and the colt many people will be watching is Fabius from the famed Calumet Farm.

The reason is that Ben Jones, the veteran trainer, may or may not be hiding another Kentucky Derby winner under his big white hat.

Fabius and C. V. Whitney's grey charger, Head Man, are the two big name horses in the one mile, $10,000-added Derby Trial—a race that has been an important barometer for the Derby itself in recent years.

Six of the last eight runnings of the Kentucky Derby have been won by horses who finished first or second in the trial. Thus today's race starting at 4:30 p.m. (CST) will be watched closely by the customers shopping around for something to back at the mutuel windows in Saturday's mile and one quarter derby.

Needles To Miss Trial

Needles, the Florida-bred colt owned by the D & H Stable and current Derby favorite, and Career Boy—the other big Whitney colt—will miss the Trial. Needles wasn't nominated, while Career Boy ran second last week in the Blue Grass Stakes. Career Boy, apparently recovered from a bruised foot, will have an important workout early tomorrow.

"I plan to send him a slow mile and a quarter—just blow him out good," said Trainer Syl Veitch.

Trainer Hugh Fontaine said that Needles, the Florida Derby and Flamingo winner, would get no more serious workouts.

The Derby Trial certainly will eliminate a batch of horses from the big $125,000-added classic on Saturday.

Expected Favorite

Fabius, to be ridden by Willie Hartack, will carry 112 pounds, and is expected to be a 2-1 favorite. In 1952 Calumet's Hill Gail broke the track record in the Trial, then returned to collect the roses five days later.

Eddie Arcaro will be aboard Head Man, with 118 pounds, and probable 3-1 second choice. Head Man won the Experimental Handicap at Jamaica, then finished second in the Wood Memorial there but was given first money when Golf Ace was disqualified for a foul.

Joe Gavegnano's High King, 110; the Brandywine Stable's Countermand, 118; and No Regrets, W. E. Britt's California Derby winner, with 118, also will come in for attention.

To Be Proven

Others who'll have to prove in the Trial they are Derby threats are: the Duntreath Farm's Invalidate, 112; Clifford Mooers' How Blue, 112; Eugene Constantin Jr.'s Roman Fan, 110; the Hasty House Farm's Black Emperor, 112; the Green Acres Farm's Ebony Beauty, 108; and Rex Ellsworth's Lover's Aid, 112. Ebony Beauty, who's never won a race, also is entered for the first race tomorrow and may be withdrawn from the Trial.

Two years ago the Hasty House Farm's Hasty Road broke Hill Gail's track record in the Trial, in a head-and-head duel with Determine. In the Derby, however, Determine won with Hasty Road second.

Fabius is a son of the great Citation, who copped the 1948 Derby Trial and went on to snare the triple crown that year. A fast horse who won two races impressively at Keeneland, many observers wonder if he can carry his speed the entire Derby distance.

Jones Likes Fabius

"I like Fabius right now as much as I did Ponder before the Trial in 1949," said Jones. This was a pretty good statement, for Ponder finished second in the Trial, then nabbed the Derby.

"Of course, Fabius has to show me, just like Ponder did in the Trial, but we expect him to run a good race."

Jones said the Pintor Lea, another Calumet Derby colt with a knee injury, still remained "a very, very, very doubtful starter. I added that extra very because I don't believe there is a possible chance he'll go Saturday."

A final decision was expected in a matter of hours after his son, Trainer Jimmy Jones, arrives by plane from Garden State Park, N. J.

"As for the Derby, I'd rather have Needles chances than ours right now," Jones added with a twinkle. "Then, I guess you'd have to take those two Whitney horses.

Racing history will record, however, that after Ponder's showing in the Trial, came the famous pronouncement:

"If we can just get fourth money Saturday, you can say that old Ben Jones had himself a pretty good afternoon."

Knights Lose To Westside In Track Duel

The visiting Omaha Westside track team clipped Southeast, 78⅓-44⅔ in a dual track meet Monday afternoon.

Southeast collected firsts in five events but could not match the team strength of the Omaha squad.

Brook Brewer, Westside freshman, was the standout of the meet. He won the broad jump and the quarter, ran a leg of the winning 880-yard relay team, and added a third in the 100-yard dash for 12¼ points, highest in the meet.

Southeast's best performances were in the distance runs and in the weight events. Wayne Michaelis broke the tape in the half mile, and sophomore Rich Garlinghouse outlasted the field in the mile.

Jim Ebel gave the Knights a first in the discus and Harland Mook won the shot put.

Southeast's next cinder action will be in the Class A district meet at Beatrice Friday.

Ex-Minor League Boss Asks Aid From Majors

By KYLE VANCE

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The "cold-blooded" major leagues must shoulder the blame fore baseball's dilemma, according to a man named Peace who went to war for the minors.

The slow crumbling of baseball's foundation—the minor leaues all over the country—has been of aching concern to Shelby Peace since the trend became obvious. He fought hard to head it off.

He was president of the nation's first Class D circuit the Kitty League, before it folded last season.

When the Kitty was added to baseball's casualty list, Peace lost a job he had been trying to give away. He wanted his rocking chair and preferred that a younger man run the league.

Paid $1,300 A Year

So he is not angry over losing a job that paid $1,300 a year, which he had to use for secretarial help, travel and other expenses.

Peace is mad because the majors have done so little, he says, to stem the tide of minor league collapses.

He tells now of his fight to induce the majors to give their Class D clubs $10,000 a year for operating expenses. The most they will give, he said, is $3,000.

"Eventually it will cost them a lot more," he said. "When they start trying to reorganize the minors, they will find it will be an expensive proposition. Many of the disbanded leagues are tearing down their parks. New ones will have to be built if the minors are to operate again, and land has become so valuable that building a baseball park is almost out of the question."

Peace believes television and radio have hurt badly too, especially the "highly dramatized" major league broadcasts that are beamed into minor leaue territory.

"The automobile took people out of their homes," he philosophized. "Now television is keeping them in their homes."

Peace can see "absolutely no future" for baseball in the B, C and D classifications unless something is done swiftly to bolster them financially.

"All it takes is a little money and a lot of work to make a club go," he said.

He was credited with almost superhuman efforts to save the Kitty. Former club owners say Peace never asked them to risk money without risking some himself.

He retired as mayor of Hopkinsville 19 years ago and became manager of five counties for the Kentucky Dept. of Economic Security. That was his full-time job while he was serving as the Kitty's president.

"It looks like in all that time I could have found a little economic security for the Kitty League," he said wistfully.

Busso Winner Over Zulueta

NEW YORK (AP)—Young Johnny Busso of New York, a 2-1 underdog, outhustled Orlando Zulueta all the way Monday night to gain a split decision over the veteran Cuban in a televised 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena. Zulueta weighed 139½, Busso 138½.

It was the fifth straight victory for the 21-year-old Busso, who treated his 27-year-old rival with complete disdain. The rangy youngster carried the fight to Zulueta from the opening bell and it wasn't until the last few rounds that Orlando showed any pep.

The crowd of 1,119 (gross gate $2,748) cheered the verdicts of Referee Davey Feld 6-4 and Artie Schwartz 6-3-1 in favor of Busso. Judge Frank Forbes' score of 6-4 for Zulueta was roundly booed. The AP card had Busso in front 6-3-1.

Marciano Knew He Was Past His Peak

BOSTON (AP) — It wasn't sentiment alone that led Rocky Marciano to retire as heavyweight boxing champion—he apparently felt he was past his peak.

Rocky's trainer, Charley Goldman, who knows the 33-year-old Brockton buster better than anyone in the game, told him so according to Boston Post Columnist Gerry Hern Monday.

Hern, who found Marciano resting in his Catskill Mountains retreat near the site of his Grossinger's training camp, reports Rocky's conversation:

"At the end, the training was getting tougher and tougher, but the fights were wonderful. You know, here's something I didn't tell anyone else.

"Late Friday afternoon (the day Rocky announced his retirement decision) I was talking with Charley Goldman, who taught me whatever boxing I know.

Goldman's Advice

"You know what Charley told me?

"He admitted that I was at my peak against (Archie) Moore. I might learn a couple more tricks and I had two or three more good fights left in me, but that was the peak."

The Moore fight last September was unbeaten Rocky's finale.

The inference is that from that point on the only direction Rocky could go was down—and he knew it.

The 33-year-old Rock, who had eliminated virtually all his competition, told Hern he wants most of all to help kids gain confidence in themselves through boys clubs.

Not afraid of the future nor as wealthy as many people believe, Marciano—who knew the pangs of loneliness as champion—also says he longs for a quiet family life.

Wants "Boy's Work"

"What do I want to do most? I'll tell you—boy's work.

"I'd like to work with kids and help them. I have a chance with a tremendous outfit in Holland, Mich., to represent the company nationally and go around helping kids develop confidence in themselves—boys clubs and CYO and youth centers.

"There's nothing worse in life than a kid being afraid of a bully. I hate guys who bully other people. Kids sometimes get away with it, and fear in a kid is an awful thing.

"If I can teach them to get their hands up and fight back against bullies and tough guys, I'll be happy.

"But, whatever I do, I'll live in Brockton and I'll go to the fights and be around with the wonderful people I've met all my life."

South America Helped

Hern asked Rocky when and why the retirement decision was made.

"I think I've got it pinned down now," Marciano said. He had been in a state of slight bewilderment when he made the formal announcement.

"Here's why I quit. It sounds crazy but the trip to South America taught me everything.

"You know, Barbara and I haven't any fond memories because we haven't been together very much.

"I'm a lonely guy, I guess. But on that trip we met a lot of older couples and I used to just sit there and listen to them tell about their fond memories of traveling together.

"Barbara and I would never have any memories if I hadn't quit. We even had a short-cut honeymoon. Five or six days. The poor kid went home alone from her honeymoon.

"I stopped off in New York and Al Weill grabbed me and said, 'Rocky, send your wife home. I've got a fight for you in Providence.'

"So I go down to the gymnasium and Barbara takes the train home —a bride going home alone.

"That's the way we've lived and it's no good."

What of the future and reports that Rock is financially set for life?

"I hear someone wrote that I had a life income of $1,500 a month. What a laugh. I'd be proud of myself if I had made that much money. That figure is so crazy that I can't even think of it.

"I got a few small investments. Some government bonds and life insurance stock. Nothing big.

Hilly Beck Of Hastings Wins 2nd JCC Award

RED CLOUD—Hilly Beck, Minden and Hastings College athlete, has been named Nebraska's outstanding amateur athlete by the Nebraska Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He is the second recipient of the award and the second athlete from Hastings College to be honored. Chuck Stickels was the winner in 1955.

Beck was the winner by a close decision over Rex Fischer, University of Nebraska All-Big Seven football halfback. Other candidates included Bob Astleford, Omaha; Larry Folkers, Hartington; and Ramon Abrahamson, Axtell.

In naming the winner the Jaycees termed the selection "outstanding" and gave these qualifications:

In football, Beck lettered four years and was on the all-Nebraska College Conference team in 1954 and 1955. In 1954 he was awarded the Outstanding Lineman trophy by the press and radio at the Mineral Bowl game in Excelsior Springs, Mo.

HILLY BECK

Last fall he was voted the Bill Carriker Outstanding Lineman award by NCC coaches.

Beck lettered in basketball four years and was all-NCC three years. He led the league in scoring during the 1955-56 season with 547 points and a 22.7 per-game average. He was selected on the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) third team.

Beck will receive the Nebraska Jaycees' plaque and certificate Saturday at Norfolk, where the Jaycees will be holding their state convention.

Movie Firm Sued By Primo Carnera

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Primo Carnera Monday sued Columbia Pictures for 1½ million dollars, charging invasion of privacy in the film "The Harder They Fall."

The big athlete contends the picture has caused him to be subjected to scorn and ridicule and that as result of it he has lost the respect and admiration of many friends.

The suit said that although its makers claim the film's hero, Toro Molina, does not depict Carnera, he is identifiable as such because of his build and weight. Molina is characterized as a stupid person, unale to conduct business affairs, the suit alleged.

Carnera fought some 500 fights from 1928 through 1937, winning about 480 of them, the suit said. Primo won the heavyweight title in 1933 and relinquished it to Max Baer the following year.

The suit also names as a defendant Budd Schulberg, who several years ago wrote the book on which film is based.

In 1900 the Philadelphia Phillies scored 19 runs for an opening day National League record.

Ex-Minor League Boss Asks Aid From Majors

By KYLE VANCE

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The "cold-blooded" major leagues must shoulder the blame fore baseball's dilemma, according to a man named Peace who went to war for the minors.

The slow crumbling of baseball's foundation—the minor leaues all over the country—has been of aching concern to Shelby Peace since the trend became obvious. He fought hard to head it off.

He was president of the nation's first Class D circuit, the Kitty League, before it folded last season.

When the Kitty was added to baseball's casualty list, Peace lost a job he had been trying to give away. He wanted his rocking chair and preferred that a younger man run the league.

Paid $1,300 A Year

So he is not angry over losing a job that paid $1,300 a year, which he had to use for secretarial help, travel and other expenses.

Peace is mad because the majors have done so little, he says, to stem the tide of minor league collapses.

He tells now of his fight to induce the majors to give their Class D clubs $10,000 a year for operating expenses. The most they will give, he said, is $3,000.

'Eventually it will cost them a lot more," he said. 'When they start trying to reorganize the minors, they will find it will be an expensive proposition. Many of the disbanded leagues are tearing down their parks. New ones will have to be built if the minors are to operate again, and land has become so valuable that building a baseball park is almost out of the question."

Peace believes television and radio have hurt badly too, especially the "highly dramatized" major league broadcasts that are beamed into minor leaue territory.

'The automobile took people out of their homes," he philosophized. Now television is keeping them in their homes."

Peace can see "absolutely no future" for baseball in the B, C and D classifications unless something is done swiftly to bolster them financially.

"All it takes is a little money and a lot of work to make a club go," he said.

He was credited with almost superhuman efforts to save the Kitty. Former club owners say Peace never asked them to risk money without risking some himself.

He retired as mayor of Hopkinsville 19 years ago and became manager of five counties for the Kentucky Dept. of Economic Security. That was his full-time job while he was serving as the Kitty's president.

"It looks like in all that time I could have found a little economic security for the Kitty League," he said wistfully.

Busso Winner Over Zulueta

NEW YORK (AP)—Young Johnny Busso of New York, a 2-1 underdog, outhustled Orlando Zulueta all the way Monday night to gain a split decision over the veteran Cuban in a televised 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena. Zulueta weighed 139½, Busso 138½.

It was the fifth straight victory for the 21-year-old Busso, who treated his 27-year-old rival with complete disdain. The rangy youngster carried the fight to Zulueta from the opening bell and it wasn't until the last few rounds that Orlando showed any pep.

The crowd of 1,119 (gross gate $2,748) cheered the verdicts of Referee Davey Feld 6-4 and Artie Schwartz 6-3-1 in favor of Busso. Judge Frank Forbes' score of 6-4 for Zulueta was roundly boced. The AP card had Busso in front 6-3-1.

Marciano Knew He Was Past His Peak

BOSTON (AP) — It wasn't sentiment alone that led Rocky Marciano to retire as heavyweight boxing champion—he apparently felt he was past his peak.

Rocky's trainer, Charley Goldman, who knows the 33-year-old Brockton buster better than anyone in the game, told him so according to Boston Post Columnist Gerry Hern Monday.

Hern, who found Marciano resting in his Catskill Mountains retreat near the site of his Grossinger's training camp, reports Rocky's conversation:

"At the end, the training was getting tougher and tougher, but the fights were wonderful. You know, here's something I didn't tell anyone else.

"Late Friday afternoon (the day Rocky announced his retirement decision) I was talking with Charley Goldman, who taught me whatever boxing I know.

Goldman's Advice

"You know what Charley told me?

"He admitted that I was at my peak against (Archie) Moore. I might learn a couple more tricks and I had two or three more good fights left in me, but that was the peak."

The Moore fight last September was unbeaten Rocky's finale.

The inference is that from that point on the only direction Rocky could go was down—and he knew it.

The 33-year-old Rock, who had eliminated virtually all his competition, told Hern he wants most of all to help kids gain confidence in themselves through boys clubs.

Not afraid of the future nor as wealthy as many people believe, Marciano—who knew the pangs of loneliness as champion—also says he longs for a quiet family life.

Wants "Boy's Work"

"What do I want to do most? I'll tell you—boy's work.

"I'd like to work with kids and help them. I have a chance with a tremendous outfit in Holland, Mich., to represent the company nationally and go around helping kids develop confidence in themselves—boys clubs and CYO and youth centers.

"There's nothing worse in life than a kid being afraid of a bully. I hate guys who bully other people. Kids sometimes get away with it, and fear in a kid is an awful thing.

"If I can teach them to get their hands up and fight back against bullies and tough guys, I'll be happy.

"But, whatever I do, I'll live in Brockton and I'll go to the fights and be around with the wonderful people I've met all my life."

South America Helped

Hern asked Rocky when and why the retirement decision was made.

"I think I've got it pinned down now," Marciano said. He had been in a state of slight bewilderment when he made the formal announcement.

"Here's why I quit. It sounds crazy but the trip to South America taught me everything.

"You know, Barbara and I haven't any fond memories because we haven't been together very much.

"I'm a lonely guy, I guess. But on that trip we met a lot of older couples and I used to just sit there and listen to them tell about their fond memories of traveling together.

"Barbara and I would never have any memories if I hadn't quit. We even had a short-cut honeymoon. Five or six days. The poor kid went home alone from her honeymoon.

"I stopped off in New York and Al Weill grabbed me and said, 'Rocky, send your wife home. I've got a fight for you in Providence.'

"So I go down to the gymnasium and Barbara takes the train home—a bride going home alone.

"That's the way we've lived and it's no good."

What of the future and reports that Rock is financially set for life?

"I hear someone wrote that I had a life income of $1,500 a month. What a laugh. I'd be proud of myself if I had made that much money. That figure is so crazy that I can't even think of it.

"I got a few small investments. Some government bonds and life insurance stock. Nothing big.

Hilly Beck Of Hastings Wins 2nd JCC Award

RED CLOUD—Hilly Beck, Minden and Hastings College athlete, has been named Nebraska's outstanding amateur athlete by the Nebraska Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He is the second recipient of the award and the second athlete from Hastings College to be honored. Chuck Stickels was the winner in 1955.

Beck was the winner by a close decision over Rex Fischer, University of Nebraska All-Big Seven football halfback. Other candidates included Bob Astleford, Omaha; Larry Folkers, Hartington; and Ramon Abrahamson, Axtell.

In naming the winner the Jaycees termed the selection "outstanding" and gave these qualifications:

In football, Beck lettered four years and was on the all-Nebraska College Conference team in 1954 and 1955. In 1954 he was awarded the Outstanding Lineman trophy by the press and radio at the Mineral Bowl game in Excelsior Springs, Mo.

HILLY BECK

Last fall he was voted the Bill Carriker Outstanding Lineman award by NCC coaches.

Beck lettered in basketball four years and was all-NCC three years. He led the league in scoring during the 1955-56 season with 547 points and a 22.7 per-game average. He was selected on the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) third team.

Beck will receive the Nebraska Jaycees' plaque and certificate Saturday at Norfolk, where the Jaycees will be holding their state convention.

Movie Firm Sued By Primo Carnera

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Primo Carnera Monday sued Columbia Pictures for 1½ million dollars, charging invasion of privacy in the film "The Harder They Fall."

The big athlete contends the picture has caused him to be subjected to scorn and ridicule and that as result of it he has lost the respect and admiration of many friends.

The suit said that although its makers claim the film's hero, Toro Molina, does not depict Carnera, he is identifiable as such because of his build and weight. Molina is characterized as a stupid person, unale to conduct business affairs, the suit alleged.

Carnera fought some 500 fights from 1928 through 1937, winning about 480 of them, the suit said. Primo won the heavyweight title in 1933 and relinquished it to Max Baer the following year.

The suit also names as a defendant Budd Schulberg, who several years ago wrote the book on which film is based.

New One-Way Pair Plans Cost Trimmed

9th And 10th Taken Under Study; Opposition Develops

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The City Council has taken under study plans for the use of 9th and 10th as a one-way pair with the improvement cost estimate trimmed down to $76,400.

Developed at maximum use, it had been estimated the improvement would cost in excess of $100,000.

The first estimate called for widening of 9th from A to H to 44 feet at a cost of $84,000. In the new plan, only seven feet of width would be added, making the street 37 feet wide at a cost of $42,000.

This would provide for three moving lanes of traffic with a two foot wide gutter on both sides Only the east side from A to H would be widened.

The new plan calls also for the paving of 9th from Hill to Van Dorn with a cost to the city of $9,000 and a cost of $15,000 to abutting property owners.

Curb setbacks at the intersection of 10th and 9th with T are estimated at $3,400 and pavement revisions at 10th and Van Dorn are estimated at $4,000. Signal lights for six intersections will cost $18,000.

Some opposition to the one-way pair may develop. Attorney Chauncey Barney asked in behalf of clients that the Council delay action in the matter this week.

Barney spoke for the Capitol Supply Co., 401 No. 9th, and the Hoppe Lumber Co., 421 No. 9th. Both parties expressed an interest in the T Street terminal at the north end of the pair.

Bus Fare Hike Hearing June 6

Hearing on the Lincoln City Lines application for a bus fare increase was continued to Wednesday, June 6, at 9:30 a.m. by the State Railway Commission.

Counsel for the city requested the continuance to permit the city's bus committee to study the matter. A previous application for a rate hike was turned down by the commission.

The company seeks authority to charge adults 55 cents for four rides. The present adult rate is two tokens for a quarter or four for 50 cents.

The straight cash fare would remain at 15 cents for adults.

The company proposes to increase the fare for children from 5 to 12 to 10 cents straight. Children now get two rides for 15 cents.

3.3 MILLION SALK DOSES RELEASED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Release of 3,353,274 doses of Salk polio vaccine was announced Monday by the Public Health Service. This made 8,566,551 shots released during April—the largest amount ever cleared in a single month.

Monday's release raised to 52,375,755 shots the amount of vaccine cleared since it was licensed a year ago.

In March, 7,936,155 doses were cleared.

The March-April total indicates the long-anticipated greater and more regular flow of the vaccine has been achieved. There were only 5,911,218 shots released during January and February.

The Health Service also announced that representatives of the health and medical professions will meet here Wednesday to discuss ways to assure maximum use of the vaccine during coming months.

Cuba Orders Censorship Of Press

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—The government imposed press and radio censorship Monday in the wake of a civilian revolt.

tA least 12 rebels were killed, the ramy said, and three others may have been killed. Three soldiers were wounded.

Congress was called to meet Tuesday to approve a government decree cancelling such constitutional guarantees as freedom and freedom of the press.

The government announced it hed released ex-President Carlos Prio Socarras, who with several friends was seized and held for questioning when the revolt broke out Sunday.

There was no explanation of his release, but President Fulgencio Batista had personally ordered it.

Reinold Garcia, ev-chauffeur for the Ministry of State in the Prio administration, was named by the government as the leader of the 70 rebels who attacked the army base at Matanzas, 60 miles east of Havana.

Press and radio censorship was ordered under the government's decree, effective immediately for 45 days.

No censors had yet been assigned to news agencies. In the past when censorship has been applied the news agencies were not affected.

400 Flee Flood In Central Texas

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Between 400 and 500 persons fled their homes in a flash flood Monday night, and a small tornado was reported near Hovey in far west Texas, in a night of turbulent weather.

The flash flood at Stephenville occurred on the Bosque River, forcing evacuation of low-lying parts of the small city of about 7,500 in central Texas.

Hovey is a small community between Alpine and Fort Stockton on the edge of the Big Ben country. Flash flood conditions hit along with the twister.

A lineman for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. said the Hovey twister struck on a large ranch and did no damage except to knock out telephone and power lines.

Six inches of rain hit the Stephenville area in a little more than three hours.

New One-Way Pair Plans Cost Trimmed

9th And 10th Taken Under Study; Opposition Develops

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The City Council has taken under study plans for the use of 9th and 10th as a one-way pair with the improvement cost estimate trimmed down to $76,400.

Developed at maximum use, it had been estimated the improvement would cost in excess of $100,000.

The first estimate called for widening of 9th from A to H to 44 feet at a cost of $84,000. In the new plan, only seven feet of width would be added, making the street 37 feet wide at a cost of $42,000.

This would provide for three moving lanes of traffic with a two foot wide gutter on both sides. Only the east side from A to H would be widened.

The new plan calls also for the paving of 9th from Hill to Van Dorn with a cost to the city of $9,000 and a cost of $15,000 to abutting property owners.

Curb setbacks at the intersection of 10th and 9th with T are estimated at $3,400 and pavement revisions at 10th and Van Dorn are estimated at $4,000. Signal lights for six intersections will cost $18,000.

Some opposition to the one-way pair may develop. Attorney Chauncey Barney asked in behalf of clients that the Council delay action in the matter this week.

Barney spoke for the Capitol Supply Co., 401 No. 9th, and the Hoppe Lumber Co., 421 No. 9th. Both parties expressed an interest in the T Street terminal at the north end of the pair.

Bus Fare Hike Hearing June 6

Hearing on the Lincoln City Lines application for a bus fare increase was continued to Wednesday, June 6, at 9:30 a.m. by the State Railway Commission.

Counsel for the city requested the continuance to permit the city's bus committee to study the matter. A previous application for a rate hike was turned down by the commission.

The company seeks authority to charge adults 55 cents for four rides. The present adult rate is two tokens for a quarter or four for 50 cents.

The straight cash fare would remain at 15 cents for adults.

The company proposes to increase the fare for children from 5 to 12 to 10 cents straight. Children now get two rides for 15 cents.

Kid Who Stole Bike Has Bike Stolen

A teenage bicycle thief opened his mouth once too much.

The 15-year-old youth stole the bike from another 15-year-old schoolmate. When the owner of the bike spotted his stolen bike on a bike rack at school without a license plate he took it back after telling school authorities.

3.3 MILLION SALK DOSES RELEASED

WASHINGTON (AP)—Release of 3,353,274 doses of Salk polio vaccine was announced Monday by the Public Health Service. This made 8,566,551 shots released during April—the largest amount ever cleared in a single month.

Monday's release raised to 52,375,755 shots the amount of vaccine cleared since it was licensed a year ago.

In March, 7,936,155 doses were cleared.

The March-April total indicates the long-anticipated greater and more regular flow of the vaccine has been achieved. There were only 5,911,218 shots released during January and February.

The Health Service also announced that representatives of the health and medical professions will meet here Wednesday to discuss ways to assure maximum use of the vaccine during coming months.

Northern Site To Be Used As Dump

A 10-year lease of land one-half mile north of Highway 6 between 48th and Highway 77 for use as a new city dump has been approved by the City Council.

The lease is with Merril R. and Virginia Reller, owners of the property. The new site is one-half mile wide and one and one-half miles long.

Present plans are to start using the new area in June when work is completed at the present dump site west of the city. The present land fill method of disposal will be continued in the new area.

The lease calls for no cash payments by either parties.

Cuba Orders Censorship Of Press

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—The government imposed press and radio censorship Monday in the wake of a civilian revolt.

tA least 12 rebels were killed, the ramy said, and three others may have been killed. Three sildiers were wounded.

Congress was called to meet Tuesday to approve a government decree cancelling such constitutional guarantees as freedom and freedom of the press.

The government announced it hed released ex-President Carlos Prio Socarras, who with several friends was seized and held for questioning when the revolt broke out Sunday.

There was no explanation of his release, but President Fulgencio Batista had personally ordered it.

Reinold Garcia, ev-chauffeur for the Ministry of State in the Prio administration, was named by the government as the leader of the 70 rebels who attacked the army base at Matanzas, 60 miles east of Havana.

Press and radio censorship was ordered under the government's decree, effective immediately for 45 days.

No censors had yet been assigned to news agencies. In the past when censorship has been applied the news agencies were not affected.

400 Flee Flood In Central Texas

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Between 400 and 500 persons fled their homes in a flash flood Monday night, and a small tornado was reported near Hovey in far west Texas, in a night of turbulent weather.

The flash flood at Stephenville occurred on the Bosque River, forcing evacuation of low-lying parts of the small city of about 7,500 in central Texas.

Hovey is a small community between Alpine and Fort Stockton on the edge of the Big Ben country. Flash flood conditions hit along with the twister.

A lineman for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. said the Hovey twister struck on a large ranch and did no damage except to knock out telephone and power lines.

Six inches of rain hit the Stephenville area in a little more than three hours.

Solons Ask 'War' Against Dope Sales

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special Senate Judiciary subcommittee called Monday for the death penalty for narcoitcs peddlers, introducing a bill to "declare war" on the illicit drug traffic.

Chairman Daniel (D-Tex) announced introduction of the measure with unanimous backing of his group which has been investigating narcotics law enforcement.

The bill would outlaw the use of heroin even for medicinal purpose and provide penalties ranging from 10 years in prison to death for sale of the drug to persons under the age of 18. Death sentences would be left to the discretion of the jury.

Stiff Penalties

Prison terms of 5 to 10 years would be provided for a first offense on a sale to adults, 10 to 30 years for a second offense, and either a life term or the death penalty at the jury's discretion for a third conviction.

The bill would also impose stiffer penalties for the smuggling of marijuana into the United States. An offender under this provision would be subject to 5 to 10 years imprisonment, instead of the up to 5 years as now provided.

Other provisions would legalize tapping telephones of suspected drug peddlers, subject to permission from a federal court, and allow Narcotics and Customs Bureau agents to carry firearms. Such agents would be authorized to make arrests without warrants for violations committed in their presence.

The bill would allow 120 days for the surrender to the government of all heroin, including stocks now in hand for medicinal use.

Daniel said heroin "has no medical use which cannot be served better by other drugs."

"It is time that the Congress and the country declared the type of open warfare on the illicit narcotics traffic that will stop the destruction of lives and the commission of crimes now attributable directly to this cancerous menace within our country," Daniel said in a statement.

Precedent

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh created a royal precedent by appearing in a television program of his own planning. He carried it off with the easy assurance of a veteran performer.

Millions watched and heard the handsome husband of Queen Elizabeth II urge Britons of all ages to bat balls about, run races, climb mountains, paint pictures or indulge in some other satisfying leisure time activity.

Solons Ask 'War' Against Dope Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special Senate Judiciary subcommittee called Monday for the death penalty for narcoitcs peddlers, introducing a bill to "declare war" on the illicit drug traffic.

Chairman Daniel (D-Tex) announced introduction of the measure with unanimous backing of his group, which has been investigating narcotics law enforcement.

The bill would outlaw the use of heroin even for medicinal purpose and provide penalties ranging from 10 years in prison to death for sale of the drug to persons under the age of 18. Death sentences would be left to the discretion of the jury.

Stiff Penalties

Prison terms of 5 to 10 years would be provided for a first offense on a sale to adults, 10 to 30 years for a second offense, and either a life term or the death penalty at the jury's discretion for a third conviction.

The bill would also impose stiffer penalties for the smuggling of marijuana into the United States. An offender under this provision would be subject to 5 to 10 years imprisonment, instead of the up to 5 years as now provided.

Other provisions would legalize tapping telephones of suspected drug peddlers, subject to permission from a federal court, and allow Narcotics and Customs Bureau agents to carry firearms. Such agents would be authorized to make arrests without warrants for violations committed in their presence.

The bill would allow 120 days for the surrender to the government of all heroin, including stocks now in hand for medicinal use.

Daniel said heroin "has no medical use which cannot be served better by other drugs."

"It is time that the Congress and the country declared the type of open warfare on the illicit narcotics traffic that will stop the destruction of lives and the commission of crimes now attributable directly to this cancerous menace within our country," Daniel said in a statement.

Precedent

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh created a royal precedent by appearing in a television program of his own planning. He carried it off with the easy assurance of a veteran performer.

Millions watched and heard the handsome husband of Queen Elizabeth II urge Britons of all ages to bat balls about, run races, climb mountains, paint pictures or indulge in some other satisfying leisure time activity.

New Farm Bill Gets Quick Committee OK

. . . Fight Looms For Soil Bank Prepayments

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Agriculture Committee approved a new farm relief bill Monday but refused to write in authority for President Eisenhower to make soil bank payments this year

A Republican attempt to add soil bank prepayments to the legislation was defeated on a party line vote of 19 15

The the committee voted unanimously to send the bill to the House floor, where the soil bank issue and others—will be fought out all over again

Chairman Cooley (D NC) said he will try to get the bill to the floor as soon as possible, perhaps Tuesday under a rule permitting amendments to be introduced freely

Many Changes

The bill is stripped of many features objectionable to the administration and is the official' Democratic substitute for farm legislation which Eisenhower vetoed April 16

It contains a soil bank plan but not the authority Eisenhower contends he needs to pay farmers this year for cropland they promise to withdraw from production next year

With the crop season so far advanced the administration says it is too late to help farmers with a soil bank in 1956 unless the prepayment plan is approved Eisenhower asked for authority to distribute up to 500 million dollars in advance payments

Democrats want to give the farmers more income this year, too but some have indicated a reluctance to have a GOP administration pass out so much money in an election year Other Democrats argue the administration can get a soil bank going this year under existing law

The bill approved Monday was drafted by Cooley in consultation with other Democratic leaders in the House All attempts to change it in committee failed

An amendment to provide a two price system of supports for rice was defeated, as was one to add more field crops to the soil bank plan The bank is now aimed at the reduction of crops already in surplus, like cotton and wheat

The Cooley bill does not include the rigid price supports at 90 per cent of parity which were provided in the first farm bill and which were one of the main reasons for Eisenhower s veto

State Demos Feel Loss Of Barkley

'America has lost a great man and the Democratic Party has lost a great leader ' Bernard Boyle of Omaha national Democratic committeeman said of the death of Sen Alben Barkley Monday

Boyle said he had heard Barkley speak last week at the Woodrow Wilson Memorial dinner in Washington

Joe Ginsburg Lancaster County Democratic chairman told the Lancaster County Democrats Monday Today marks the passing from the scene of one of our greatest political figures, Alben Barkley "

Townsend said he last saw Barkley at the Democratic National Convention in 1952

Supreme Court Justice OKs Orme Filing

The name of Mrs Fern Hubbard Orme Monday was directed to be placed on the May 15 primary election ballot as a candidate for the legislature from the 20th District which includes Lincoln

The order came from Supreme Court Justice Adolph Wenke and was issued to the Secretary of State The filing had been challenged by another candidate for the same post, Lincoln Attorney Russell Strom Jr

In his challenge, Strom contended that Mrs Orme s filing was no acceptable because no successor for her Lincoln City Council post had been named or qualified at the time of her legislative filing

He also said statutes provide that when an office holder is seeking another office filing should be at least 50 days before the primary Filing deadline for other candidates is 10 days later or 40 days before the primary

On April 5 the last day of filing Mrs Orme filed in the morning, then withdrew to resign her Council job, then re filed

Justice Wenke upheld Secretary of State Frank Marsh who two weeks ago overruled Strom s objections after a public hearing

The Supreme Court decision was an oral one, but a written decision is to be issued later this week for the attorneys in the case, it was announced

About 25 persons attended the session Monday As in the previous hearing before Marsh many of the listeners were women

Deputy Attorney General Clarence Meyer argued that the section under which Strom filed his objections did not apply in a legislative candidacy case since it is a non partisan office

He pointed out a little noticed section of the statute which states that in event a holder of another office files for the legislature the filing date for the office held by the candidate is extended five days

Lloyd J Marti Mrs Orme s counsel told the high court She did not attempt to hold more than one office She resigned She exercised none of the prerogatives of office She did not attend any meetings and she was not notified of any "

A police detective s son nine year old Bobby Sawdon of 2843 So. 42nd deserves a G man badge

Bobby saw a car hurriedly drive up a street in front of his home The car stopped and a nervous driver asked Bobby for a direction

Bobby promptly wrote a 'report' of the matter for his father describing the color and kind of car, license number, and the driver s description, including kind and color of clothing height, probable age and color of hair

When Detective Sawdon stopped by his home Bobby gave him the 'report " Five minutes later police found the car abandoned between Worthington and Rancho Road It had been stolen from Ed O Shea at the Lincoln Country Club

Bobby had one inaccuracy in his report, however The runaway youth when apprehended said he was 15 instead of 14

New Farm Bill Gets Quick Committee OK

. . . Fight Looms For Soil Bank Prepayments

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Agriculture Committee approved a new farm relief bill Monday but refused to write in authority for President Eisenhower to make soil bank payments this year.

A Republican attempt to add soil bank prepayments to the legislation was defeated on a party line vote of 19-15.

The the committee voted unanimously to send the bill to the House floor, where the soil bank issue—and others—will be fought out all over again.

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) said he will try to get the bill to the floor as soon as possible, perhaps Tuesday, under a rule permitting amendments to be introduced freely.

Many Changes

The bill is stripped of many features objectionable to the administration and is the "official" Democratic substitute for farm legislation which Eisenhower vetoed April 16.

It contains a soil bank plan but not the authority Eisenhower contends he needs to pay farmers this year for cropland they promise to withdraw from production next year.

With the crop season so far advanced, the administration says it's too late to help farmers with a soil bank in 1956 unless the prepayment plan is approved. Eisenhower asked for authority to distribute up to 500 million dollars in advance payments.

Democrats want to give the farmers more income this year, too, but some have indicated a reluctance to have a GOP administration pass out so much money in an election year. Other Democrats argue the administration can get a soil bank going this year under existing law.

The bill approved Monday was drafted by Cooley in consultation with other Democratic leaders in the House. All attempts to change it in committee failed.

An amendment to provide a two-price system of supports for rice was defeated, as was one to add more field crops to the soil bank plan. The bank is now aimed at the reduction of crops already in surplus, like cotton and wheat.

The Cooley bill does not include the rigid price supports at 90 per cent of parity which were provided in the first farm bill and which were one of the main reasons for Eisenhower's veto.

State Demos Feel Loss Of Barkley

"America has lost a great man and the Democratic Party has lost a great leader," Bernard Boyle of Omaha, national Democratic committeeman, said of the death of Sen. Alben Barkley Monday.

Boyle said he had heard Barkley speak last week at the Woodrow Wilson Memorial dinner in Washington.

Joe Ginsburg, Lancaster County Democratic chairman, told the Lancaster County Democrats Monday, "Today marks the passing from the scene of one of our greatest political figures, Alben Barkley."

"This marks the passing of one of the most stalwart Democratic figures of our time," Willard Townsend, acting state Democratic chairman, said.

Townsend said he last saw Barkley at the Democratic National Convention in 1952.

Supreme Court Justice OKs Orme Filing

The name of Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme Monday was directed to be placed on the May 15 primary election ballot as a candidate for the legislature from the 20th District which includes Lincoln.

The order came from Supreme Court Justice Adolph Wenke and was issued to the Secretary of State. The filing had been challenged by another candidate for the same post, Lincoln Attorney Russell Strom Jr.

In his challenge, Strom contended that Mrs. Orme's filing was not acceptable because no successor for her Lincoln City Council post had been named or qualified at the time of her legislative filing.

He also said statutes provide that when an office holder is seeking another office filing should be at least 50 days before the primary. Filing deadline for other candidates is 10 days later, or 40 days before the primary.

On April 5, the last day of filing, Mrs. Orme filed in the morning, then withdrew to resign her Council job, then re-filed.

Justice Wenke upheld Secretary of State Frank Marsh who two weeks ago overruled Strom's objections after a public hearing.

The Supreme Court decision was an oral one, but a written decision is to be issued later this week for the attorneys in the case, it was announced.

About 25 persons attended the session Monday. As in the previous hearing before Marsh, many of the listeners were women.

Deputy Attorney General Clarence Meyer argued that the section under which Strom filed his objections did not apply in a legislative candidacy case since it is a non-partisan office.

He pointed out a little noticed section of the statute which states that in event a holder of another office files for the legislature, the filing date for the office held by the candidate is extended five days.

Lloyd J. Marti, Mrs. Orme's counsel, told the high court, "She did not attempt to hold more than one office. She resigned. She exercised none of the prerogatives of office. She did not attend any meetings and she was not notified of any."

Detective's Son Is Quite A Cop In Own Right

A police detective's son, nine-year-old Bobby Sawdon of 2843 So. 42nd deserves a G-man badge.

Bobby saw a car hurriedly drive up a street in front of his home. The car stopped and a servous driver asked Bobby for a direction.

Bobby promptly wrote a "report" of the matter for his father, describing the color and kind of car, license number, and the driver's description, including kind and color of clothing, height, probable age and color of hair.

When Detective Sawdon stopped by his home, Bobby gave him the "report." Five minutes later police found the car abandoned between Worthington and Rancho Road. It had been stolen from Ed O'Shea at the Lincoln Country Club.

Bobby had one inaccuracy in his report, however. The runaway youth, when apprehended said he was 15 instead of 14.

Stocks Exhibit Unusual Moves

NEW YORK. (AP). The stock market advanced Monday with a curious mixture of strong gains and rather numerous losses in the list.

Plus signs ran to around 6 points in significant cases while losses amounted to 1 to 2 points at the most as a usual thing.

There was especial strength in the oils, cement issues, machine tool and road building equipment manufacturers, aluminums, and many individual issues.

The railroads as a class were lower, most motors were lower, airlines lost a little, and there were a great many losses in small fractions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 90 cents at $191.10. That is only 40 cents under the record high established three weeks ago by the market in its strong climb that started in mid-February.

Volume came to 2,730,000 shares compared with 2,780,000 shares traded in Friday's higher market.

General Motors was the day's most active issue off ⅜ at 43⅞ on 40,000 shares. After the close, Morgan Stanley & Co., investment bankers announced a secondary offering of 1,278,833 shares of GM at 43¾, one of the largest offerings ever made.

The American Stock Exchange was higher on volume of 1,000,000 shares as compared with 1,390,000 shares traded Friday.

Corporate bonds were steady and U. S. Government issues were higher.

"I'm Glad You Called…
…I Was Worried"

When plans are changed or there is a delay, an inexpensive long distance call lets other people know.

At times like this—whether you are making the call or receiving it—the ready reassurance can be precious beyond words.

It's just one of the countless ways that Long Distance is used each day to make life happier, easier, more secure.

Fed Steers, Cows, Heifers Advance

OMAHA (AP) — Moderate receipts plus the rainfall imparted a bullish tone to the Omaha cattle trade Monday. Fed steers were 25 to 75 higher, some sales up more. Heifers and cows advanced 25 to 50. The supply of replacement cattle totaled only around 1,200 head. Thin stock cattle were up around 50. A light supply upped the top on hogs to $16.25. Prices were 25 to 50 higher. Native spring lambs at $26 highlighted the fat lamb trade, with sales $1.50 to $2 higher.

Old Crop Soyas, Lard Advance

CHICAGO (AP)—Strength in cash fats and oils markets again provided the background for a sharp advance in old crop soybeans and all lard futures on the board of trade Monday.

The rest of the grain market did not do much. Prices were lower at the opening on reflection of wonderful weekend moisture in practically all major grain growing areas. Losses were later reduced or cancelled.

Wheat closed ¾ lower to ⅜ higher, corn ¼ lower to ¼ higher, oats ¼ lower to ¼ higher, rye [illegible] lower, soybeans 1½ lower to 5½ higher and lard 20 to 32 cents a hundred pounds higher.

May and July soybeans, as well as all lard futures, made new seasonal highs. In the cash market soybean oil sold at 16 cents a pound, up ⅛ and at a new high since 1951. Loose lard made a new high for the year at 12 cents a pound.

A report on heavy soybean crushings in March helped spark the market but the underlying strengthening factor remained an unprecedented demand for oils from Europe. Greece and French North Africa are expecting oils this week.

High Court Says: Government Must Show 'Good Cause'

. . . In Citizenship Cases

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Supreme Court, dividing 5-3, ruled Monday the government must swear it has "good cause" for bringing suit to take away citizenship.

Justice Clark, joined by Justices Reed and Minton said in dissent that the decision "may well submerge the denaturalization procedure established by Congress in a morass of unintended procedural difficulties."

The same three justices also dissented sharply in a 6-3 decision bypassing for the present a ruling on legality of the 1950 Communist registraion law.

The only difference in the court's lineup in the two cases was that Justice Harlan, in the majority in the Communist party case, took no part in the denaturalization case.

Written By Frankfurter

The 6-3 decision written by Justice Frankfurter told the Subversive Activities Control Board it must reconsider its finding that the Communist party is atool of Moscow and therefore must register with the attorney general, list its membership, and give a financial accounting.

The board, the majority said, must give the Communist party a chance to try to discredit three government witnesses or else disregard their testimony entirely in redeciding the case.

Chief Justice Warren wrote the 5-3 decision holding that the filing of a "good cause" affidavit by the government is necessary to maintain a denaturalization suit.

"The mere filing of a proceeding for denaturalization results in serious consequences to a defendant," Warren said. "Even if his citizenship is not cancelled, his reputation is tarnished and his standing in the community damaged. . ."

Council OKs Irvingdale Storm Sewer Project

The City Council has approved plans and specifications with a $38,500 estimate for construction of a storm sewer for the Irvingdale Park area.

The new sewer will run from 17th and Harrison to 20th and Van Dorn. This completes a major drainage improvement program in the area which runs west clear to Salt Creek.

Age Limit On Polio Vaccine Raised To 14

Children who are 11, 12, 13 and 14 years of age now are eligible for vaccination against polio, Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health commissioner, announced.

The action was taken with the approval of the State Board of Health, which met Monday afternoon.

Expectant mothers continue to be eligible for vaccination also, in addition to children of ages one through ten.

Dr. Rogers explained to the board that the polio vaccine advisory committee previously had authorized extension of the age limit at such time as it was determined that 65 per cent of those in the original group had received two injections.

Enough vaccine now has been released to Nebraska to give two injections to two - thirds of those originally declared eligible, Dr. Rogers said.

He told the Health Board the advisory committee recommended also that giving of booster shots be delayed until the maximum number of children have received two injections. The board approved the recommendation.

Hears Report

The board at its meeting Monday also heard a report on the recent inspection tour of a number of representative hospitals by a seven-member joint committee representing the board and the State Hospital Advisory Council.

Dr. Maurice Frazer, acting as spokesman for the group, said medical and nursing care were found to be very good in most instances, and where there were deficiencies the committees appeared to be aware of them.

An amazing thing, he commented, was the manner in which some communities had gone about correcting deficiencies in their hospital situation "entirely on their own."

NU To Object To Opening Leighton Strip

Objections to opening of Leighthe from 33rd to 48th has been made to the City Council by the University of Nebraska.

In a letter to the Council, Dr. W. V. Lambert, dean of the College of Agriculture, said the improvement of Leighton would seriously hamper experimental work of the University. The College of Agriculture, he pointed out, owns most of the land between Leighton and Baldwin from 33rd to 44th.

If Leighton were developed, he said, it would cut off the above land from the rest of the campus to the south.

Dean Lambert suggested development of Baldwin from 33rd to 39th, then a cut diagonally south to Huntington at 41st and on east on Huntington.

An ordinance before the City Council to open and improve Leighton was laid over on second reading.

The Council passed an ordinance for the paving of Holdrege from 59th to 63rd and 60th from Holdrege to Aylesworth. Holdrege will be paved 33 feet wide rather than the usual 26 foot residential width in anticipation of its heavy use in place of Leighton.

Other ordinances approved on third and final reading were:

Paving of all of Mohawk Circle.

Paving of 42nd Randolph to G.

Plat of Fiene Heights, first addition at 27th and Kessler Blvd.

Change in zoning from rural and public use to heavy industry at the northwest corner of Highway 6 and the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks.

3 Pumps Approved For Water Plant

Plans and specifications with a $69,500 estimate have been approved by the City Council for the purchase of three centrifugal pumps for the Ashland water treatment plant.

This is the first step in a more than $2 million program to add another 20 million gallons of water per day to the city's supply. The pumps will boost the capacity of that part of the Ashland plant to 60 million gallons per day.

The Ashland well field and treatment plant is also to be expanded up to the 60 million gallons per day capacity mark.

With the Ashland work completed and a local deep well supply of 10 million gallons per day, Lincoln will have a plant capable of delivering 70 million gallons of water every 24 hours.

All this work is scheduled to be completed by the summer of 1957. Present plant capacity is 47 million gallons per day.

Rep. Lane Gets Jail Sentence

Demo Pleads Guilty To Tax Evasion

BOSTON (AP) — Rep Thomas J. Lane (D-Mass), tearfully denying any criminal intent pleaded guilty in federal court Monday and was sentenced to begin a four-month jail term next Monday for evasion of $38,542 income taxes.

The sentence, also carrying a $10,000 fine, does not bar Lane from his seat in Congress nor from running for re-election. Fifteen years in Congress, the 57-year-old lawyer is the third-ranking Democrat on the Judiciary Committee

He could be ousted only by vote of the House, which is the sole judge of its members' qualifications. Lacking that, he will continue to draw his pay.

Lane could not be reached after the sentencing, but his counse said he believed Lane had no thought of resigning. Lane himself told the court he thought he had "served honorably."

$140,363 Gain

The government's bill of particulars said Lane's net worth increased from $435,859 on Jan. 1 1949 to $576,222 Dec. 31, 1951, a gain of $140,363.

C. Keefe Hurley, Lane's counsel told Judge Charles E. Syzansk Jr. that "certain amounts were left off on three returns" but there had been "no concealment." On the contrary, Hurley said, "the congressman turned over everything to them (Treasury agents) including bank books and all of his checking accounts."

Tears in his eyes, his voice broken by sobs, Lane then pleaded guilty to the three counts of the indictment, charging evasion of $18,533 in 1949, $9,485 in 1950 and $10,524 in 1951.

Stocks Exhibit Unusual Moves

NEW YORK, (AP). The stock market advanced Monday with a curious mixture of strong gains and rather numerous losses in the list.

Plus signs ran to around 6 points in significant cases while losses amounted to 1 to 2 points at the most as a usual thing.

There was especial strength in the oils, cement issues, machine tool and road building equipment manufacturers, aluminums, and many individual issues.

The railroads as a class were lower, most motors were lower, airlines lost a little, and there were a great many losses in small fractions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 90 cents at $191.10. That is only 40 cents under the record high established three weeks ago by the market in its strong climb that started in mid-February.

Volume came to 2,730,000 shares compared with 2,760,000 shares traded in Friday's higher market.

General Motors was the day's most active issue off ⅜ at 43⅞ on 40,900 shares. After the close, Morgan Stanley & Co., investment bankers announced a secondary offering of 1,278,833 shares of GM at 43¾, one of the largest offerings ever made.

The American Stock Exchange was higher on volume of 1,000,000 shares as compared with 1,390,000 shares traded Friday.

Corporate bonds were steady and U .S. Government issues were higher.

Old Crop Soyas, Lard Advance

CHICAGO (AP)—Strength in cash fats and oils markets again provided the background for a sharp advance in old crop soybeans and all lard futures on the board of trade Monday.

The rest of the grain market did not do much. Prices were lower at the opening on reflection of wonderful weekend moisture in practically all major grain growing areas. Losses were later reduced or cancelled.

Wheat closed ¾ lower to ⅝ higher, corn 1⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, oats ½ lower to ¼ higher, rye ¼-1½ lower, soybeans 1¾ lower to 5¾ higher and lard 20 to 32 cents a hundred pounds higher.

May and July soybeans, as well as all lard futures, made new seasonal highs. In the cash market soybean oil sold at 16 cents a pound, up ⅜ and at a new high since 1951. Loose lard made a new high for the year at 12 cents a pound.

A report on heavy soybean crushings in March helped spark the market but the underlying strengthening factor remained an unprecedented demand for oils from Europe. Greece and French North Africa are expecting oils this week.

High Court Says:

Government Must Show 'Good Cause'

. . . In Citizenship Cases

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Supreme Court, dividing 5-3, ruled Monday the government must swear it has "good cause" for bringing suit to take away citizenship.

Justice Clark, joined by Justices Reed and Minton said in dissent that the decision "may well submerge the denaturalization procedure established by Congress in a morass of unintended procedural difficulties."

The same three justices also dissented sharply in a 6-3 decision bypassing for the present a ruling on legality of the 1950 Communist registraion law.

The only difference in the court's lineup in the two cases was that Justice Harlan, in the majority in the Communist party case, took no part in the denaturalization case.

Written By Frankfurter

The 6-3 decision written by Justice Frankfurter told the Subversive Activities Control Board it must reconsider its finding that the Communist party is atool of Moscow and therefore must register with the attorney general, list its membership, and give a financial accounting.

The board, the majority said, must give the Communist party a chance to try to discredit three government witnesses or else disregard their testimony entirely in redeciding the case.

Chief Justice Warren wrote the 5-3 decision holding that the filing of a "good cause" affidavit by the government is necessary to maintain a denaturalization suit.

"The mere filing of a proceeding for denaturalization results in serious consequences to a defendant," Warren said. "Even if his citizenship is not cancelled, his reputation is tarnished and his standing in the community damaged. . ."

Council OKs Irvingdale Storm Sewer Project

The City Council has approved plans and specifications with a $38,500 estimate for construction of a storm sewer for the Irvingdale Park area.

The new sewer will run from 17th and Harrison to 20th and Van Dorn. This completes a major drainage improvement program in the area which runs west clear to Salt Creek.

Age Limit On Polio Vaccine Raised To 14

Children who are 11, 12, 13 and 14 years of age now are eligible for vaccination against polio, Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health commissioner, announced.

The action was taken with the approval of the State Board of Health, which met Monday afternoon.

Expectant mothers continue to be eligible for vaccination also, in addition to children of ages one through ten.

Dr. Rogers explained to the board that the polio vaccine advisory committee previously had authorized extension of the age limit at such time as it was determined that 65 per cent of those in the original group had received two injections.

Enough vaccine now has been released to Nebraska to give two injections to two - thirds of those originally declared eligible, Dr. Rogers said.

He told the Health Board the advisory committee recommended also that giving of booster shots be delayed until the maximum number of children have received two injections. The board approved the recommendation.

Hears Report

The board at its meeting Monday also heard a report on the recent inspection tour of a number of representative hospitals by a seven-member joint committee representing the board and the State Hospital Advisory Council.

Dr. Maurice Frazer, acting as spokesman for the group, said medical and nursing care were found to be very good in most instances, and where there were deficiencies the committees appeared to be aware of them.

An amazing thing, he commented, was the manner in which some communities had gone about correcting deficiencies in their hospital situation "entirely on their own."

NU To Object To Opening Leighton Strip

Objections to opening of Leighthe from 33rd to 48th has been made to the City Council by the University of Nebraska.

In a letter to the Council, Dr. W. V. Lambert, dean of the College of Agriculture, said the improvement of Leighton would seriously hamper experimental work of the University. The College of Agriculture, he pointed out, owns most of the land between Leighton and Baldwin from 33rd to 44th.

If Leighton were developed, he said, it would cut off the above land from the rest of the campus to the south.

Dean Lambert suggested development of Baldwin from 33rd to 39th, then a cut diagonally south to Huntington at 41st and on east on Huntington.

An ordinance before the City Council to open and improve Leighton was laid over on second reading.

The Council passed an ordinance for the paving of Holdrege from 59th to 63rd and 60th from Holdrege to Aylesworth. Holdrege will be paved 33 feet wide rather than the usual 26 foot residential width in anticipation of its heavy use in place of Leighton.

Other ordinances approved on third and final reading were:

Paving of all of Mohawk Circle.

Paving of 42nd Randolph to G.

Plat of Fiene Heights, first addition at 27th and Kessler Blvd.

Change in zoning from rural and public use to heavy industry at the northwest corner of Highway 6 and the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks.

3 Pumps Approved For Water Plant

Plans and specifications with a $69,500 estimate have been approved by the City Council for the purchase of three centrifugal pumps for the Ashland water treatment plant.

This is the first step in a more than $2 million program to add another 20 million gallons of water per day to the city's supply. The pumps will boost the capacity of that part of the Ashland plant to 60 million gallons per day.

The Ashland well field and treatment plant is also to be expanded up to the 60 million gallons per day capacity mark.

With the Ashland work completed and a local deep well supply of 10 million gallons per day, Lincoln will have a plant capable of delivering 70 million gallons of water every 24 hours.

All this work is scheduled to be completed by the summer of 1957. Present plant capacity is 47 million gallons per day.

Ash, Thorne Replace Mrs. Orme On Boards

City Councilman Pat Ash has been appointed an ex-officio member of the Traffic Commission, succeeding Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme as the City Council's representative on that body.

Councilman Hugh Thorne was appointed to the post held by Mrs. Orme on the Library Board.

Rep. Lane Gets Jail Sentence

Demo Pleads Guilty To Tax Evasion

BOSTON (AP) — Rep. Thomas J. Lane (D-Mass), tearfully denying any criminal intent, pleaded guilty in federal court Monday and was sentenced to begin a four-month jail term next Monday for evasion of $38,542 income taxes.

The sentence, also carrying a $10,000 fine, does not bar Lane from his seat in Congress nor from running for re-election. Fifteen years in Congress, the 57-year-old lawyer is the third-ranking Democrat on the Judiciary Committee.

He could be ousted only by vote of the House, which is the sole judge of its members' qualifications. Lacking that, he will continue to draw his pay.

Lane could not be reached after the sentencing, but his counsel said he believed Lane had no thought of resigning. Lane himself told the court he thought he had "served honorably."

$140,363 Gain

The government's bill of particulars said Lane's net worth increased from $435,859 on Jan. 1, 1949 to $576,222 Dec. 31, 1951, a gain of $140,363.

C. Keefe Hurley, Lane's counsel, told Judge Charles E. Syzanski Jr. that "certain amounts were left off on three returns" but there had been "no concealment." On the contrary, Hurley said, "the congressman turned over everything to them (Treasury agents), including bank books and all of his checking accounts."

Tears in his eyes, his voice broken by sobs, Lane then pleaded guilty to the three counts of the indictment, charging evasion of $18,533 in 1949, $9,485 in 1950 and $10,524 in 1951.

His son lives at Belvedere, Calif.

Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Robert C. Harvey of Geneva, Ill., and two sisters, Mrs. Chauncey Smith of Bethesda, Md., and Mrs. C. D. Heine of Hooper, Neb.

Addes Cabeen, 75, Found Dead When Neighbor Inquires

A 75-year-old Lincolnite, Addes E. Cabeen, was found dead Monday at his home in the 200 block on No. Garrison, where he lived alone.

Mr. Cabeen was found by a neighbor, Arlie Lewis of 210 No. Garrison, and Deputy Sheriff Del Zieman, who was called by Lewis. Lewis reported that he hadn't seen Mr. Cabeen all day Monday and became suspicious.

Zieman said Mr. Cabeen apparently died of natural causes Sunday.

Funeral services will be at New Market, Ia. Surviving are an aunt, Mrs. Edith Sipp of Denton and a cousin, Jack Sipp, of Raymond.

Advanced piano students will give recitals at 7:30 and 8:15 p.m. Tuesday at the Lincoln Woman's Club auditorium in connection with the Lincoln Music Teachers Association May Festival.

Eighty-four piano students took part in recitals at the Woman's Club auditorium Sunday as part of the Festival.

Mrs. Catherine Gleason of Omaha, who judged the pupils, was honored at a dinner by 22 Lincoln music teachers.

Miss Margaret McGregor, chairman of plans; Betty Christensen; Naegeli von Bargen; and Mrs. Marian Hemmer are in charge of the recitals, which are open to the public.

Plane Parachute Falls

A small brake parachute on a B-47 Air Force plane fell into a power line on the Raymond road (State Highway 79) Monday night. Air Force officials said the parachute drop was a minor incident and did not affect the plane in any way. Power line workers removed the parachute from the line, the Safety Patrol reported.

Dag In Israel For Final Peace Talks

JERUSALEM (AP)—U N Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold arrived in Jerusalem Monday hoping to nail down a Middle East peace agreement in a final round of talks with Israeli leaders.

His task was complicated by new incidents along the Israeli-Egyptian frontier which Israeli sources said were "new Egyptian aggression."

Hammarskjold flew here directly from Cairo where well informed sources said Egypt had given him a virtually free hand to implement any measures he liked for easing tension.

Other sources in Cairo said Hammarskjold had scored another success in that Jordan had given a cease fire pledge which would be announced soon.

Big Question

The Cairo informants said the biggest question facing the Hammarskjold mission was whether Syria finally would go along in giving an unconditional cease fire pledge.

Hammarskjold accompanied by Maj Gen E L M Burns U N truce observation chief, landed at Kalandia Airdrome north of Jerusalem and went immediately to Government House in the demilitarized area between the Jordan and Israeli sections of Jerusalem.

Hammarskjold was a guest of Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett for informal talks Monday night and expected to meet with Sharett and Premier David Ben Gurion Tuesday. He planned to wind up his mission and leave for Rome on Wednesday or Thursday where he will prepare his final report to the U N Security Council.

Fresh Trouble

In his talks with the Israelis Hammarskjold faced fresh complications in complaints that [illegible] Israelis were killed in weekend border incidents—two by a mine near the Egyptian border and one by Gaza strip marauders attempting to harvest wheat in Israeli fields.

These were the first serious incidents since the April 18 pledge by Israel and Egypt to enforce a cease fire along their borders except in self defense.

This agreement was [illegible] in Hammarskjold's first round of visits to Egypt and Israel. On his second round he was now seeking practical arrangements to make the agreement stick.

He was reported asking for enlargement of U N truce observation personnel, freedom for the observers to move about, fixed U N observation posts at strategic spots and withdrawal of forces from each side of the demarcation lines.

Buildup Talked

BONN, Germany (AP)—Adm Arthur W Radford conferred with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on the buildup of the new West German armed forces.

The chairman of the U S Joint Chiefs of Staff had a busy round of conferences in a one day visit to the West German capital.

Active Role Asked

LONDON (AP)—Canada's Foreign Secretary Lester B Pearson suggested the United Nations receive a more active role in aid programs for underdeveloped countries. The Russians, he added, should be encouraged to take part in U N discussions of such programs.

Picnic Planned

ALBUQUERQUE, N M (INS)—Three tidy teenagers were nabbed fleeing a food store in Albuquerque.

In their car sheriff's deputy Lolo Anaya found 114 packs of cigarettes, 40 packages of gum, five boxes of french fries, three packages of potato chips, 32 bottles of soda pop—and a package of paper napkins.
